

"How many times have I kissed you tonight?"

"Only three times—you remember mother came in once, and I answered the phone once."

—Sour Owl

Our roommate always wears a tuxedo to a banquet so that in the middle of a speech he can pick up a few dishes and leave the room and everyone thinks he is just a waiter going out.

—College Humor

A press censor is a man who knows more than he thinks other people ought to.

—College Humor

Letters make me far from coo
When they ask for "Three cents due."

—Ski-U-Man

She strolled into the electric lab.
A-machine was running low.
She touched it—alas she died,
But she won't dynamo.

—Yellow Jacket

A droll tale is told about the deaf and dumb man who had a nightmare and broke his knuckles on a bedpost, screaming.

—Exchange

Artist—"See that picture over there? Well a million wouldn't buy it."

Friend—"Well, I'm one of those million."

—Annapolis Log.

College girls and chorus girls are almost alike except that the former get their education by degrees and the latter by stages.

—Rice Owl

"I'm enthusiastic. I always throw myself into everything that I undertake."

"Splendid. Why don't you dig a well?"

—Drexed

"I have it all arranged. You are to sit on my right hand at dinner."

"Sir! How dare you suggest such a thing to a lady!"

—Engineer

Who sez the depression is over—it's even gettin' hard for a fellow to find a decent size piece of soap in the shower.

First Jail Bird: "What you in for?"

Second Jail Bird: "Rocking my wife to sleep."

First Same: "But they can't put you in here for that."

Second Ditto: "But you ain't seen the size of them rocks."

—Exchange

Freshman: "I wanna buy a hat."

Salesman: "Would you like a Homburg, sir?"

Freshman: "Naw, I ain't hungry; I just wanna buy a hat."

—Juggler

Teacher: "Johnnie, what month has twenty-eight days?"

Johnnie: "All of 'em."