

ARKANSAS PLAYERS PRAISE AGGIES

"The Aggies are the toughest bunch of players we have run into this season," a member of the Razorback team told Coach Norton Sunday. A number of the Arkansas players said they were hit harder Saturday and were nearer to being off their feet when the game was over than in any game they had played in this season. Such a compliment speaks doubly well when you remember that Saturday was the nearest ideal football weather that has been had this season. Too, the Razorbacks are a senior club, and they are capable of commenting on tough ball clubs.

Fans were remarking about the improvement of the club over the last appearance at Kyle Field. That fighting spirit that has so long characterized Aggie teams was all the talk as the crowd left the stands Saturday. Lloyd Gregory, Post Sports Editor, remarked in the press box that it could hardly be recognized as the same team that played against T. C. U. two weeks ago.

NORTON TO WORK ON OFFENSE

Although he is not satisfied Coach Norton is pleased with the improvement of the Aggie defenses. More time will be spent on the improvement of the offense as the coaches swing into a week of intensive training workouts. Blocking and more blocking will be done before the team packs up for a trip to Dallas.

Of course, the defense will not be neglected because the Methodists have "the best passing team in the conference, and a good running attack. Bob Wilson, half back, is the conference's leading scorer and can throw passes better than Joe Jack Pearce of Baylor.

Bill Couser, who has been in the Aggie offense most of the season will be in good shape to start the game Saturday. "Muggins" Fowler, whose passing was a major feature in the game Saturday, will be ready for action. The hustling Jack Stringfellow, who made a beautiful run after receiving Fowler's pass put the Aggies in scoring position. Jack saved the day in the last quarter when he batted down an Arkansas pass that would have been good for a touchdown. It was a spectacular play. Pitner, Thompson, Cummings, and Kimbrough will all be available for the ponies.

HUBBARD'S LINE SHOWS MARKED IMPROVEMENT

That old Aggie line coached by Cal Hubbard is looking better every game. The ends, who were a serious problem at first, are beginning to look like seasoned players. The injury of Bob Conolly will hurt this situation considerably. He was going down on the punts, and getting his tackle before the safety man could get started. Bob was making a desperate try for a pass when he fell and hurt his shoulder. How long he will be out is not yet known.

MARKED IMPROVEMENT

The tackles were charging hard and battling all the way. The line was out-hustling the Arkansas line to recover all the Arkansas fumbles. John Crow, the hard working guard, got some good tackles. The line backing of Charley DeWare was good, and improvement over last week was very noticeable. The Razorbacks' line was tough, and it was a real fight down on that line of scrimmage when those two teams hit.

PLAYERS INTEREST OUTSTANDING

The improved team spirit was noticeable to everyone, and it is largely due to such a spirit that the team has kept on fighting although the score has been in favor of the opponents. For the third time this year the Aggies came from behind either to tie the score or to win. The Aggies came from behind in the game with A and I to tie them 14 to 14. Over at Baylor September 29 the Aggies came from behind in the last quarter to beat the Bruins 10 to 7. Here last Saturday the Farmers never quit fighting, even when Arkansas held a touchdown lead since the second quarter, and in the last 5 minutes to play they were rewarded when they scored a touchdown to tie the score.

The team looks good in the game, because they are looking better and showing a greater interest and spirit in practice. Instead of coming out to practice like it was a few hours of drudgery they are liking it. Too much cannot be said for those who come out all the time and cannot play. These players keep those who are on the team hustling for their places because in order to get a chance to play the individual must "put out."

Coach Norton is well pleased with the spirit of the student body. "We cannot ask for better cooperation than the student body has given us. I just want the student body's attitude," he said.

Here are my guesses for this week:

- AGGIES 10, S M U 7.
- Texas 13, Baylor 7.
- Rice 17, Arkansas 13.
- T C U 0, Loyola 6.

REMINISCENCES OF AGGIE ATHLETES

Domingue

Clifford "Frenchy" Domingue came to A and M in 1930 after starring on the Port Arthur Yellow Jacket eleven that went to the finals in the State. He was All-State quarter back his senior year in high school.

He made a numeral on the fish football team in 1930, and played basketball and baseball. In his first year of varsity competition he was a star. His first inter-sectional recognition came when the Aggies went to New Orleans for a game with the Tulane Green Wave. Although the team went down in defeat, Domingue was a star. He hit openings in the Wave for consistent gains. On to Shreveport and the Flying Frenchman started again. In the first conference game at home he showed up well before an Aggie crowd by reeling off gain after gain over the Owls.

Then came the Texas U game, a team he always looked good against. The Aggies were rated the underdogs and for a time were trailing the Steers 6 to 0, until the crafty little Domingue stepped over the Texas goal line for a touchdown, then kicked the extra point to win the game 7 to 6.

Domingue was on the basketball and baseball squads his sophomore year.

Frenchy started his junior year off with a flash by again starring in another tussle with the Green Wave. From his performance in that game, and the game the year before, Don Zimmerman, All-American end, who played havoc with the Aggies every year paid the versatile Aggie back a high tribute. He said that Domingue had one fault and that was consistently stepping to the right, but knowing that weakness he was the hardest man to stop that he had ever played against.

When the Aggies played S M U in 1932 it was a scoreless tie. Domingue stopped three Posy runners that had eluded Aggie secondaries. He was one of the best defensive safeties in the conference.

The Port Arthur lad saw little service last year due to injuries. He got off to a good start in the game with Tulane at New Orleans, but was in the game very little until the Thanksgiving game with the Steers. Injuries kept him from starting this game but he soon got his call. The Aggies possessed the ball on the Texas 40 yard line when he entered the game. Frenchy handled the ball in every play un-

Ponies Will Have Experienced Men To Put On Field

Improved Aggie Defense To Make Scoring Difficult For Red and Blue

When that group of Fighting Farmers, coached by Homer H. Norton and Cal Hubbard, dashes out on the SMU gridiron at Dallas Saturday afternoon, November 10, they will be facing the hardest conference competition they have experienced this season. There is a raft of experienced material at SMU this season with Ray Morrison, All-American passing coach directing the backfield, and Matty Bell, head coach here last year, who has a great record as a defensive coach, tutoring the line.

The Ponies humiliated the Fordham Rams in New York two weeks ago, and did their damage more on running plays than on their more famous aerial attack. They tied Texas at Austin last Saturday, and there the only touchdown was made on a run, with their passing not so effective. Yet on the other hand, at Rice, in the first conference game of the season, the Mustangs were forced to make all their gains from the air as their running attack was completely stopped by the Rice Owls.

The defense of the Aggies has been improving and the Ponies are not likely to do much scoring against the Cadets. The line is faster and hustling every minute of the game. The ends are rushing down on the punts, and downing the runners before they have returned the ball any considerable distance. The tackling is improving with every game. In the game against the Razorbacks the tacklers were coming in hard and two til he camed over the goal for a touchdown; then he kicked the extra point. With a lame knee he continued to play, but after being tackled repeatedly by over-anxious Longhorns he was forced out of the game in a most lamentable ending of his career. If the Flying Frenchman could have remained in the game it would likely have made a difference between victory and a tie.

Domingue played third base for the Texas Company baseball team in Port Arthur this summer.

MARATHONERS WILL COMPETE AT TEXAS IN DUAL MEETING

Coach Frank Anderson, and eight members of his cross country track team will go to Austin Friday, November 9, to run the University of Texas barriers in a dual meet there. The track team this year is composed entirely of inexperienced material, all being sophomores except captain Langley.

The Steers have back three of their first five men to finish in the conference meet last year. George Wilson, who won first in the conference meet last year, and who came out first two weeks ago in a dual meet with the Rice Owls, will be the favored runner of the race.

Future of Boxing May Be Decided By Powell's Maulers

By Champ Smith
The future of boxing at A and or three men were making every tackle instead of leaving the job for one man.

M may be decided by the men trained by Willie Powell, former Southern Conference champ, and instructor in boxing here. Out of two score of prospects that reported some two weeks ago six of these men have shown unusual ability and will, for the present, be the nucleus of the boxing team.

Granger Rough Cut

"Why—I don't believe I have used a pipe cleaner in three or four weeks

In the manufacture of Granger Rough Cut Pipe Tobacco the Wellman Process is used.

The Wellman Process is different from any other process or method and we believe it gives more enjoyment to pipe smokers.

- ... it gives the tobacco an extra flavor and aroma
- ... it makes the tobacco act right in a pipe—burn slower and smoke cooler
- ... it makes the tobacco milder
- ... it leaves a clean dry ash—no soggy residue or beel in the pipe bowl
