Judge: "Well, Sam, I see you're back for fighting with your wife. Liquor again?"

Sam: "No sah, jedge; she licked me 'dix time."

A dinner guest in a Virginia home was telling his host how to prepare ham that would be even better than the famous Virginia ham.

Guest: "Place the hame in a deep pan and the first day soak it in a bottle of rye whiskey and let it cook a while. The second day add a little Jamaica rum, and the third day a bottle of port wine and the fourth day a bottle of Bourbon."

Host (turning to the colored cook): "What do you think of that?"

Negro Cook: "Ah don't know 'bout de ham, but it sho' sounds like mighty fine gravy."

Mary (a bride) was showing uncle over their new home.

"This is my room, uncle; you see we have twin beds, they are so much more hygienic. That's Harold's, this one is mine."

The uncle noticed a blue Telechron clock on the mantel shelf and remarked, "What a charming little clock."

"Yes," said Mary, "it's a wedding present from Aunt Fanny."

A few days later uncle received a note from Mary telling how the blue Telechron clock had disappeared the very afternoon he was there; could he throw any light on it?

Uncle replied: "Dear Mary, look in Harold's bed."
