Sports Writers Stay on Safe
 Side by Rating Aggies Third Best

BY E. C. (JEEP) OATES,
 Battalion Sports Editor

These "dumb sports writers" continue to pick the Aggies to finish in third place, but they are all trying to play on the safe side. When they say the Cadets will finish third they also say that little word "if" and then continue something like this: "If the Aggies get good guard play and if they can fill the tackle position left by Roy Young, they may be the champions in December."

The guard holes are filled, maybe not so strong as last year when they had the best pair of guards in the United States, according to Norman-Sper, by Bill Minnock and Marshall Robnett who say that they are good and then set out to prove it to you. Both are willing to learn and work hard and will be rated as a great guard combination before the season is over.

Joe Boyd, the blonde man-mountain, is a fixture at one tackle and

Liberty Magazine Scribe
 Watches Aggie Gridsters

Norman Sper, the nationally known scribe who picks the "All-Player's All-America" teams for Liberty magazine, spent Wednesday on the Aggie campus, where he looked the Maroon and White gridsters over.

The writer calls the Aggies the "asleep" team of the Southwest Conference. He said, "While all the Southwest teams are concentrating their forces for the T. C. U. or Rice games, the Aggies may come along and play havoc with the string of them."

Tonight at 9:15 o'clock Sper will be on the radio and will comment on his tour of the Southwest Conference. The program will be heard over station KAO, Denver, Colo.

Two columns a week are written by Sper. They appear in 42 newspapers of the country and the Houston Post and Chronicle are included in this number.

He was warm in his praise of A. & M. College after he had looked over the campus and the livestock. He said that the Aggies have one of the nicest indoor swimming pools in the United States.

The Aggies are the third strongest team in the conference but have as good a chance to win as the two teams, Rice and T. C. U., which are rated stronger, according to the commentator.

INTRAMURAL MANAGERS TO HAVE BANQUET

BY "CHICK" DENNY

News has at last broken for this column. "Mr. Penny" has announced his beginning banquet, at which place he wants all the upperclass managers to meet him. The grub will be put on in the banquet room of the mess hall Monday at 6:30.

At this first meeting of the year for the Intramural managers, "Penny" will discuss his entire program of sports and new changes in rules. It is very important that all organizations be represented at this meeting, not only the dormitory organizations, but those consisting of day students as well.

In the meantime a good thing for you managers to be doing is to be explaining this program to your freshmen. As you already know they are going into something that is altogether new to them and if you can make things clear to them before the season starts, it will be to your organization's advantage and to their's. A few hints as to what I mean is teaching them the fundamental rules of the sports that are to come up in October, namely basketball and touch football. Getting their teams lined up and a few minutes practice each afternoon wouldn't hurt them either.

Another thing that could stand a little bleeding in this business of forfeiting intramural games. Last year there were quite a few games forfeited not only by day student organizations, but by dormitory organizations as well. Lets see if we can't make this year's percentage lower than ever. We all know how the day students stand on this situation, but all of them have promised their best efforts.

The punting is getting better with each practice session. Kimbrough, Conatser, Pugh, Todd, Thomason, Force, Price, and Jeffrey are sending the ball from one end of the field to the other.

It is the time of year when sports writers start picking the winners of these football games. Well, here goes our guess for this week.

 Baylor 19, Southwestern 7.

 Rice does not open its season until a week later.
