ANNUAL RODEO TO TAKE PLACE FRIDAY NIGHT

Poll Conducted Regarding Change In Cadet Formal Uniform

WHITE GLOVES MAY BE WORN BY THE UNDERCLASSMEN, CHAMOIS BY SENIORS

Students Will Vote to Determine the Desirability of the Wearing of Gloves at Ceremonial Occasions.

Decision on the proposed plan to include gloves as a part of the dress uniform for reviews and corps trips will rest on the entire student body, it was unanimously decided at a meeting of the senior class held Monday in the Assembly Hall. An immediate student poll was considered advisable in order that, should reactions to the plan prove favorable and the Corps attend the S M U game in uniform, the gloves may be worn at that time.

Proponents of the plan stated that the wearing of gloves would greatly enhance the general appearance of the student body. They further averred that the cost of purchase would be negligible, and that only ordinary laundering would be necessary for the white gloves of underclassmen and the chamois of seniors.

Further discussion at the meeting regarded the corps' trip to Dallas, and the advisability of permitting the corps to go in civilian clothes. A shipment of uniforms is due, and should arrive in time for distribution and alterations, the class decided that the Corps would be able to make the trip in regulation uniform.

A ballot for the student poll appears on the back page of this issue. First sergeants are to submit the ballots of their organization to room 63 Mitchell not later than midnight Thursday.

AGGIES TAKE BAYLOR GRID TEAM, 10-7

Brilliant Punting, Passing, and Running by Both Teams Keeps Spectators Thrilled for Four Quarters in Saturday Game.

The Aggies, playing the major portion of the game in their opponents' territory, subdued the Baylor Bears in perhaps the most breath taking game witnessed this season.

Getting off to a fast start, the Aggie eleven made the Golden Bears keep their distance in a punting duel during the first part of the first period. Wilkins recovered Frisby's fumble, Couser advanced the ball through the line for 11 yards, and after a five yard penalty for the Aggies, Cummings booted a perfect field goal giving the Aggies an early lead.

The Aggies came close to scoring the second period when Kimbrough broke loose for a smashing forty yard run, scattering would be tacklers over the field being stopped by Wray on the Baylor five yard line. Les Cummings tried for another field goal, but the ball went a little too far to the right of the posts.

The third quarter opened with the Aggies still showing plenty of steam. Muggins Fowler on a running play through "that good old Baylor line," galloped 45 yards placing the ball on the Bear's ten.

LITTLE THEATRE CLUB TO PRESENT WELL-KNOWN PLAY

The A and M little theatre club, which has recently adopted a new method of operation, will present one act of the Greek play, "Agamemnon," at its next meeting, to be held in the Asbury room of the library November 6.

Under its new method of operation, the club will meet once a month. At each meeting two one act plays will be presented, one modern, and one play illustrating the progress and development of drama from the early Greeks to the twentieth century. The plays will be given on the collapsible intelligence, culture and general

White Gloves As Addition to the Cadet Uniform, May Be Desirable

Gloved hands, swinging rhythmically to march time, flashes of white and chamois acting coordinately at the command "Pre-sent arms," and a neater appearance of the corps whether it be on parade or at social functions—such will be a few of the results of the plan to include gloves as a required part of the dress uniform, if the outcome of the student poll proves favorable.

The best advertisement afforded a military institution is the appearance, both individually and collectively, of its cadets. There is a common desire here to further the name of A and M, and since it is a military school, this can best be done by a well-groomed

CORPS TRIP UNIFORMS

The improbability of a parade in Dallas, on the occasion of our trip there for the S M U game, has been suggested by college authorities, because of the insufficient number of blouses for underclassmen.

The exact seriousness of this problem can be ascertained if organization commanders will report their needs to J. C. McHaney, Cadet Colonel.

Possibly, the problem can be solved, if commanders will cooperate!

A new shipment of uniforms is now on the way, and others are expected.

Harvard Refusal Of Scholarship Receives Praise

Eastern Educators Applaud Move Made by School President in Declining Offer of Hitler Aid.

Cambridge, Mass.—The recent refusal of Harvard University to accept a $1,000 scholarship from Ernest F. S. Hanfstenkel, Harvard graduate and a lieutenant of Adolf Hitler, German dictator, continued to draw fire.

Many educators in the east have praised the action of Doctor James B. Conant, president of the university, on the ground that one so closely associated with a government which has taken away the freedom of German universities should not be allowed to glorify himself in the eyes of American university students.

The Harvard Crimson, student daily newspaper at the university, took an entirely different view. "That politics should prevent a Harvard student from enjoying an opportunity for research in one of the world's greatest cultural cities is most unfortunate and scarcely in line with the liberal tradition of which Harvard is pardonably proud," the Crimson said in a recent editorial.

ENGINEERS SEE PLANTS IN ACTION

Aggie C. E. Group Visits Industries

Faculty Members accompany Senior Students on Houston Industrial Visit; Group Visits Nine Plants on Trip.

Accompanied by Professors J. J. Richey, L. E. Grinter, C. G. Adams, and J. T. L. McNew, some thirty senior civil engineering students from A and M convened in Houston last week.

The group inspected the various industrial enterprises of the city. Beginning Wednesday at nine in the morning, the group visited the municipally owned north side sewage disposal plant. From 10:30 till noon, they were guests of the National Lumber and Creosoting Company.

In the afternoon, the Lone Star Cement Company was host to the group. The party was accompanied through the plant by one of the company's guides and, was shown the processes involved in the manufacture of cement.

At 2:30 the party was conveyed to the Houston ship channel and, as guests of the Houston Port Commission, were shown the port facilities of the port of Houston.

Mr. Thompson of the Carnegie Steel Company Warehouse, which is located on the Houston ship channel, showed the group through the steel company's facilities for receiving and storing its products in Houston.

Thursday's activities began at eight in the morning when the group went out on Liberty Road, which is an extension of Houston's Clark Street, and inspected a paving job that was in progress.

The Mosher Steel Company plant was headquarters for the group between 9:30 and 10:30 a. m.

From 10:30 to 11:30, the group inspected the plant of the Wynt Metal and Boiler Works, and learned of the making of boilers.

From 11:30 to noon, the panorama of Houston and the South Texas section unfolded itself before the group's eyes from the top of the Gulf Building, the tallest and largest building west of Chicago.

After luncheon at the Rice Hotel, the group proceeded to the Gulf Concrete Pipe Company plant where they witnessed the making of concrete pipes.

During the visit, the group made its headquarters at Houston's Rice Hotel.

Socialized Medicine Subject Of Debaters

The A and M Debate team will journey to Houston November 23, to debate the Rice University team on the question: "Socialized Medicine should be adopted in the United States."

BERNIE WILL PLAY AT SMU CORPS TRIP

"Old Maestro and All the Lads" Will Play for Dance in Dallas Hall Evening of Southern Methodist Game.

An added incentive for A and M students to go to Dallas on the corps trip this year is the fact that Ben Bernie, the "old maestro," and his lads will play for a dance in the Manufacturers Building at the State Fair grounds the night after the A and M-S M U grid battle at Owenby Oval Saturday, Nov. 10.

Bernie's orchestra is to play for the dance and will also give a recital Sunday afternoon at 4, under the auspices of Hella Shrine Temple, Dallas.

In addition to Bernie and his men, a Dallas orchestra of fourteen pieces, is to start the dance festivities off with preliminaries beginning at 8:30. Bernie is to wave his baton at 9 and play "until."

In addition, the Humdingers, an organization of eight youngsters, eight to fifteen years old, reputed musical marvels, will do some floor show numbers.

Both the dance and the auditorium recital will be open to the public. Tickets may be had in advance through the Hella Shrine office at Dallas.

NEARLY HALF OF TEXAS ESTATES ARE INTANGIBLE

The startling fact, or a fact which may have been startling to many, that nearly half of property of estates in Texas was found to be intangible, was recently revealed by L. P. Gabbard, of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, who has made a study of the probate records from 47 counties.

"Forty-six percent of the property in the State of Texas is intangible and largely escapes the ad valorem tax," Mr. Gabbard reported.

Mr. Gabbard revealed that "probate records were secured on 25,187 estates and that these records truly represent the classification of tangible and intangible property in the state. Ninety-seven percent of

Cline's Orchestra To Furnish Music And Novelties For Dance

The boast of Durward Cline—"Every man an individual entertainer"—is no idle one if advance notices and popular comment can be taken at face values. Cline and his NBC broadcasting orchestra will be given ample opportunity to justify these commendations when it comes to AggieLand and offers its dance rhythms and novelty features to the Arkansas-Aggie dance-goers next Saturday night in the main mess hall.

With engagements at such high spots as the Frolics Club, Miami, Florida, The Palms, Wichita, Kansas, and the exclusive Broadmoor Club in Denver, Colorado, to its credit, the musical aggregation is

Dance Will Be Held Following Pageant

Show Designed to Depict Historical Development of Texas; Expected to be Colorful Entertainment.

The annual A and M rodeo to be presented by the Saddle and Sirlin Club Friday night, will be marked by the advent of a new feature, the pageant entitled "The Court of the Lone Star," with D. L. Boothe of Sweetwater and Miss Josephine Dunn of College Station presiding as king and queen of the court. Miss Dorothy Hedges is to be the maid of honor and Ed L. Mears of Menard will be her escort.

The pageant, which is under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Orth of College Station, is designed to show the history of the Lone Star State from the time of the Indians through its development into the empire of today. This is the initial presentation of the pageant, and it is expected to be both colorful and entertaining.

According to an announcement made Sunday by L. C. Traylor, Mount Pleasant, social secretary of the rodeo, girls from several neighboring colleges, Bryan, College Station, and vicinity, together with escorts chosen from the A and M student body, are to take part in the pageant. Those girls taking

NATIONAL CHIT-CHAT by George Wonnacott

Fighting crime costs Uncle Sam around $12,000,000,000 annually. A Federal drive to curtail crime is now being executed with unusual vigor. By looking back over some of the accomplishments of the federal agents one is pleasantly surprised to find out that there has been a particularly successful endeavor. For instance, the kidnapping cases and they above all are extremely difficult because of the lack of cooperation on the part of the families involved, fearing as they do that some harm may befall the victim.

Nearly four hundred years ago it will be recalled that Martin Luther greatly disturbed the powers in Germany by his doctrines. Now his name is being linked again with the power in Germany—Hitler. They are protesting against pressure which is being brought to bear politically on the churches in Germany. The "protestation" was delivered from a Lutheran assembly in America this time. Another case of history repeating itself?

Around twenty-five books are published daily in New York City. These almost entirely assume the aspect of fiction, and in nearly every case by recognized authors. Rather discouraging for the aspiring writer one would think.

Uncle Sam and Johnny Bull are joining hands to combat Japan in an oil issue.

That nearly happened a short time ago without the oil.

Two steamers have docked in New York after racing from the far-east with a cargo of dates. It seems that there has been a shortage of dates in America for the past several months and a bonus was offered to the first arrival with a fresh supply. Two good reasons why the captains of the respective boats should race—they both had dates with which went a bonus.
