Ziegfeld's "Hot-Cha" and Hollywood's "Oh-yeah!" boys collaborate to produce "Hot Pepper" and the result is that neither of these three lose their individuality. Flagg and Quirt quit the Marines in time to get in at the bottom of the alcohol rackets in New York City—off their Marine pay? And Pepper herself is a dancer who walks between their punches and jabs. I'll go to laugh at El Brendel.

Cast: Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen, Lupe Velez, and El Brendel.

Movieland discovered that George Raft at one time was a pal of Rudolph Valentino's, that he too is a brunette, and in Hollywood. After the plastic surgeons and publicity men finished their work—he does look like Valentino. In "Under-Cover Man" George invades the rackets to find the slayer of his father assuming the pose of a racketeer. Nice melodrama, I presume, and made admirable with Raft's nonchalance.

Cast: George Raft, Nancy Carroll, Roscoe Karnes, Lew Cody, Gregory Ratoff.

From Crinolines and earthquakes (San Francisco's holocaust, of course) to courtrooms and tears—that's "Diamond Lil." Ruth Chatterton is the latest actress "Madame X-ing" her way to your heart-strings. She falls in love with a speakeasy pianist and the cad gets himself killed in the earthquake leaving Ruth with a check and no marriage certificate. Twenty-five years later, the child who has assumedly been adopted, becomes a lawyer, and sends his own mother to the chair. If you are a sentimentalist take three clean, dry hankies.

Cast: Ruth Chatterton, Ruth Chatterton, and Ruth Chatterton.

It's not difficult to find romance in the flying game and Hollywood again capitalizes on this with a new type of air story, "Air Hostess." It has a hero, greasy mechanics, a heroine, and female temptress. It's okay for air-minded America.

Cast: Evalyn Knapp, James Murray, Thelma Todd, and James Pierson.

Intended for a stirring drama of the ethics of the younger generation, "Age of Consent" is simply sex sensationalism. A college boy decides to quit school to marry a waitress who is under age. Gruff papa with whiskers, shotgun, etc. But running true to Hollywood and not life, all is righted in the end with a happy ending.

Cast: Richard Cromwell, Arline Judge, Eric Linden, Dorothy Wilson, Eileen Pringle, John Halliday.

"Manhattan, you are like a strange melody," but Eric Linden can't sing it. "Big City Blues" is the story of a hick town lad who inherits one grand from a relative and heads for the Big City to blow it in on one grand time. Chorus girls, chiselers, champagne, murder, third degree, love, and back to the country.

Mustangs And Frogs Defeat Aggie Cagers

Farmers Lose Exciting Games By Close Scores In Dallas and Fort Worth.

Hard luck rode close on the trail of the Aggies during their first invasion of foreign courts when they dropped two close and thrilling basketball games to S. M. U. and T. C. U. The Mustangs took the measure of Coach John Reid's quintet Saturday night, January 14, to the tune of 28-24.

In the game with the Ponies, the highly touted Whitey Baccus of S. M. U. was able to score only 6 points while Captain Joe Moody of the Aggies rang up 9 counters to tie for scoring honors with Zachary, another flashy Mustang sophomore. Big Joe Merka, Aggie center, who was playing his first game of the new season, accounted for six points though it is evident that he has not yet gotten back into the form that marked his brilliant playing last year.

The Mustangs, a different team entirely than the downtrodden one of last year, led the Aggies for almost the entire period and late in the game were leading by a comfortable 8-point margin when Bull Marcum, steady Aggie guard, sank two field goals from the court to make the final score a close one.

The game Monday night with the Frogs was even a more heart-breaking one for all Aggie supporters when, after leading the Frogs by several points throughout the game, a last minute rally and a thrilling last minute attempt to score was successful, proving fatal to Aggie hopes. Captain Buster Brannon of T. C. U. looped the basket with a one handed throw to score and win the tilt just before the game ended. Again Captain Joe Moody led in scoring honors for the night with 9 points to his credit. Only once were the Frogs ahead of the Aggies. Just before the end of the game with the score tied at 24-all, a free throw put them ahead for the first time, but Marcum's field goal overcame that lead. The Aggies led by 15-8 at the half.

in 1931, ended disastrously for the Aggies because of two blocked punts.

The Rice Owls, picked as one of the strong teams for the coming football season, will entertain the Aggies in Houston November 18, while the climax of the season comes on Thanksgiving day when the Aggies and Longhorns meet here on Kyle Field.

The Aggies' complete schedule will be as follows:

- Sept. 23—Trinity University at College Station.
- September 30—Tulane University at New Orleans.
- Oct. 6—Sam Houston, S. T. C. at Huntsville (night game).
- Oct. 21—Texas Christian University at Fort Worth.

tackle for the yardage necessary failed.

The Cavalry missed a golden chance to score when J. B. Bisby of Houston, right end, barely missed a pass over the goal line late in the last quarter.

In the second intramural game, Saturday, the Signal Corps ran rough shod over the Coast Artillery 24-0. Tommy Uhr of San Antonio led the scoring parade with one touchdown in the first quarter and two in the fourth. W. E. Steele, Alvin, made the other score for the Signalmen in the third quarter.

The Engineers became champions of the National league when they won over the Second Artillery by the penetration rule in the last game Saturday afternoon, though it ended in a 0-0 tie.

Students' Petition For New Economics Course Is Approved

The Department of Economics announces that a course on principles of investment will be offered this term in response to a petition that was signed by a sufficiently large number of students to warrant two sections in the course. The course is to be designated as a general elective with a prerequisite of completion of any elementary economic course. J. W. Barger, professor of economics, has been assigned both sections.

According to Dr. S. S. Huebner, of the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance, the average man makes such poor and unwise investments that it would be better for him to accumulate his savings in a safety deposit box, in that way he would have at least more than reasonable assurance that his principal would be safe.

Since it is important for people to be educated along money making lines, Professor Barger says it is equally important that they have some knowledge of how to invest their savings in order to insure the continued support of themselves and their families. According to Professor Barger, the ordinary man is likely to invest his savings in enterprises which he knows nothing about, thereby not only incurring the possibility of not receiving a fair return from his investment but risking the loss of his principal also.

ILLUSION:

One of Houdini's most spectacular escape feats was performed with a huge milk can filled with water. He invited persons of the audience to bring padlocks and lock him into the can. He got into the can, the lid was put on and fastened with several padlocks. A screen was placed in front of the can. Assistants stood by with stop watches and fire axes to save him from drowning after a certain time. About a minute later, the screen was removed, Houdini was seen panting and dripping... the padlocks remaining intact!

EXPLANATION:

The usual method of escaping from a milk can is as follows: The lid of the can is apparently securely padlocked to the lower portion, but actually the metal band to which the staples are attached is the top of a short inner lining. The performer, after being locked into the can, pushes the lid upward with his head and the short inner lining is forced out of place, permitting his escape. The screen is then removed.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED

...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

What exciting magic there is in cigarette advertising!

Let's look at one of its greatest illusions...that cigarettes can be mysteriously given superior "flavor."

THE EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring...the blending of various tobaccos...and the quality of the tobaccos themselves. Quality is the most important. Artificial flavoring can never wholly disguise the poor flavor of cheap tobaccos.

The blending of several cheap, raw tobaccos cannot improve the flavor of any of them. A fine cigarette is a cigarette blended from costly, ripe tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is why the Camel flavor has never been rivaled... why Camels have given more pleasure to more people than any other cigarette ever made.

In more costly tobaccos lies the secret of Camels' delicate "bouquet"...of their rich, cool flavor—of their non-irritating mildness. It's the tobacco that counts.

All the natural goodness of Camel's tobacco is kept fresh and rich for you by the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack. Don't remove it. Its moisture-proof cellophane also protects your Camels from dust and germs. Put a pack in your pocket today.
