Finals, finals, everywhere
With drops and drops of ink,
And never a prof who'll leave the room
And allow a guy to think!

Willy—"Rather a risque dress that girl is wearin'."

Nilly—"Well, she never could keep anything to herself."

"Now I've got you in my grip!" hissed the villain as he shoved the toothpaste into his valise.

And then there's the one about Blundering Bess of the baked bean factory who put the beans in the can upside-down and gave all the customers the hiccups.

Fortune Teller: "For a dollar I'll tell you what happened between you and the girl friend last night."

M. I. T.: "I know that, but I'll give you five if you'll tell me the outcome."

—Voo Doo

It is said that a beautiful dimple may be acquired by sleeping for a certain number of nights on a collar button.

Girl (at florist's)—"Have you any passion poppie?"

Old Clerk—"Gol ding! Just wait till I lay down these roses!"

—Belle Hop

He—"Before we part how about a snappy remembrance?"

She—"Sorry, but I don't wear garters."

—Log

The man in the moon isn't half as interesting as the lady in the sun.

EVOLUTION

There was once a Freshman who did all of his home work, attended all of the major and minor sporting activities, and purchased the college publication.

There was next a sophomore who attended all of the major sporting activities and read some one else's copy of the college publication.

There was also a Junior who attended the "Big Game."

There was a Senior.

Oh, Miss Nix:

I am engaged to a man. He is nice to me, and earns a very good salary, but I have found out that he just simply can't bear children. Tell me something, quick!

Wistful.

Answer: What the hell do you expect out of one man? You've got to do some of the work, honey.

D. Nix.
