

Aggie Power to Meet Arkansas Passing Saturday

SOUTHWEST TEAMS RUN TRUE TO FORM FOR LATEST WEEKEND'S GRIDIRON WARS

BY "CUEBALL"

Southwest conference teams behaved this weekend. Every game—except the Baylor-A. & M. fracas—followed the dope. Slated to win by most observers were:

T. C. U. over Marquette.
Rice over Texas.
Santa Clara over Arkansas.
Pittsburg over S. M. U.

And that's just what happened.

O'BRIEN PACES TOADS

T. C. U.—possibly the greatest team in the nation—had no trouble at Milwaukee Saturday with the Marquette team which defeated S. M. U. 7 to 0 last week. The score was 21 to 0 for the Christians, but the markers didn't represent the ultimate power of "Dutch" Meyer's aggregation by any means.

After Davey O'Brien had passed the Christians up to the Marquette goal line twice, running it over once himself and passing to Hall the second time, the Toads calmed down until the final period when they again scored on an O'Brien pass. All points after touchdown were kicked by O'Brien.

ARKANSAS IS BRONCO VICTIM

Football-basketball players from the University of Arkansas found themselves unable to meet the ground and aerial thrusts of Santa Clara's Broncos at San Francisco Saturday and fell by a 21 to 6 score.

Martin ran left end and lateraled to Atwood in the second quarter for the only Hog tally. Santa Clara's score came from a pass from Clark to Anahu to Schiechl in the first, a pass by Razorback Lyons intercepted by Bronco Roche in the second, and a run by Clark in the last period.

PITTSBURG TRAMPLES PONIES

Pittsburg went in for Southern Methodist's own kind of football at Pittsburg Saturday to down the Ponies 34 to 7.

S. M. U.'s score came on a 50-yard around end play by Billy Dewell. Pitt tallied twice on passes, from Stebbins to Chickerno in the first and from Cassiano to Hoffman in the third. The other three came on runs by Cassiano, scoring twice, and Kish.

Aggie Eleven Literally Buries Bears Saturday

BY "JEEP"

A great, slashing, tearing Aggie eleven did everything but literally bury the Baylor Bears in Waco Saturday, but only received a 6 to 6 tie for their brilliant play. A. & M., led by the great Dick Todd and "Boomer" Kimbrough, drove their way down to the Bear goal line, only to be thrown back by the desperate Bruins. The cadets never looked better, and they gave the fans an exhibition of power plays, the like of which has never been seen in this section.

Todd was an All-American, just as he has been all along. The Bears could never tell where he was for he put on a show of running that will be long remembered in Waco. John Kimbrough took up where Todd left off and ran at will through the Baylor line. He also enabled Todd to get away on long runs by putting on some great hard blocking. At times he took two men at a time out of the play. Rogers called one of the greatest games of his career and turned in some fancy stepping.

The entire Aggie line was outstanding. They gave the ball carriers good blocking and held the Baylor running attack to a mere 30 yards.

With the fine game that the Cadets put on, they should have won, but the breaks in a couple of spots, and two desperate stands by the Bears prevented the victory.

FROM DICKINSON COLLEGE

in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, comes a new note in faculty interest in students' extra-curricular activities. Beginning with the fall term all students will be required to participate in faculty-regulated extra-curricular activities in order to fulfill graduation requirements. A committee of faculty members has been working to restrict the over-assertive student and to compel the inactive student to participate in activities over and beyond his studies.

ence game, Rice came through at Houston for its first win, with Dana Bible's Longhorns on the short end of a 13 to 6 score.

The Texans crossed the chalk first in the opening period when Lawson passed to Gray after McDonald recovered a fumble on the Owl 31. Rice recovered a Texas fumble on the Longhorn 25 in the second, and scored on a Lain-to-Cordill heave, leaving the score 6 to 6. With 2.5 minutes left to play, Sullivan dived over after a Rice offensive and Landry's kick was good.

BAYLOR OFFENSIVE PLAYS

The upper picture shows Owens "Slick" Rogers just before he downed Baylorite Boyd who had just received a pass from Billy Patterson. The lower picture shows Rogers about to tackle Boyd on another play, being backed up by Vaughn of the Aggie team.

AGGIE FENCERS OUTCLASS BEARS 9 OF 13 BOUTS

The Aggies stepped off on the right foot Saturday in Waco when their more experienced fencing team outclassed the Baylor Bears 9 out of 13 bouts. Captain Roberts' boys were never pressed for the lead, and really showed that they intend to retain their Southwest championship.

For the Cadets, Everitt, Levine, Baird, and Rominger were outstanding—winning two bouts each. Akarman took the other bout for the Aggies. No Baylor member could capture more than one bout.

In an exhibition match, held after the regular meet, Goodstein, Aggie coach, met Adelman, of the Bear coaching staff in the foils. Goodstein lived up to the standard set by the rest of the team, and came off the court, winner.

Results of the meet:

best combination.

Tommie Vaughn, who was rated as only an ordinary small center on the freshman team last year has won a starting berth and he played sixty minutes of outstanding ball Saturday. Minnock, Boyd, Rogers and Todd were others who played the full game.

George White, the sports editor of the Dallas News, is at last sold on Dick Todd. White could have helped Dick during the last two years if he had not been so thick headed. He is still not sold on Davey O'Brien, who is one of the finest backs in America today. Anyone who does not go to S. M. U. just doesn't rate any of White's publicity. An ordinary player at S. M. U. is blown to the sky by this writer. This is also the case around Houston where some of the most ordinary players have been blown up for "All" everything.

Arkansas is coming down Saturday and they are bringing what they call "The passingest Team in the Nation", that name has been copywritten by Arkansas, but that name cannot win ball games for them. Arkansas lost Robbins, Sloan, Hamilton, and Benton from last year's great machine and they cannot be as strong as they were.

Their record to date this year is about as impressive as that of the Aggies, but when they play that game Saturday we think that they will look more like the Aggie "Double shuffle".

Kay Eakin, passer deluxe, and Britt, tall rangy Arkansas end, are the two men that the Aggies will have to watch. The Cadets are playing now with the idea of getting the ball early and keeping it all during the ball game. If a team doesn't have the ball they cannot throw passes or do anything else.

Arkansas Hogs To Invade Kyle Field Saturday

"The Passingest-Team in the Nation," the Arkansas Hogs, will invade Kyle Field Saturday where they will take on the Texas Aggies who feature the hardest running attack in the South in a Southwest Conference game that will test passing against running.

Last year the Cadets lost a 13 to 26 decision to the Razorbacks at Fayetteville after playing to a 13 to 13 tie during the first half. Arkansas is rated as a weaker team this year. They lost the best pair of ends and two of the best backs in the conference last year. These four men cannot be replaced in one year.

Arkansas history shows that their only All-America player, as Collier's picks them, was Schooner of the '29 team.

Santa Clara won over the Hogs Saturday by a score of 21 to 6. A few weeks ago the same team defeated the Cadets 6 to 0. Baylor won from Arkansas 9 to 6. A. & M. played Baylor to a 6 to 6 draw. The Hogs lost to T. C. U. 14 to 21. The Aggies lost to the Frogs by a 34 to 6 count. By comparative scores the Hogs seem to be the stronger team, but scores mean very little in this game of football. Kay Eakin is the Arkansas back that will bear watching.

Aggie Team Plays Hard On Muddy Field Against Bears Saturday

BY E. C. "JEEP" OATES Battalion Sports Editor

About all we can thing to do is to sing our praises to that group of Aggies who played their hearts out on that muddy field at Waco Saturday. George Bransom played the game of his life at tackle. Joe Boyd continued his All-Conference brand of playing. Tommie Vaughn played a bang up game. "Korky" Steffens was plenty good. Dick Todd, "Slick" Rogers, John Kimbrough, and Tommie Thomason were outstanding. The latter four mentioned would form the best backfield in the conference. This would give them two seniors and two sophomores. These two sophs deserve lots of credit.

The Aggie passing will also get better and we predict that when the sun sets Thanksgiving afternoon you will be able to call the A. & M. team of this year the greatest Aggie team of all time, despite the fact that it won't win the title. The play of the battling Farmers here Saturday should silence forever the wolves among the Aggie alumni who have been crying for the scalp of another fine leader. Bill James' line was a thing of beauty, almost rhythmic in its work. We said once before that as a line coach Bill James has no superior in these United States. We say it again on this blue Monday morning. And certainly no team that has appeared here in many moons was more admirably coached than the fine team which Homer Norton placed on the field here Saturday. It had everything but a passer and a punter. Coaches do not make passers and punters. They are born. The coach that gets them is fortunate.

The following is a clipping taken from the Waco News-Tribune of Monday. It is by our old friend Jinx Tuckers.

We think that as the season progresses the A. & M. running game is going to get better and that the passing will also improve. The Farmers had so much sophomore talent at hand that it was hard to get the best combination together. Whatever combination the Aggies will have from now on must include John Kimbrough.

If the Aggie continue to play the brand of ball that they played in Waco there will be no wolves to howl. It looks as if the Aggie coaches have almost found their
