

The crack has been going the rounds about the third-rate geologist who took everything for granite.
—Voodoo

Then there's the chorus girl who gets a grand, and glorious feeling every time the millionaire kisses her.

—Owl

"My fiance said he would be the luckiest man in the world when we were married."
"How about your father?"

—Puppet

Daughter: But, Daddy, why do you object to my becoming engaged? Is it because of my youth?
Daddy: Yes, he's hopeless!

—Log

Queer things sometimes get into print because human being all make mistakes. Now and then a newspaper reporter writes copy carelessly, etc. Here are a few of the "best bets" in such errors:

"Touches live wife, man hurled 35 feet."

"Wanter—Saleslady. Must be respectable until after X-mas."

"For Rent—Lovely furnished room in private family with bath on car line."

"Experienced salespeople wanted. Male or female. No others need apply."

"For sale—A folding bed by a lady that shuts up and looks like a piano."

—Sour Owl

When I don't want a man's attention and he asks where I live, I say, "in the dorm."

Splendid! And where do you really live, Miss Fogg?

In the dorm, Mr. Jaeger.

—The Drexerd

"Say, mister," said a little fellow to a next door neighbor, "are you the man who gave my brother a dog last week?"

"Yes."

"Well, ma says to come and take them back."

—Annapolis Log

"Yes, I heard a noise and got up in my nightgown, and there under the bed, I saw a man's legs."

"Good heavens! The burglar's?"

"No, my husband's; he had heard the noise, too."

—Columbia Jester

An Englishman was on his first visit here. While driving along he saw a sign that said: "Go slow; that means you."

"By jove," said the Englishman, "how did they know that I was here?"

—New Columns

O: What would be the proper thing to say if, in carving the duck it should skid off the platter and into your neighbor's lap?

A: Be very courteous. Say, "May I trouble you for that duck?"

—Reserve Red Cat

"I don't like the looks of that haddock."

"Well, madam, if it's looks you're after, why don't you buy goldfish?"

When they told her that there was an effort being made to revive Shakespeare, she said, "Oh, was he at the party, too?"

"Is my face familiar, baby?"
"No, but it's trying to be."