

Simmons Addresses Freshmen Sunday in Prison System Talk

Lee Simmons, Superintendent of the Prison System of Texas, delivered an address based on his work, to the freshman class in the mess hall Sunday morning. He was introduced by M. L. Cashion, secretary of the College Y M C A.

Simmons is a graduate of Texas University. He has been doing his present work for some twenty years.

In his speech Sunday he stated, "Over 3000 men enter state prisons in Texas each year and as many leave. Ninety per cent of these are in prison because they are afraid of work. Citizens must learn that they may only live by the 'sweat of their brow' and obedience to constitutional authority."

"The home, the state, and the church are three agencies for the building of citizenship. When a citizen fails to respond to these agencies, he is sent to our 'school'. It is our duty to show them that they can, and must, work honestly to get by in life."

Little Theatre Club Produces Two Plays

Booth Tarkington's one act farce, "The Trysting Place," and one act of the ancient Greek drama, "Agamemnon," by Aeschylus, were presented by the A and M little theatre club at its meeting Thursday night in the Asbury room of the library.

The first play, "The Trysting Place," dealt with the mix-up which occurred when three different couples, all anxious to avoid discovery, used the same spot as a meeting place. The play featured amusing dialogue, clever characters, and farcical situations. The cast included Mrs. A. R. Emery, R. E. Erisman, Miss Anabelle Barnes, Miss Dorothy Doane, Harold Bray, W. S. McCulley, and Frank Shipman. Mr. McCulley directed the production.

The "Agamemnon" was an entirely different type of play. A sombre tragedy, it showed the victorious return of the Greek king Agamemnon (R. L. Murray) from the siege of Troy, and his death at the hands of his wife Clytemnestra (Mrs. I. G. Adams). The greater part of the play consisted of a dialogue between Cassandra (Mrs. Elizabeth Cook), a captive Trojan princess and prophetess, and an elder of the city (C. L. Coleman). Cassandra prophesied the death of Agamemnon, and the remainder of the play carried out the fulfillment of her prophecy.

Glee Club Considers Houston Engagement

Plans for a trip to Houston are being formulated by the Glee club, L. D. Cox, Houston, business manager, stated Sunday night. With a few more practice meetings of the club Cox said that more definite arrangements would be made as to the date of the trip.

Cox added that other trips for the year included Galveston, Beaumont, San Antonio, Huntsville, Caldwell, and several to Bryan. Most of these trips will be made to high schools and churches and a set program is to be followed in each presentation.

This year's work will be devoted mainly to popular music although different arrangement of classical and semi-classical pieces are to be presented from time to time. Cox added that there were only forty-five active members at the present time, but that he hoped to have a much larger and more representative group before the club started its spring tour.

"Dad" Elliott

Pictured here is A. J. ("Dad") Elliott, affectionally known to thousands of college students as a broadminded lecturer on campus religious problems. He will be at A and M Sunday, November 18, to begin a week of active service among the members of the Corps.

AGGIE FISHES TO PLAY RICE HERE FRIDAY

"Lip Owls" Are Considered Strongest Freshman Team in Texas

With the hardest game of the season only two days away, Coach Roswell Higginbotham has been drilling his Aggie freshmen at full speed for the game Friday at Kyle Field against the Rice Freshmen.

The Aggie Fish have no certain individual star, but are believed a well balanced, well drilled unit that will give the Rice Slimes probably more than they are expecting when they come here Friday.

Among the outstanding men on the fish team that will likely see action Friday are: Horne, Young, Moore, Drennan, Edwards, Brodenbaum, Blunt, Wilson, Cook, Cox, Lindsey, Elmendorf, Church, Smith, Morrow, Fletcher, Puryear, Nance, Stagner, Seago, Hallmark, Hill, Shockley, Schrader, Powell, Potthast, Duncan, Jones, Vitok, Pearson, Boyd, Jockson, Williams, Nestera, and Mills. Mills is a brother of the one who starred for the Aggies a few years ago.

Criminology Subject of Address by Dr. Russell

The Industrial Arts Club met at 7:30 Sunday night in the Agricultural building and was addressed by Dr. A. M. Russell, Professor of Sociology, upon criminology and its bearing upon the study of sociology. The address was based upon Dr. Russell's studies in the larger cities and especially upon conditions in Chicago as Dr. Russell found them this past summer.

The address by Dr. Russell was one of a series which the officers of the club have arranged and will be presented every two weeks.

SCHOOL SCOOPS

There is an inscription on the bulletin board outside a church on the Northwestern University Campus which says, "do you know what hell is?" Underneath is written in small print, "come in and hear our organist."

Olivet College, Olivet, Mich. has innovated a new system of studying that would be well received by a lot of students at other colleges. Under the new system the student will be allowed to pursue his studies in any way that he sees fit, under the guidance of a faculty tutor. The classes will be merely group discussions of current topics at which papers will be read and the topics discussed in a very informal way. In fact some of the classes are so informal that the students smoke in class. Sports and various kinds of athletic events will constitute the program.

Compulsory military drill, for many years a thorn in the side of students at the University of Minnesota, has been abandoned mainly through the efforts of the daily college newspaper, is has been said.

The paper waged a long fight against the regulation and in spite of tremendous administration opposition, finally succeeded in bringing enough pressure to bear on the board of regents to cause it to take decisive action in the matter. It is said on the campus that the victory of this long drawn out fight is a feather in the cap of college journalism.

No freshman caps will be worn at the University of Utah this year. They cost too much and the second year students can't force the Frosh to wear them. There must be considerably more freshmen than sophomores at Utah.

The staff of the Spectator, Mississippi State College for Women, goes back into the files of the college humor paper dated March 22, 1924 to dig this one up: "Dr. Bailey had been giving the Schik test to girls in her classes when she received a note from one of the pupil's parents: 'Me and my wife have both read "The Sheik" and we don't thing the test would be good for Mary. Please excuse her.'

Iowa State students voted that dancing ability is the prime requisite of a date, male or female, with money running a close second. If you are broke and can't dance you may as well go shoot yourself as far as dates are concerned.

WHEN YOUR MIND IS TIRED—

GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

JAMES S. MacVICKAR '35—PSYCHOLOGY.
He says: "I think there's a great field for psychology—so I try to hit the books for all I'm worth. When I'm listless or 'low,' smoking a Camel gives me a quick upturn in energy. Physical and mental fatigue drop away! The enjoyment one gets from Camel's fine flavor is an important psychological factor in sustaining poise."

How to get back vim and energy when "played out": Thousands of smokers can verify from their own experience the popular suggestion "get a lift with a Camel." When tired, Camels will make you feel refreshed—as good as new. And science adds confirmation of this "energizing effect." Camels aren't flat or "sweetish," either. You can smoke Camels steadily. Their finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS never get on the nerves!

LEAF-TOBACCO EXPERTS AGREE:
"Camels are made from finer, More Expensive Tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

MOUNTAIN CLIMBER. Miss Georgia Engelhard says: "Plenty of times I have thought 'I can't go another step.' Then I call a halt and smoke a Camel. It has been proved true over and over that a Camel picks me up in just a few minutes and gives me the energy to push on."

PRO FOOTBALL ACE. "CH" Montgomery of the Brooklyn Dodgers says: "After a tiring game, or any time when I feel like it, I light up a Camel and get a swell 'lift'—soon feel 100% again. I am seldom without a Camel—they don't interfere with healthy nerves."
