McCarthy, Bergen at Palace;
Tom Sawyer Featured at College

By PAUL KETELSON,
Battalion Movie Editor

Hollywood received a lesson in ethics last week from the hands of Joe Yule. Better known to the Hollywoodites as the father of young Mickey Rooney, it seems that Joe was approached with a contract calling for five hundred bucks a week. Joe refused the contract and further stated that just because his son was famous was no reason for him to capitalize. He also gave notice that if the theater manager where he is working did not quit billing him as the father of Mickey Rooney, he would sue.

Palace. Sat. Preview, Sun. and Mon. "Letter of Introduction", Charlie McCarthy, Edgar Bergen, Adolph Menjou and Andra Leeds.

This picture, while not the best in plot is thoroughly ace high in dramatic acting. Your interest will be held throughout the picture because of the fine performance turned in by the whole cast.

Edgar Bergen, introduces a new character to the movie goers, in the form of another termite roost. He is very unsophisticated and hay falls from all corners. Charlie is disgusted with the turn of fortune and immediately tells Bergen about it.

Assembly Hall Saturday.

"Tom Sawyer". Most of you, at least I know I have, seen this same picture before. The only difference being that the actors are not the same, and consequently the picture will hold a new interest for you. I was not impressed by the picture and could have used the time for other purposes. But in case you are free Saturday night, you might find it interesting enough.

Tuesday and We. Assembly Hall. "Robin Hood". I cannot find the space nor the time to write this review as it should be written. This picture is by all means the best picture that the Assembly Hall has offered since my enrollment at A. & M. The daring feats of the story book hero make you actually believe there was such a person. Errol

NEW BUILDING PROGRAM SOON TO GET UNDER WAY

Actual construction of the new college buildings will be started in approximately three weeks, according to Ike Ashburn. Contrary to the rumor that has received some circulation—that is, that some 3800 students were to be given part-time employment in this construction—a much smaller number can be used. However, some few will likely be employed.

In a short time quite a gang of laborers—not workers on relief, as some reports have it—will start arriving, to make their headquarters here for some time thereafter—as long as the erection of the buildings will require.

Colonel Ashburn further states that present indications are that the hoped-for loan and grant of $4,456,000 from the PWA will not be given. This means that the hotel and auditorium, long desired and much needed additions to the college, will likely not materialize. However, the twelve new dormitories and the dining hall will in all events be erected; the work on them, as stated above, will soon begin.

Traffic Education Taught by Former Highway Patrolman

Vernon Engberg of the State Highway Patrol has been employed by the State Board of Vocational Education as an itinerant instructor of traffic education. Engberg is a graduate of the University of Texas, has worked three years with the Texas State Highway Patrol, served as State Field Representative for the Texas Motor Transportation (the State Trade Association for the Trucking Industry) doing membership, public relations, and safety education work. He served as technical advisor to the Rio Grande Valley Safety Council.

Mr. Engberg took a course in training accident investigators in Accident Prevention Bureaus offered by the National Institute of

IMPOSSIBLE FOR O'DANIEL TO ATTEND GAME

In a telephone call to Texas Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel's office in Fort Worth, Col. Ike Ashburn, executive assistant to President Walton, Monday, learned that Mr. O'Daniel will be unable to attend the football game between A. & M. and T.C.U. at College Station Oct. 15. That day is "O'Daniel Day" in Dallas, and Mr. O'Daniel must be present there.

The A. & M. Saddle and Sirolo Club, which had at first planned to hold its annual rodeo the night of October 14, inviting Miss Molly O'Daniel, winsome daughter of the Governor-Elect, to preside as queen of the rodeo, has now changed the date of the event. The club has decided to hold the rodeo the night before the football game with Arkansas October 28. It is probable that Miss O'Daniel, possibly with her brothers and parents, will be able to attend the rodeo on this latter date and preside as its queen.

Traffic Safety Training at the summer.

University of Michigan this past The courses to be offered for traffic officers are based largely on materials prepared by the Safety Division of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Lt. Franklin M. Kreml of the Evanston, Illinois, Police Department, is director of this safety division.

Mr. Engberg is working with E. L. Williams, head of the Department of Industrial Education this week and is planning his courses of study and instructional material to meet the needs of various groups of peace officers and commercial drivers. He will spend next week studying the traffic program in Dallas and beginning October 3 he will start classes at Wichita Falls. A year ago last spring Professor Williams conducted conferences for the police officers in Wichita Falls, the outgrowth of which was a planned training program, and Mr. Engberg is now to carry out that program.

Fencing Club Meets

At the first meeting of the fencing club, president Alvin Goodstein presided, and new officers were elected. Leo A. Levin, sophomore, was elected publicity director. Thomas Ackerman, outstanding senior fencer, was elected corresponding secretary.

The following old members of the club are eligible for the varsity team—Goodstein, Ackerman, Romminger, Deard, Benson, Everett, Gay, Hise, Levin, Routon, and Hutchins. Ackerman showed up well at the mid-atlantic meet last summer.

This year's freshman team is unusually strong. New members, with conference experience who will be eligible for the freshman team are Clemmons, Bentleye, Swaggart, and Franks.

A girl's fencing team will also be put on the mat this year. According to Publicity Director Levin, the outlook for the coming season is exceptionally good.
