

We find this picture in our files. Times are certainly changing.

"I can understand," said one of our bright astronomical students, "How they find new planets, but what I can't understand is how they know their names."

A grinning red-cap at railroad terminal, submitting to two cuts in salary, recently took a third.

"It's all right, he agreed, "just so they don't start charging me admission."

"How many fish was it that you said you caught Saturday, Ernest?"

"There were six of them, dear. Don't you remember?"

"Yes, that was what I thought you said, but that fish market has made a mistake again. They've charged us for eight."

In a recent newsreel appeared a picture of the king and queen of Italy being applauded by the populace. Then the announcer said: "And here is Il Duce."

Behind us, some cud-chewing farmer drawled: "Wall, I'll be damned ef he ain't the spittin' image of Mussolini."

American: (In English restaurant to waitress)
"What have you today?"

Waitress: "We have roast beef, rabbit, rutabagas, rice and Spanish Bread."

American: "You certainly roll your r's."

Waitress: "Maybe its these high heels I'm wearing."
