

Traditional Bonfire And Dance To Be Held Tonight

University Co-eds To Attend Hop

Tommy Littlejohn And His Aggieband Orchestra to Play

Between forty and fifty co-eds from the University of Texas will attend the annual Bonfire Dance to be held in Sbis Hall tonight from nine 'till one, according to Bill Livingston, social secretary of the senior class. An invitation was sent to the entire student body of Texas U. to attend the dance, which is being given a day early so that the Aggies who wish may journey to Austin for the Wednesday night festivities there.

Music for the dance will be furnished by Tommy Littlejohn and his New Aggieband Orchestra. As this is the last corps dance to be given before mid-term, fish will be allowed to attend, with or without dates. A very good crowd is expected for the occasion, which is also the fifth football dance of the season at Aggieband.

The traditional bonfire ceremonies will begin at 7:30 with the lighting of the huge stack and will continue in its glow until time for the dance to begin.

SUPERVISOR OF CONSTRUCTION COMPANY HERE

Superintendent Mendell of the Bellows Construction Company of Houston, which has been awarded the contract for general construction of the twelve new dormitories and the new mess hall for A. & M. College, is now here, supervising the building program, which is well under way.

The grounds for these buildings have already been completely cleared and staked off, and several houses have been moved off the area to be occupied. The Bellows Construction Co. has erected an office next to the building site. The first big shipment of lumber has arrived, and the first actual work on the dormitories began yesterday. By the time the Aggies get back to school after the Thanksgiving holidays the place will probably be humming with activity.

The new buildings are being provided for by the recent loan of $2,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the College. The contracts stipulate that they be completed and ready for use by next September for the 1939-40 session of the College.

C. N. SHEPARDSON, HEAD OF the Dairy Husbandry Department, and the 301 marketing class visited Houston Monday to inspect the dairies there.

Practical Demonstration To Be Given by Nortonmen Thanksgiving

BY B. F. ROGERS
OFFICIAL NOTICE

Thursday the entire corps is invited to journey to Austin for a practical demonstration by Professor Homer Norton's class in Animal Husbandry 1938a. "The corps has been behind the team the whole year, and the boys want to show their appreciation by bringing back to school choice cuts of beef for use in the mess hall," says Norton.

In a statement to a Battalion representative, J. C. Hotard, Supervisor of Subsistence said that he had known for some time the boys weren't eating their "bullneck" with their customary fire and ardor. He stated that he had tried to procure native beef, failing, however, in his endeavors, and was forced to order beef from Kansas City and other points. He deplored this situation and begged Professor Norton's class to send him NATIVE beef as soon as possible.

In Animal Husbandry 1938a, the meat supply is taken up as a vital part of the course. This, along with methods of slaughtering, utilization of by-products, and wholesale and retail cuts, comprise the more important divisions involved. Prof. Norton has prepared a lecture for his class, which is briefly summarized below.

"All of you boys have had quiz

A on 'methods of slaughtering,' and have received grades between 90 and 100. This proves to me that you have done your homework every day—and have done it well.

"Quiz B, on 'utilization of by-products,' involving advanced theories on profiting by past experiences, was a bit harder, but every man was on his toes and wasn't caught napping.

"Quiz C, covering by far the largest and most interesting part of the course will be given on Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the Memorial Laboratory at Austin. The quiz will cover 'Meat Supply,' and 'Wholesale and Retail Cuts.' Now boys, you've had 'Meat Supply' drummed into you since you've been in my class. There'll be eleven young bulls out there ready to be slaughtered. I want my A students in 'Methods of Slaughtering,' to take care of that item. The rest of you boys carve the 'bullets' up and put the cuts on ice by 5 o'clock, which is the time limit allowed on this quiz.

"I'm glad to see you're doing your homework, and if that's any indication of your knowledge, then I have no doubts in my mind about your making an A on quiz C. Incidentally, quiz C happens to be the final examination in my course, so if you pass this, you pass the whole course. Class dismissed."

2,000 Expected To Make Corps Trip To Austin

Parade Covers 15 Blocks; Special Train to Leave Early Thursday Morning

Two thousand cadets will parade down Congress Avenue in Austin Thursday morning preceding the football game between A. & M. and Texas University, according to an announcement from the Commandant's office.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad Company will run a special train to Austin Thursday morning, which will arrive in Austin in plenty of time to enable the occupants to

The special train to Austin Thanksgiving morning will leave College Station at 6:15 and will arrive in Austin at 9:15. Fare for the round trip will be $2.30, and enables the holder of the ticket to return on any regular Missouri Pacific train leaving Austin before Tuesday night.

fall in for the parade at ten o'clock. Breakfast will be served early in the mess hall that morning for the convenience of the boys who are going on the train.

All students who do not go to Austin on the special are requested by Colonel Moore, commandant, to report to their respective organizations at 9:30 in order that there be no confusion in forming the parade.

The following places have been designated by the Commandant's office for the origin of march for each organization: Infantry—West 2nd St. between Congress Avenue and Colorado St.; Field Artillery—Colorado St. between West 1st and West 2nd; Composite Regiment—Colorado St. between West 2nd and West 3rd; Cavalry—West 2nd street between Colorado and Lavaca; Engineers—Lavaca St. between West 1st and West 2nd; and the Coast Artillery on Lavaca Street between West 2nd and West 3rd. The order of march will be in order as listed for forming.

The parade will cover a length of approximately fifteen blocks and will take about an hour for completion. It will be down Congress Avenue, the main street of Austin, with the reviewing stand being located at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel. Dismissal point will be at the Capitol grounds, the termination point of the parade.

It is to be hoped that more than two thousand boys make the trip to Austin. Last year four thousand made the trip to Fort Worth for the T. C. U. game, a record which has not been equaled since, despite the increased enrollment this year.

DEAN E. J. RYLE, HEAD OF the School of Agriculture, is attending the monthly meeting of the Directors of the Farm Credit Association in Houston. The meeting began yesterday and will last through today. Dean Kyle has been one of the directors of this Association for the last four years.

BONFIRE BUILT

Above is the result of many hours of labor on the part of freshmen—the annual bonfire which will be burned tonight before the Bonfire Dance. Lacking when this picture was taken was the "crown."

Large Crowd To Witness Bonfire

Senior Football Players and Aggie Coaches to Speak

When the Aggie Band starts the familiar strains of "Wildcat" tonight another annual Bonfire will be underway. The bonfire will start an evening of festivities for the cadet corps and a large assembly of visitors, the like of which hasn't been seen on the campus for a long time.

The cadet corps will collect in front of the "Y" for a short talk from chief yell-leader Hub Aston and will then go to the drill field for the bonfire. During the course of the evening the senior members of the football team and the Aggie coaches will be introduced to the crowd and will be called upon for short speeches.

"Dutch" Hahn of Brenham will probably speak sometime during the bonfire, and as has been the custom, noted ex-Aggies who are in the crowd will be called to the stand for brief talks concerning the traditional turkey-day clash.

At the end of the bonfire when the band sounds the strains of Taps another season of football will be about over. To some it will just mean that another day is over, but to those seniors, both on and off the football team, it will mean their last yell practice before a Thanksgiving game.

TODAY'S NAMES

BY JACK PUCKETT

It is time that we put the laurel wreath around the head of BILL MURRAY, junior editor on the staff. It was he that initiated the idea of installing telephones in the A. & M. dormitories. By the end of the week fourteen telephones will be in the dormitories.

BILL LIVINGSTON has done a fine job as social secretary of the senior class and deserves to be recommended. And BEAL HARGROVE has put out lots of heart-breaking labor on the Entertainment Series; but the student body hasn't given him much support.

SAMMY HARRIS and BUDDY MANDELL deserve a pat on the back for putting out the best Scientific Review in history—an enjoyable, readable magazine.

And last we give credit to the watchers of the bonfire. These boys, mostly freshmen, have satisfactorily performed a cold, hard job in protecting this symbol of Aggie supremacy for the enemy.

BERT BURN'S story modeled after the Gettysburg address, which he told after the Rice game, was the cleverest that's come from the Y steps in a long time.

WINSTEAD MEMBER OF ASSOCIATION

G. B. Winstead, director of publicity at A. & M., was elected to membership in the Texas Editorial Association at a meeting in Austin this weekend.

Membership in the club is open to newspaper men who have been in the business 20 years. Mr. Winstead was admitted with only 16 years of journalistic experience but the Association voted to add to that the four years he carried a news route.

Attending with Mr. Winstead were Louis Franke of the Extension Service and A. D. Jackson of the Experiment Station, a charter member of the organization.

Dean of University Of Wisconsin Visits Campus During Tour

Dean E. B. Fred, Head of the Graduate School of the University of Wisconsin, visited Texas A. & M. last Friday in a tour of the South which he is making, while on a leave of absence from work this semester, in order to investigate the natural science research in progress at Southern institutions.

Dr. Fred paid short calls to several of the departments of the college; to Dean T. D. Brooks, Head of the School of Arts and Sciences; and to the Graduate School; and to the Agricultural Experiment Station.

TEXAS GRANGE MEETS AT A. & M. NOV. 29-DEC. 1

A meeting of the various chapters of the Texas State Grange will be held here Nov. 29th to Dec. 1st. As an old annual custom, each chapter of the Grange will bring a girl and a selection will be made to determine the sweetheart of the Texas Grange.

The competition for the award of Grange Sweethearts will be held in the annex of the mess hall next Tuesday evening at 7:30. The selection will be made by a committee consisting of David Thrift, cadet colonel, Owens Rogers, captain of the football team, and Bob Adams, senior class president. The amount of applause given the girls will be one of the factors considered in the selection.

On Nov. 30th the Texas Grange will have as its guests members of the National Grange, which is now holding a meeting in Portland, Oregon, and which will make a visiting tour of several states before stopping here. A talk will be made by L. T. Taber, master of the national Grange.

The Grange is one of the oldest and most important farm organizations in Texas and in the United States.

Arrangements for the Grange meeting are being prepared by a committee consisting of J. W. Barber, chairman; D. H. Reid, head of the Poultry Husbandry Department; and Henry Ross, Agricultural Education Department.

TEASIPPERS PASS "A.A.A." TO FIGHT FARMERS

No Provision For Growing Hair On Dana Bible's Head

BY A FARMER

Them that U. T. students are sophisticated wits.

Reckonin' on how their Longhorns wouldn't be able to stop up Farmers, they done went and passed an act in the Students Association to curb the Aggie side of the score.

We 'ens don't know how to construe their "A. A. A." It was called the "Aggie Adjustment Act," and it was supposed to sorta even up the two teams for the Thanksgiving Day battle.

The only thing it didn't provide for was growing hair on Dana Bible's head.

The two teams are about equal on that count, though, 'cause Homer Norton's head don't exactly resemble a porcupine.

One point in the act which might not be O. K. with us Farmers is section 6, which tells the quarterback how the game's got to be called.

We ain't had time to see what "Slick" Rogers thinks about it, but the act oughta be unconstitutional on account of interfering with individual initiative or something.

Yo' scribbler ain't got much hankerin' for limiting production anywhere, least of all in scores. For us Farmers are reckoning on 40 points against Bible, tradition, and the so-called Team of Texas U.

While the "A. A. A." may be in keeping with the New Deal policies, so is breaking precedent. And one has a blamed good chance of gettin' broke to pieces come Thanksgiving Day, us Farmers cogitate.

Them Aggie pigskin toters done told us the glorified Ferdinands of the University ain't got a chance, and yo'all know what—we believe they oughta know.

Us Aggies ain't as fast as them U. T. students, but we're ready to offer the belief that the Aggie game at Austin may go down in history known as H. O. L. C.—

hell on Longhorn coaches.

But now back to their act, we know that the New Deal has a lot of red tape, and we sorta expect their "A. A. A." is going to take so long to get to operating that it ain't going to amount to much this year.

Besides that, how can it be official unless the president of the school signs it, and that can't happen 'cause they hain't got nary-un. Here is a copy of the act they passed:

"Whereas, It has been within the policy of the New Deal to limit and regulate in order to prevent overproduction of all those things relating to the farm and ranch; and

"Whereas, on Thursday, November 24, the A. & M. Farmers invade Memorial Stadium and the green fertile sod thereof; and

"Whereas, this said sod has lain fallow from the touch of Farmers' hands for two years; and

"Whereas, the sight of such fertile soil might fan the Farmers' fancy to such a frenzy that they will be likely to attempt to overproduce and thereby ruin the Steer market;

"BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED: by the Students' Assembly in their Second Called Session, November 16, 1938, an act to be entitled "Aggie Adjustment Act," the purpose of which shall be to limit the Farmers' production on Turkey Day next, under the following terms; to wit:

1. No Aggie may play more than two-thirds of the game. (The rest of the game shall be spent on relief.)
2. No Aggie who is carrying the ball shall run more than five yards after crossing the line of scrimmage without a penalty of one-third of the distance covered.
3. No Aggie eligible to receive a pass shall use more than one hand in the catching thereof.
4. It shall be unlawful for any Aggie to punt on any down except the fourth unless notice is given to the Texas backs.
5. No Aggie back shall carry the ball more than once in a series of four downs.
6. It shall be unlawful for the

Game May Really Be H. O. L. C.—Hell On Longhorn Coach

Aggie quarterback to call plays other than in the following order.
1st down—off-tackle.
2nd down—end run.
3rd down—pass (over center).
4th down—punt (never to go over 30 yards).

"This act shall be effective starting Monday morning, November 21, and shall be in force and effect until Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving Day, 1938, at 6 o'clock.

"This act shall be construed as repealing and rescinding acts inconsistent with the provisions hereof."
