

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES ARE ANNOUNCED

JUNIORS COMPLETE PLANS FOR FINAL DANCES

Aggieland And Campus Serenaders To Play War Dance At Final Ball; Senior Class Will Be Honored

Final decorations are now being made for the Junior Prom, Junior Banquet, and Final Ball to be held in the college mess hall Thursday and Friday night of this week, according to an announcement by T. S. Roots, chairman of decorations committee.

The Junior Banquet will feature talks by W. A. McLeod of Cuero, historian of the junior class, and also by the other class officers. J. F. Rollins of China will act as toastmaster. Music for the banquet will be furnished by the Campus Serenaders. Admission will be to members of the class of '34 and their dates only.

The Aggie orchestra will play for the Junior Prom which will follow the banquet at nine o'clock and last until two. The grand march of the junior class will begin at ten o'clock, led by Henry Wendler, president of the Junior Class, and Miss Helen Faltin, junior student at C. I. A. Admission will be to juniors and members of the senior class. Tax for the affair will be one dollar for Juniors. Seniors are to be admitted free.

A war dance between the Campus Serenaders and the Aggie Orchestra will be featured at the final ball Friday night between 9 and 2 a. m. Seniors will be honored at the ball, which is the last get-together of the entire student body. The price of admission will be one dollar plus key room deposit. Seniors will be admitted free.

Guerdrum Is Awarded Prize for The Most Improved Marksman

T. J. Guerdrum of San Antonio, elected this year's most improved member of the rifle team, was awarded a gold watch chain in recognition of his accomplishments at the decoration ceremony preceding the review of the Corps Sunday morning. Along with the other members of the rifle team, Guerdrum was presented with a medal given to the winners of the Eighth Corps Area rifle match.

Other members of the team awarded medals were W. F. Sinclair, Galveston; Jack Harding, Dallas; O. A. Seward, Amarillo; J. O. Franz, Dallas; C. J. Anderson, Lawn; and G. R. Rhine, Roy Huffaker, G. H. Samuels, and J. A. McDavitt, all of San Antonio.

Winning eighty-two out of the ninety-four intercollegiate matches entered, one of the three places for individual scores in the Hearst Trophy match, and first place in the Eighth Corps Area Medal Match, the rifle team closes a very successful season.

Chemistry and New Agricultural Engineering Buildings To Be Used During Summer School.

According to Dr. F. E. Giesecke, College Architect, eight new buildings will be completed in time for use next year, and at least four will be ready to be used in part for the summer session.

The entire Chemistry Building and the new Agricultural Engineering Building will be available for use during the coming summer session; but only part of the Administration Building and the Petroleum Production Building will be available for summer school.

BOAZ DELIVERS FINAL ADDRESS TO '33 SENIORS

Baccalaureate Services Held In Guion Hall On Sunday For Candidates For Degrees.

Bishop H. A. Boaz of Houston, Methodist Episcopal Church South, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to graduating seniors, candidates for Master Degrees, their relatives, friends, and faculty members in Guion Hall at ten-thirty Sunday morning, May 28. Bishop Boaz selected his text from the second Book of Kings, and titled it, "Shew Thyself A Man".

The essentialness of "sterling integrity" along with preparedness for one's job in life were stressed by Bishop Boaz. The speaker explained that genius is one's capacity for work and continued with emphasis on the necessity of hard work for success in the world.

The baccalaureate service was preceded by one of the most colorful and impressive ceremonies of the year, the procession of faculty members and candidates for degrees down military walk between two lines of the uniformed cadet corps. The slow music from the band and the stillness of the spectators added much to the solemnity of the affair.

Members Selected To Edit 1933-34 Annual Announced By Dryden

Members of the 1933-34 Longhorn staff recently selected by J. W. Dryden, Robstown, editor of next year's Aggie annual, were: M. S. Burton, engineering student from Tyler, who will be associate editor; Jack Harding, Dallas, Greenhorn editor; and J. M. Carroll, Denton, sports editor.

Though no actual work has begun, tentative plans for next year have been made, and the other staff members will be announced soon.

ARCHITECTURAL MODEL AND DESIGNER

Above is shown the model of a residence recently completed by L. M. Cook, graduate student in the architectural department, now on display in the architectural department drafting rooms.

Cook was originally given a program of requirements accompanied by a topographical map giving the contours of the property for which the house was to be designed.

From the program of requirements he worked out and designed the residence as one of the major projects in architectural design during the first term.

The second requirement of the problem was to make a model of the house and property at a scale of 1/4 inch equals 1 foot, and the treatment of the landscape as well. The later was admirably done through the use of diminutive shrubs and trees which are also at the proper scale.

Cook used what is commonly called the Mediterranean type of architecture which embodies the rambling freedom of elements, all of which are blended and tied together by patios, courts, and swimming pool.

230 JUNIORS WILL ATTEND SUMMER CAMP

Request Has Been Made For Camp To Last Only 35 Days In Order That All Eligible May Attend.

Orders for the annual Reserve Officers Training Corps Summer Camp for juniors were received late Sunday afternoon by Lieutenant Colonel A. R. Emery, head of A and M Military Science Department.

Preparations are now being made for 230 members of the present junior class of A and M to leave immediately after the Final Review Saturday afternoon, June 3, for the camps where each respective unit will be represented, according to the orders received by Colonel Emery.

Enrollment for the summer camp will be as follows: 61 Infantrymen, 67 Field Artillerymen, and 13 members of the Signal Corps will attend Fort San Houston at San Antonio; 32 members of the Cavalry Squadron will attend Camp Clark at Brocktonville; 35 Engineers will go to Fort McIntosh at Laredo; 16 Coast Artillerymen will go to Fort Barrancas at Pensacola, Florida; and 6 Chemical Engineers will attend the chemical warfare camp at Edgewood Arsenal in Maryland.

Request has been made by the Corps Area Headquarters that camp last only 35 days this year instead of the usual 42 in order that all men in the first year advanced course who are qualified to attend camp will be able to go, according to Colonel Emery. The present order for camp eliminates 33 eligible men in the government allotment because of the lack of funds, but final orders from Washington are yet to be received.

Trunks will be checked at the station as usual and will be delivered to camp.
