

AGGIES MEET BAYLOR BEARS HERE SATURDAY

Judge Davis Delays Court Action Until October 31

Constitutional Interpretation Chief Issue of Case; Postponement Granted On Request of Lawyers

Plaintives' Case Likely To Be Built Around Women Being Part of Industrial Class.

A continuance until Tuesday, October 31, was granted by Judge W. C. Davis in the 85th district court at Bryan last Saturday on the mandamus proceedings filed in September by Bryan citizens to compel the admission of women students to the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas. Several weeks ago the court ruled that each member of the Board of Directors of Texas A and M College must be served with notice of the proceedings; in order to carry out the ruling it was necessary to delay the date of hearing until October 21, however, this second postponement leaves the trial scheduled for the last day of the month.

In an interview with Colonel C. C. Todd, a graduate of Texas A and M in the class of 1897 and a former commandant of the College who is attorney for the plaintiffs in the case, it was revealed that the chief issue of the case rests on constitutional interpretation and that the citizens who signed the petition demanding admission of their daughters to A and M College are seeking what they consider their rights under the constitution of the State of Texas.

Colonel Todd stated that Texas A and M College and the negro college at Prairie View were founded prior to the adoption of the state constitution and the subsequent establishment of a state university. However, when provisions were made for Texas University it was decided that A and M College should be regarded as a branch of that institution and that its purpose should be the teaching of the agricultural and mechanical arts to the industrial classes. The plaintiffs will probably build their case around the contention that women are a part of the industrial class.

The federal law under which A and M College receives an annual appropriation of one and one half

Final Registration Figures Show 2151 Students Enrolled For First Term; 157 Increase Over Last Year

Agricultural Course Leads College In Number of Students; Mechanical Engineering Leads Technical Courses.

Final figures for registration at Texas A. and M. College show that 2151 students have enrolled for the first term of the 1933-34 school year, according to information received from the office of the registrar. A summary of the registration shows that the course in agriculture leads the college with 330 students, while the mechanical

WAR DANCE

Competition between Baylor and A and M students will be far from being over after the A and M-Baylor game Saturday afternoon, because Bennie Green and his Green Terrace Orchestra are engaged to play a war dance with the Aggieband Orchestra in the Mess Hall following the football game. Bennie Green and his Orchestra play all of the dances for Baylor University students, and are a part of the one time famous Hogan Hancock Band. This orchestra has the greatest following of any Baylor Orchestra of previous years, and promises to be a real treat for the cadets, according to Zeke Tipton, social secretary of the senior class.

Admission to the dance will be one dollar, and the hours will be between 9 and 12.

BEARS WORK HARD FOR SATURDAY'S GAME WITH AGGIES

Baylor Team Will Be In Pink of Condition for Farmer Tilt; All Men Available.

Waco, Texas, Oct. 25.—With their last letup of the season behind them the Baylor Bears now face a schedule of six consecutive difficult games, the first of which takes them to College Station where they will battle the Texas Aggies on Oct. 28.

Four of the remaining six Baylor battles are slated to be fought on foreign soil, and five of the games are conference tilts. Coach Morley Jennings' Bruins make their home appearance in a homecoming clash with T. C. U. Nov. 4, and close their 1933 season when the Rice Owls invade Carroll Field on Dec. 2.

Baylor will go to A and M Saturday in the pink of condition. Though 25 men played in the Simmons contest, four regular linemen sat on the bench throughout the fray. Harold "Red" Clem and Co-Captain Dub Norton gave up their guard berths for the day to men with less experience, and Bennie Clark and Warren Weatherers saw two sophomores and one junior transfer playing at the tackle posts.

Jim Weatherby, senior pivot man in the Baylor line, played only a quarter against the Cowboys, and Co-Captain Frank James

WINNER

R. O. Loving

Loving Wins 1st Place In National Drawing Contest

A technical sketch drawn by R. O. Loving, sophomore electrical engineering student from Pine Bluff, Arkansas, received the distinction of first place in the National contest recently conducted by the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

The names of the winners and the professors under whom the winning sketches were drawn, are given in the current journal of that organization. H. C. Spencer, professor of the A. and M. Engineering Drawing Department, submitted Loving's drawing last spring.

Loving's drawing, representing Texas A. and M. College, won over drawings submitted from many of the best colleges and universities in the United States, such as Columbia University, Northwestern, Purdue, University of Illinois, University of Wisconsin, and many others. Rice Institute of Houston was the only other Texas school represented in the contest.

Van de Putte Chosen Captain of Fencing Team for This Year

Charles Van De Putte, San Antonio, was elected captain of the A and M Fencing Team for the 1933-34 season last week at the initial meeting of the Team this year. V. K. Sugareff, professor in the history department, and C. C. Palmer, professor in electrical engineering and fencing letterman from Purdue, were selected as coaches for the team.

Plans are being made to put on exhibition matches between the halves at the basketball games, and a tentative schedule with outside competition is being planned. Five men from last year's team who reported are: E. J. Owen, Laredo; F. A. Hubbard, Temple; H. Fisherman, Big Spring; H. S. Brinsmade, San Luis, Mexico; and C. F. Calvert.

The fencing team was first organized last year after two men began practicing individually and others began to show interest in the sport to such extent that a fencing club was organized. The name was changed to the A and M Fencing Team this year and interest is steadily growing.

The purpose of the club is to teach fundamentals to all new men, thereby making it unnecessary for beginners to know anything whatever of the sport. At present, the team is practicing on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons at 4:30 in the wrestling room of the gymnasium and all who are interested should report at once either to the gym or to room 55 Law, regardless of whether he has any knowledge of fencing.

Chemical Engineers Elect Dickson Head of Reorganized Club

At a meeting of chemistry and chemical engineering students, held Tuesday morning of last week in the chemistry building for the purpose of organizing a club, F. B. Dickson, senior, San Antonio, was chosen president of the group for the 1933-34 session.

Taking the chair immediately following his election, Dickson led the meeting while C. M. Dempwolf, Cleburne, and R. C. Halter, were elected to the offices of vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Preceding the election, C. C. Hedges, head of the department of chemistry and temporary chairman of the meeting, made a short informal talk to the group. The gist of Dr. Hedges' remarks was contained in his closing sentence, "This building is yours—for chemistry students only—and you may use it as a meeting place for your club at anytime you may choose."

It was recalled that the last chemistry club dissolved in 1924.

H. N. LYLE CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF NEW ENGINEERING CLUB

Petroleum and Geology Students Form Chapter of American Institute of Mines and Metallurgical Engineers.

H. N. Lyle, Shamrock, was elected president at the first joint meeting of the Petroleum and Geology Society which has been formed for the purpose of organizing a student branch of the American Institute of Mines and Metallurgical Engineers. Other officers elected were: Nobel Hull, Pittsburg, vice-president, and Jack Kohler, Palestine, secretary.

Plans are being made to have an exhibit at the Petroleum Exposition at Houston in the spring. Plans are also being made to secure prominent oil men and geologists to address the society. Arrangements are being made to secure pictures from the Bureau of Mines for educational purposes, Lyle stated.

Lyle appointed a program committee consisting of the following students: Bill Drushel, Edna; W. B. Hubbard, Marfa; G. A. Staple, Edna; and J. L. Wallace, Madisonville, with Dr. Lonsdale, head of the Geology Department, and K. L. Mills, head of the Petroleum Engineering Department, assisting the committee.

Students who are enrolled in the school of Geology or Petroleum Engineering are qualified to become members of the Society. Meetings of the Society will be held in the future on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month in the auditorium of Geology and Petroleum Engineering Building.

Saturday's Game Will Mark Second Game for Baylor On Kyle Field.

After taking a severe beating at the hands of the T. C. U. Horned Frogs, the Texas Aggies have come down to earth from their recent soaring of hopes for a Southwest Conference Championship due to a good pre-conference showing, and from results shown in this week's hard scrimmage and grueling practice will be bristling mad as they go out on Kyle Field Saturday to meet the Baylor Bears for the thirty-second time since football relations between the two colleges started in 1899.

In the thirty-one games played, the Aggies have been victorious in twenty-one while the Bears have taken six. The remaining four ended in ties, three of which were scoreless.

The game Saturday will be the second one ever to be played by the Aggies against the Bruins on Kyle Field; all the other games having been played in Waco. The first game was played year-before last after a four year period truce between the schools with the Aggies winning by a 33-7 margin.

In the game last year at Waco, the Aggies played lastly with a weak Baylor club and neither team made a single counter. The game this year will be taken up where the scoreless deadlock of last year ended and both teams will be fighting to show which one should have won.

To date, both teams have lost one conference game, and a comparison of seasonal records and player strength shows that both are on nearly equal footing and are on fairly even terms.

Coach Morley Jennings will bring one of the strongest teams that Baylor has seen for several years to College Station for Saturday's game. According to reports and results of other game so far this season, the line seems to be nearly as strong as the famous Baylor line of 1930 when "Botchy" Koch and Punny Witcher gave the Bears an almost impenetrable forward wall. The line will have a weight advantage over the Aggies by some five or six pounds with such men as Red Clem, Dub Norton, and Jim Weatherby each tipping the scales at over 200 pounds.

Although beaten by the Arkansas Razorbacks by a decisive score of 19-7, the Bears held the conference leaders by a 7-6 margin until the very last minutes of play when the Razorbacks showed a sudden streak of championship fight and quickly put over two more touchdowns to take the game.

Spencer Elected To Represent Students On Athletic Council

Ted Spencer, Gilmer, Major of the First Battalion Infantry, was elected student representative on the Athletic Council at a meeting of the senior class Tuesday afternoon. Spencer, who is fullback on the varsity football team, won over V. G. Young, Henderson, and Tom Kennerly, Houston.

Three seniors, Tull Gearreid, president of the senior class, Pete Connor, yell leader, and G. V. Holmes, cadet colonel, were authorized to attend a Baylor pep rally sometime this week and give an official invitation for the Baylor student body to attend the Aggie-Bear game here Saturday.
