Homes of Chicago School Officials Bombed Recently

Chicago—(IP)—A controversy over the opening of cafeterias in public schools here has led to the bombing of several school officials' homes. A woman, connected with a lunch room near one school, is being held on suspicion in connection with one such bombing. Lunch room operators are opposing the cafeterias on the ground that they hurt business.

Police accuse two women of hiding a group of bombers. Handwriting experts at Northwestern University declared that the script of threatening notes received by one official before his home was bombed was similar to the woman's handwriting.

It was thought beforehand that the Aggies would be weak in punting material because of the injury of Henry Graves, regular Aggie punter, but Aggie Coaches stated after the game that they were pleased and satisfied with results given by Fowler.

Audience Smoked Out As Students Present Show At Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (IP)—When the students of the University of Minnesota presented "The Streets of New York" it was discovered that they were shy some smoke for the big fire scene. They consulted the National guard and got some real militia smoke bombs.

When the fire scene arrived on the opening night, things really began to happen. Clouds of smoke belched over evening gowns and spotless white shirt-fronts; fumes filled the noses and eyes of a choking audience. The curtain was rung down and the guests departed.

The National Guard had failed to explain that the bombs used were enough to lay a smoke screen on a small army over a 46-acre field.

PRESS CLUB OFFERS

 The following rules, adopted by the club at the meeting Monday night, will govern the award:
 1. The contest for the award shall be open to all undergraduates.
 2. Entries may include any stories, plays, poems, essays, editorials, and technical or scientific articles of any kind, which may have been submitted during the year to any one of the student publications. (The Battalion, The Aggie Countryman, The Technoscope, and The Longhorn.)
 3. The qualities which shall be considered by the judges are:
 (a) Originality in ideas.
 (b) Force, clarity, and charm in presentation.
 (c) Beauty and precision of phrasing.
 (d) Depth and breadth of research.

Note: It is not meant that the piece of writing which receives the award must exhibit all of the above qualities. Each of these qualities, however, where it appears in a composition, will have weight in determining the award.

4. The judges of the contest will be Dr. Geo. Summey, chairman Mr. Thomas; Mr. Curtis Vinson.
 5. All manuscripts must be submitted to the chairman of the committee on Literary Awards, T. F. Mayo, on or before April 29, 1933. No manuscript submitted later will be considered.
 6. Each manuscript submitted must bear:
 (a) A signed statement from the editor of some student publication, to the effect that the manuscript has been submitted to his publication.
 (b) A signed statement by the author that he has received no help in the actual writing of his manuscript.
 (c) A signed statement by the author that the manuscript has not been submitted in any other contest.

Teeth in His Tail
 The sting ray has, at the end of its long flexible tail, a series of sharp teeth along the edges. Using this tail as a weapon the ray inflicts jagged wounds of a serious nature by thrusting it into the point of attack. There are some fifty species, and range in size up to 11 or 12 feet long.

game, however. Three bullet passers were intercepted though to give the Aggies the ball in crucial moments of the game.

Sports writers of the State said Willis Nolan, Aggie Center, was the outstanding linesman of the game as he outplayed and outclassed his Mustang opponent, breaking through consistently to rush Pony passers and stopping Pony runners for appreciable losses.

Switched to end, Charlie Cummings played the new position as though he had been a regular wing all season. Stumble Jordan proved to be unmovable, and a brilliant trick play by Sully Woodland put the Aggies in their first good scoring position.

Although he was watched by the alert Pony linesmen and their fast backs, Frenchy Domingue made several nice gains, but line gaining had to be left to big Ted Spencer, who did it in a convincing manner. Domingue looked better as a defensive player than as an offensive threat. Twice he was the only man between the Pony ball carrier and the goal and his sure tackling stopped the Pony backs cold.

The last offensive threat of the Mustangs was stopped in the final quarter when Joe Love intercepted a Pony pass.

Minnesota Protests Telephone System Northwestern Uses

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (IP)—Frank McCormick, athletic director at the University of Minnesota, has filed a protest with Northwestern University over the use of a system of telephone communication between press box and dugout which he said Northwestern used in the game in which it defeated Minnesota 7 to 0.

McCormick said two Northwestern observers from the vantage point of the press box communicated every important detail of play including a careful analysis of Gopher weaknesses, to the Wildcat coaching bench.

EVANSTON, Ill. (IP)—Northwestern University's football coach, Richard Hanley, when asked about the press box-dugout communication, said that the system had been in use at Northwestern for three years and that he could see "nothing unethical about it."

"The principal value of the system," he said, "is to get a better idea of the physical fitness of our players."

"I am quite sure that other members of the Big Ten employ the same telephone system."

Intramurals Place Soph Quarterback On Varsity Squad

For the last several years intramural football teams have been producers of varsity material, and the latest player from the ranks of Battalion football is Sid Martin of Gilmer, sophomore quarterback. He has been successful in gaining ground this season against Centenary and against the Allen Academy Ramblers, scoring the first touchdown against the Allen Cadets.

Martin did not win a freshman numeral the past season but was an outstanding player on the First Battalion Infantry football team until he broke his leg in an important game last spring.

Intramural products who have starred in former years on the varsity include Joel Hunt and Tommie Mills, both quarterbacks and both of whom captained the team; and W. W. (Pete) Hewitt, halfback, member of the present team.

A survey made by the Associated Press has shown that the new football rules, designed to prevent injuries and fatalities in college and other football games, have resulted in cutting college fatalities alone.

Despite the depression, Columbia University has discovered that a cross section of 103 graduates of the Columbia School of Business are earning an average of $5,000 a year each. The yearly incomes of the 103 range from $360 to $100,000.

Members of the faculty living on Quality Row and on Honeymoon Flats have called the attention of the Battalion to the fact that the contractors who are working on the Physics Building which is now being constructed, place the sand, gravel, and other material in such a manner as to completely block the walks which lead to their homes. The Battalion recommends that the Building and Grounds Department take a look at the place.

 been switched to the end position at times. Against the Ponies last Saturday Cummings played half the game at the wing position and will probably play that position against Rice Saturday.

Starting Lineup
 Bob Connelley, a Fort Worth sophomore who showed up favorably against the Mustangs, will probably start at the other wing post. Other starting linesman will probably be as follows: Wharton Jordan, Fort Worth, and "Honk" Irwin, Kosse, tackles; Stapp Maxwell, Leonard, and Sully Woodland, Edna, guards.

The starting backfield will probably include: W. B. (Dub) Williams, Greenville, quarterback; O'ell Fowler, Amarillo, and Rue Barfield, Port Arthur, half-backs; and Ted Spencer, Gilmer, at fullback.

Chesterfields are Milder
Chesterfields Taste Better

You know how it is. If a cigarette is mild—that is, not harsh or bitter, but smokes cool and smooth—then you like it and don't worry about how many or how often you smoke. And if it tastes right—that is, not oversweet, not flat—then you enjoy it all the more.

The right kind of ripe, sweet Domestic and Turkish tobacco... the right ageing and blending... make Chesterfields milder, better-tasting... They Satisfy!
