

Physician Claims He Can Give Ten Years of Life With Elixir

London, Eng.—(IP)—At a London medical exhibition which was opened here last week an elixir of life was shown, the invention of an Italian physician, which, it is claimed, will add ten years to the life of an old person.

The physician is said to have spent twenty years of research in perfecting the elixir, which consists of solutions of gold, platinum, palladium, brain extract, iodine, formic acid, phosphorus, and a number of other ingredients.

Show Talk

By Lewis Gross

At the Palace Thursday, Friday, and Saturday—Cabin in the Cotton. Saturday night, Sunday, and Monday—Three on a Match. Tuesday and Wednesday—Six Hours to Live.

At the Queen Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday—Chandi the Magician. Wednesday and Thursday—Breach of Promise.

At the Assembly Hall Saturday night, 6:30 & 8:30—The Crowd Roars. Wednesday night—Unashamed.

In "Cabin in the Cotton", Richard Barthelmess is credited with his best performance since "Tolable David", the picture that made him famous. Barthelmess as the son of a poor tenant farmer rises from his surroundings but goes back in the end to take the side of his people. Bette Davis is the daughter of the rich plantation owner who befriends Barthelmess and Dorothy Jordan is the poor girl whom he loves. This picture follows the trend of the latest pictures in decrying unsatisfactory conditions.

Warren William, Ann Dvorak, Joan Blondell, and Bette Davis are featured in Warner Brothers' "Three on a Match". Ann, Joan, and Bette, classmates in public school, part on graduation and meet ten years later. At this time Ann Dvorak, married to Warren Williams, runs off with a gangster and from this develops the plot of the story. Excellent acting, a beautiful

Science Seminar is Addressed By Dr. Mark Francis

Dr. Mark Francis, Dean of the school of Veterinary Medicine at A and M College, was the speaker at the regular semi-weekly meeting of the Science Seminar held in the Science lecture room Monday night. Dr. Francis' subject was "The Origin of our Domestic Animals."

The talk was illustrated by lantern slides and covered the origin of our domestic cattle, sheep, goats, dogs, hogs, and poultry.

According to Dr. Francis the majority of our domestic animals were originally native to this country, especially in the western part of the United States, as shown by fossil remains which have been unearthed in various parts of the country. Fossil skeletons of horses, deer, and dogs have been found in the vicinity of College Station, Navasota, and Brenham. Some of the animals migrated or were taken to Europe and Asia before the Ice Age and those that remained in this country were exterminated by the glaciers which covered North America in Pleistocene time. Dr. Francis stated. Later the European and Asian animals were brought back to North America by travelers and settlers and our present strains originated with them.

The meeting was attended by an exceptionally large group of Bryan and College residents and many of the late arrivals were forced to stand throughout the talk.

theme song, and favorable publicity predicts this will be an excellent picture.

Six hours in which to accomplish his purpose and fulfill his duty proves almost too short a time for Warner Baxter in the picture, "Six Hours to Live". This talkie has one of the best plots shown in recent films. John Boles and Miriam Jordan support Warner Baxter in this show.

Starting November 21, the Queen announces a reduction in admission prices. The new price schedule from that date is fifteen cents from 1-2 p. m. and twenty-five cents after two p. m.

James Cagney, as a small town boy who has become a famous auto racer, returns home to his father and younger brother. His younger brother, following in James' footsteps is already the local champion racer. Cagney helps him along and he gets to be one of the country's most famous drivers. They then break up over some girls and Cagney follows the downward path. Ann Dvorak and Joan Blondell are the girls and Eric Linden is the younger brother.

"Unashamed" is a new courtroom drama by Bayard Veiller, author of the "Trial of Mary Dugan". Helen Twelvetrees, as Joan Ogden, daughter of a millionaire, sacrifices her reputation to save her brother, played by Robert Young, after he had killed her lover. Monroe Owsley, John Miljan, Jean Herzholt and Lewis Stone are other members of the cast of the presentation.

Students Earn Part of School Expenses Through Dairy Work

Each year a number of students specializing in Dairy Husbandry are given an opportunity to contribute toward the defrayment of their college expenses. This year eleven students are employed in the college creamery to take care of the handling and processing of milk and the manufacture of the ice cream, butter, and cheese, used by the college. Six men are working regularly as milkers and about as many more are doing various jobs in the dairy and on the farm.

Of the students having jobs with the Dairy Husbandry Department, eighteen occupy quarters provided by the department and six others live in the dormitories. During the past summer housing facilities were greatly improved and the old zoo house was added to the small colony of "shacks" located west of the Southern Pacific railroad tracks, according to A. L. Darnell, Professor of Dairy Husbandry.

The department requires that all students in its employ be properly classified scholastically and the college authorities have placed all cadets who must live off the campus under the same regulations as those living in the dormitories.

Coolidge Tired of Denying Rumors of Job With Colleges

Boston, Mass.—(IP)—Former President Calvin Coolidge is getting sick and tired of being "appointed" president of various colleges and universities about the country.

So the following letter from him was published last week in the Boston American.

"I never heard of any proposal that I should be president of New York University until I received your wire.

"If you newspaper men would state each time that my name is proposed for some position that there is no foundation for the report you would always be right, and it would save me no end of trouble and correspondence.

"With kindest personal regards, I am, "Calvin Coolidge."

Wilson Planned To Resign If Defeated Secretary Reveals

New York—(IP)—President Wilson, during his last campaign, planned, if defeated, to resign and put his Republican opponent into office immediately after election to facilitate the nation's efforts in the World War crisis, according to a revelation made here last week by Joseph Tumulty, secretary to the war-time president.

The plan, Tumulty revealed to the United Press, was to prevent the customary delay between the date of election and the date of inauguration of the President on March 4 which, in time of crisis, might delay and handicap the government.

Tumulty said Mr. Wilson planned to appoint his opponent, Charles Evans Hughes, now chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, to the post of secretary of state in the event the Republicans won. Then the president and vice president would have resigned, automatically placing the secretary of state in the White House.

I like the system of government in the United States, chiefly because it is non-democratic. I like the way a president is elected and stays, no matter what the people may think about him.—Sir John Foster Fraser

Along the Sidelines

By E. E. WILLIAMS

Guesses of the games for this week within the conference are going to be harder than last week because certain winners of the past week's performances are pitting their strength against each other and one has to fall, but here they are:

Texas A and M 7, Rice 6.
Texas University 7, T. C. U. 3.
Arkansas 13, S. M. U. 6.
Texas Tech 21, Baylor 13.
Louisiana State 7, Centenary 3.

Because of the improved showing of the Aggies against the Mustangs at Dallas last week, they are picked to give the Owls a close battle, especially so because they will have the Corps with them and Kyle Field under their feet.

When an irresistible force comes into contact with an unmovable object something is going to happen, and we say that Texas will score one touchdown against the Frogs, who in turn will get close enough to send in their sure kicker, Tiner, for their only score.

Rice barely did defeat the Razorbacks and decisively beat the Mustangs, so chances are that the Arkansas boys will win their second conference game of the season against the Ponies in Dallas.

Texas Tech will probably take Baylor's number while the undefeated Centenary Gentlemen will meet a strong forward wall in the Tigers of Big Jones from Louisiana State.

Lloyd Gregory seems to be ignorant of the sex of Reveille and makes an error of commission as well as of the Dallas paper who seems to have determined the specie of our pup. The mistakes are as follows in the write-up of the Pony-Aggie game: "The cadets sliced their vicious bulldog mascot on the beautiful white horse ridden by the fair Mustang coed"

Reveille did have fun on the gridiron between halves, and probably received more attention over the radio than any dog that ever attended a football game. She also was a proud leader of the parade, and it took the persuasiveness of about thirty freshmen and upperclassmen to keep the little quadruped on the train when a deputy sheriff insisted upon removing "her", during the return trip to Aggeland.

Pitt Students Riot After Defeat Given Fighting Irish Team

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (IP)—If you think anyone on the campus of the University of Pittsburgh took as matter of course the 12 to 0 white-washing given Notre Dame by the Pitt Panthers a few days ago, you don't know that good old Pitt spirit.

True, after the first celebrations of the event, the students bowed to the quiet Pennsylvania Sabbath and stayed pretty sober (mentally and otherwise) over the week-end. But when Monday morning rolled around the professors of the university went to their classrooms to find them empty. The student body simply had adjourned to the downtown street corners, and all the college authorities could do was to say it was all right and declare the day a holiday.

Pittsburgh police then began to find themselves busy, for the students, not a few of whom were coeds, began storming the city's theatres. In one small riot four undergraduates were arrested and charged with destroying property or creating a disturbance.

Other students were invading the campus of Carnegie Tech, near by, but students of that institution, mindful of the routing of their own team by Notre Dame the week before, found it just a bit difficult to get hilarious about the affair.

The Tech students looked on with slightly pained and somewhat envious expressions, giving their callers what might be termed a cool reception.

The Pitt revelers found doors locked and Tech stalwarts looking silently down from upper windows, with buckets of water beside them. There was no deliberate attempt to dampen Pitt's enthusiasm, but the water was kept at hand just in case—

Englishmen have established a record for sobriety in the last year. With the exception of 1918, when millions of men were at war, there are fewer cases of drunkenness than at any other time in the nation's modern history. They numbered only 42,300 as compared with 188,900 in 1913.

Football fans perched on the top row can know just what happens on every play. The Western Electric Public Address System makes it possible. An announcer gives a running description which carries to every seat in the stadium. Picking up, amplifying and distributing sound, Public Address equipment also serves the college auditorium, the gymnasium, the larger lecture halls. A product of telephone research, its performance is still another example of Western Electric's leadership in sound transmission apparatus.
