

Aggies Have Held Edge in Past Frog Tilts

Toads Tops In Records Since Joining Loop

Points have been hard to get for the loser in the T. C. U.-A. & M. football series throughout the years.

In 17 of 31 games that have been played, the losing team has failed to score a point. And, on top of this, two of four tie games have been scoreless for both sides.

The rivalry dates back to 1897. The two schools have met 31 times in that time. Seventeen times the Aggies have come out on the long end of the score. Ten times the Horned Frogs have been victorious. Four games have been ties, including the 1937 contest which wound up 7 to 7.

In the early days of the rivalry, the Aggies had all the better of it, but since T. C. U. became a member of the Southwest Conference (1923), there have been nine Frog victories, two Aggie wins and three ties.

Matty Bell was head coach at T. C. U. when the Frogs began to show their power. His eleven hung up two victories and two ties against Dana X. Bible, then head man at A. & M.

Francis Schmidt came to T. C. U. in 1929 and ran up a string of five victories against Bell, who had transferred to College Station.

Coch Dutch Meyer, in his four years at the helm there, has won two, lost one and tied one with Homer Norton, now directing affairs for the Aggies.

The all-time records between the two schools:

BASEBALL BEGINS DOWNWARD FALL

BY TOM DARROW

Now that the Gotham Yankees have just annexed their third straight World Series with four straight wins over the Cubs, it's time the heads of the baseball world get together and settle a few serious defects in the present situation. For the good of the grand old game, the New York ball club should be broken up, and a little competition injected into the game.

As things stand now, it's only a question of second place in the American League, for there is not a team in the League which can even threaten the Yankees. They have a death grip on their League as well as the National League champions. Only in the older National League will any real flag chase be found—they had four clubs fighting it out for first place this year and only in the closing days of the race was the winner decided.

The National League makes a good deal more money than does its junior, the American. The answer is easy. There is more excitement in the National and fans really get their money's worth, while it's all a cut and dried affair in the American League.

The Yankees are a great team, but if they continue their present reign they are very likely to ruin their league, and maybe both. Folks don't like to see one team dominate a game as the New York team has done, and seems likely to keep on doing. Fans want thrills, chills and above all, a close, hotly contested flag chase. They don't get it in the American League.

Since the game is played merely because people will pay to see a good sporting event, it's easy to see that they won't keep on in the American Circuit, unless they are given a little more for their money. Apparently, money means nothing to the New York club, and it is understandable, when one knows that Jake Rupert, Yankee owner, has one of the largest brewing establishments in the east. They don't trade because they don't have to, and they can out-bid other clubs because they have money to burn—Jake's money.

As if all this weren't enough, the Yankees control two of the best

TOUCH FOOTBALL PROVING O. K. IN AGGIE INTRAMURALS UNDER RULE CHANGES MADE THIS YEAR

BY CHICK DENNY

Touch football is proving a big success this year. All games are being played under the new rules as provided by the National Collegiate Association. These rules make it necessary to use a nine-man team, and make it necessary for more skill to be applied and less of the old haphazard style of play. Second round games have been completed in all leagues and in some leagues, third round games have been played.

The surprising element of play so far has been the close cooperation of the day student outfits. And these teams have shown to possess just as much power as the dormitory organizations. Because a high percentage of the forfeits came from these day students last year, this is what I would term a powerful comeback.

In a meeting of the Intramural managers held last Monday night, W. L. Penberthy announced that the cross-country run for freshmen and upperclassmen would be staged Nov. 19. Freshmen will not be allowed to participate unless they take part in the training course that will be conducted for a period of two weeks before the meet.

Longhorns Give Woes to Dana X.

The Texas Longhorns are preparing to start another Southwest conference race in which the experts figure they are destined to run last for the fourth straight season. The Arkansas Razorbacks will be their first opponents, as they were in '37, but the scene this time will be the high school stadium at Little Rock, Ark., instead of Texas Memorial stadium where the Razorbacks flung themselves to a 21-10 triumph last year.

The last time Texas and Arkansas played at Little Rock a championship was at stake—for Arkansas. By winning the game, 6-0, the Porkers captured the 1936 title from Texas Christian.

Coch Dana X. Bible, who lays last week's 0-13 defeat more to Oklahoma's prowess than to Texas' ineptitude, had another basket of tough nuts to crack this week. How, for example, can he teach Gilly Davis, little halfback who is five feet six inches tall, to defend against passes thrown to Arkansas' Freiberg, is merely six-eight?

Or how can he adjust the Texas running attack, which netted 14 yards against Oklahoma, so it will function against the Arkansas line which last week held Baylor's backs to a net gain of 11 yards?

Or what can he do to assure a satisfactory pass defense against Arkansas, the "passingest team in the nation," when said defense leaked visibly in the Kansas, Louisiana State and Oklahoma games?

These are merely a few of the problems that would make Bible gray-headed this week, if Nature had not already precluded that possibility.

"The best all-around end I know." This is Coach Dutch Meyer's tribute to Walter Roach, captain of the Horned Frog eleven of 1936 and now serving his second year as freshman coach.

Roach entered T. C. U. after starring at Poly High, Fort Worth. He earned eight varsity letters during his three years of conference competition—three in football, three in basketball and two in baseball.

INTRAMURAL RESULTS

Four games of Fish basketball have been completed and turned out to be good despite a lack of conditioning on part of the players. "B" Coast licked Infantry Band 18 to 8. "A" Infantry held "D" Engineers to one free throw and beat them, 10 to 1. "E" Field emerged with a 16 to 11 victory over B Infantry. "C" Infantry helped to square things with the Artillery group, for their brothers in blue, by beating "F" Field Artillery, 20 to 8.

minor league teams in the land—Newark and San Francisco. What chance have other ball clubs got? Very little from all accounts, for didn't the Yankeys just whip the Cubs four straight in the World Series, and not a close game in the four? While the New Deal is out trust-busting, they might investigate the Yankeys, who seem to have a monopoly on good ball players.

This is really a serious problem in the sporting world, and one which should be solved right now before the whole game suffers a setback from the hands of the New York Yankeys.

lower to participate unless they take part in the training course that will be conducted for a period of two weeks before the meet. Any upperclassman who desires to take advantage of this opportunity may do so.

The swimming meet for both classes will be held two weeks after Thanksgiving. It might be well to advise some fellows that care to enter these meets that now is the time to start your training.

One good suggestion to the Fish a little less bleeding at the referees who are conducting the games would be appreciated, and remember that they are Aggies too, and should be met as well as any one else.

The T. C. U. special train to Philadelphia for the Frog-Temple game was quite an event for some of the Christian gridders. Ennis Kerlee, big soph tackle, for instance, had never been out of Texas before the jaunt to Philly.

Pigeons Become Air Transport For Game Pictures

Something new for Southwest Conference games at Kyle Field will be tried next Saturday during the Texas Aggie-Texas Christian Horned Frog game, when carrier pigeons will be released from time to time by news photographers of the San Antonio Express from the sidelines. Each bird, as it leaves, will carry photographic negatives of the game action back to the office of the newspaper office in San Antonio so that the readers may have a view of Saturday's big game.

News photographers who have already been issued sideline passes include some of the most famous in America. All have made arrangements to get their pictures to their offices by plane or fast courier so as to be in Sunday's papers. Some may even reach the towns in time to appear in late editions of the evening papers.

Aggies, Owls, Bears, Hogs, To Win for the "Jeep"

Some smart freshman from Ft. Worth asked this writer a few days ago if the Frogs didn't have a jinx on the Aggies. The so-called jinx that has been heard of was buried two years ago when the Cadets ploughed the Frogs, with Sammy Baugh, under by a score of 18 to 7. That year the Frogs were the favored team. They had Sammy Baugh who was a senior and an All-American, but that did not phase the "fightin' Aggies".

This year we have another chapter of the book called T. C. U. vs A. & M. The Aggies are not the favored team and neither are the Frogs. Their game tomorrow should be the classic of the year. Both teams are in excellent shape. T. C. U. will be under pressure because they are fighting for the national championship and have not lost a game.

Here are our guesses:
A. & M. 13—T. C. U. 7
Rice 13—Tulane 0
Baylor 10—Centenary 7
Arkansas 14—Texas 6

The Aggie Knot-Hole Gang is expected to fill at least three and possibly four sections of the Kyle Field stands for the Aggie-Frog game. High school football coaches from as far as Ennis have written in for membership cards for their squads. To date, there have been ten high school grid teams to accept the offer. This Knot-Hole idea is good and will do its bit to advertise the school to high school kids.

Reveille, the grand little black dog that is our mascot, may be making her last appearance at an Aggie-Frog game this week. "Rev" has been here for eight years and has always been one of the leading supporters of athletics.

Francis Wallace, the author of "Pigskin Parade", has wired that it will be impossible for him to attend the Frog killing.

Dean Kyle has started an Athletic Advisory Council which is composed of representative students of the campus and one member is from the football team. It is this

T. C. U.'s Busy Little Man

O'BRIEN KICKS

O'BRIEN PASSES

The smallest man on the Texas Christian University squad, yet the "sparkplug" of the team—that's David O'Brien, 150-pound senior quarterback from Dallas. All Dave did during the 1937 campaign was carry the ball on 209 of 375 plays run from scrimmage; throw 236 of 244 passes; and make 79 of 103 punts. With an improved Frog backfield, O'Brien won't carry so much of the load this year, but he still is the outstanding triple-threat for the Christians, passing, running and kicking.

Swimming Club Meets

The A. & M. Swimming Club held its first meetings of the year Tuesday. Arthur Adamson, team coach, presided.

A committee headed by N. Zelman, was appointed to make arrangements for a benefit show to be given soon. The proceeds of this show will go toward the presenting of the annual water carnival in the spring.

According to Mr. Adamson, water polo will be stressed more this year than in previous years. It is his plan to have water polo accepted as a Southwestern Conference sport.

The team works out every Sunday afternoon and also on Monday night. Adamson has invited all upperclassmen interested in swimming to start working out immediately with the team.

The T. C. U. personnel: Head Coach Leo R. ("Dutch") Meyer, '22, Line Coach Lester Brumbelow, '30, Freshman Coach Walter Roach, '37, Athletic Director Howard Grubbs, '30, Assistant Athletic Director Mack Clark, '29, and Business Manager L. C. Wright, '10.

PONIES ONLY IDLE TEAM THIS WEEK AS CONFERENCE SETTLES DOWN FOR LONG FALL'S FIGHT

Two league games and two inter-sectional conflicts feature the play of Southwest Conference teams this week. One team, the Southern Methodist Mustangs, are idle.

The two conference melees find the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs journeying down in South Texas to College Station, where they tangle with the rough and tough Texas Aggies in a game which might easily be the deciding factor in the pennant chase.

Last year the two played to a 7 to 7 deadlock before 27,000 fans in Fort Worth.

The other conference game is between Arkansas' Hogs and Dana X. Bible's Texas Longhorns in Little Rock.

It is the writer's opinion that this is a forward move and should bring the athletic department closer to the students.

Well, let's hold that left one and get out on that field and back that Maroon and White ball club tomorrow.

We don't want to see any Aggie high hikers on the road Saturday. A guy that has money to leave on certainly has enough to stay here and see a ball game with. If you are going to leave, pull off that uniform and don't disgrace the Aggies.

the Rock. This battle might be the tussle that decides the conference collar for the 1938 season as both the Hogs and the Steers have been awarded the booby prize in the pre-season dope books by most experts.

Arkansas won over Texas last year, 21 to 10.

The inter-sectional games see Rice's Owls against Tulane's Green Wave in New Orleans and Baylor's Golden Bears in what should be an interesting go against the Gentlemen of Centenary in Waco.

The Owl's game with the Tulane eleven will be the last chance the other conference teams will have to see the Feathered Flock in action before it starts its war against them. Rice opens its race for the flag Oct. 22 against Texas.

Baylor and Centenary appear fairly evenly-matched and should put on a good show at Waco. Last year the Bears had the Gentlemen up a tree to the tune of 29 to 0.

The other conference team, S. M. U., will be taking it easy over the week-end in preparation for probably their hardest game of the season, that with Pittsburgh's powerful Panthers.
