ability is cleared up. Another regulation is that under ordinary circumstances an organization may not change its selections.

Co-operative houses located on the campus will be included in the arrangement if they all decide to come into the agreement, Dean Bolton said. Action on this proposal is expected to come to a head within the next few days.

Members of the committee from A. & M. were F. W. Hensel, M. L. Cashion, Bob Adams, Andy Rollins, and John Bibbs. Representing the tailors were R. C. Rapp, Roland Dansby and Joel English.

THE WILLIAMS PRINTING Co., which publishes the Bryan News, a weekly publication, was gutted by fire Wednesday night about 9:30 by a blaze which was thought to have started in the print shop. The entire building was burned from front to rear, causing a total loss of the building and the machinery. A part of the loss was covered by insurance.

All the local fire equipment was called into action by Bryan's largest blaze in months. Not only was the printing establishment razed, but also a cleaning shop in the rear of the building.

MUSTANG-AGGIE GAME SIDELIGHTS

Dorcas and Doris Harrison of Tuckerman, Ark. left, were "Aggie Sweethearts" at the Mustang game in Dallas last Saturday. They were elected by students of T. S. C. W.

Below is how a band looks leading an Aggie review. The one in Dallas was the largest ever to be held outside of College Station, with almost 3,000 students taking part.

FOUR POULTRY MAJORS WILL MAKE CONTEST

Nine senior and junior poultry majors have been in competition since early September for places on the A. & M. poultry judging team. Four members of this group will be chosen Wednesday of this week to compete at the Midwest Poultry Judging Contest at Chicago, according to E. D. Parnell, team coach.

The prospective team members have judged at numerous fairs throughout Texas this fall, and many workouts have been held at the College Poultry Farm. The students judge classes of exhibition birds, classes of production hens, classes of live and dressed market fowl, and spend some time on the grading of market eggs. The team will leave November 19, and plan to work out at Oklahoma A. & M., Kansas State College, and at various poultry breeding farms and produce houses on the way. They plan to arrive in Chicago on Thanksgiving Day, and the contest will take place on Saturday, November 26. They will spend a few days seeing Chicago, and then return to College Station through Kentucky and Tennessee, arriving back here around December 1.

Those trying out for the team are W. L. Braddy, Ted Martin, Bruce McGee, W. M. Schmalz, J. C. Williams, Troy Brasuel, Louis Jurcak, O. L. Davis, and A. G. Warren.

Story of Suez Construction In Current Picture at Palace

By PAUL KETTLESON

Walter Winchell says, and he should know, that David O. Selznick has let it out to his intimates that he has selected the actress to play the part of Scarlet O'Hara in the much delayed film, "Gone With the Wind," but that he refuses to disclose the identity, even to his wife. Smart fellow!

Palace: Thursday, Friday and Saturday, "Suez."

To miss this great production would be a major mistake. The film is up among the best of the month and with the success it has met in other cities it should win. Tyrone Power is the main character, and plays his part to perfection.

The plot is weak, but to bolster this, the makers enter into the picture a scene in which a giant sandstorm is depicted. It seems that when the producers know they have a weak story they immediately throw in some big wind, earthquake or some such noise which is merely to get the attention of the audience as to the task it was making the picture. There are some in the vast audience of American movie-goers who desire to see-acting instead of all the racket and confusion that goes along with an earthquake.

The picture is an historical one and is true to the story with the exception of the windstorm. Maybe they did have those things but one so destructive could hardly be imagined, except in Hollywood.

Joan Bennett does her part in holding up the lead of the picture and is very ably helped by Henry Fonda. These two while not in the 'team' class work well together and should go far.
