

SANCTUARY

Moaning has been going on now for many years
And great, big, strong men are shedding tears
Over the emancipation of the female who invades
Barber shops and makes her shameless raids
On all men's strongholds until there is no place
One can not see a pretty, empty, lip-rouged face;
But I venture to say there will never come a time when

Women will be found behind the door marked
"Men."

—Ski-U-Mah

* * *

Q—What would be the proper thing to say if, in carving the duck, it should skid off the platter and into your neighbor's lap?

A—Be very courteous. Say, "May I trouble you for that duck?"

—Red Cat

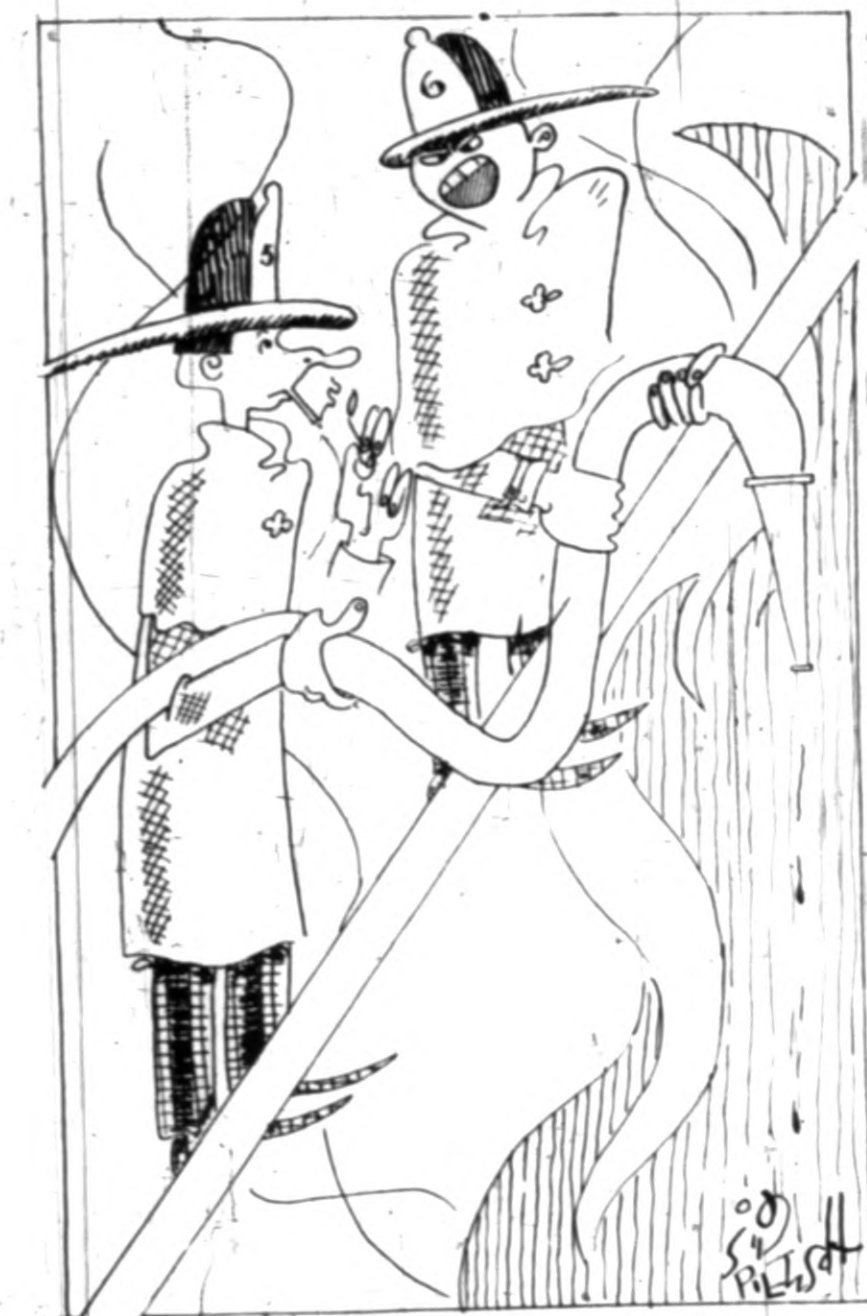

* * *

"Horses, like dogs, are man's best friends," said someone. But they're wrong, because who the hell wants to come home and have a horse jump in his lap?

—Awgwan

* * *

Johnny and Mary went out into the country to pick wild flowers. Mary's mother went with them so they picked wild flowers.

"Put dat out! Don't you know de smoke gets in me eyes."

* * *

Nurse (in insane asylum): "There's a man outside who wants to know if we have lost any male inmates."

Doctor: "Why?"

Nurse: "He says that someone has run off with his wife."

—Log

* * *

"I see the widow across the street is wearing tweeds!"

"Huh?"

"I said the twidow is wearing weeds."

"What?"

"I said, I see the tweedow is wearing wids—I mean the weedow is wearing twids—the widow is wearing wids. Hell, our neighbor has a new suit."

—Kitty Kat

The contortionist who went on a bender.