PIPE TOBACCO
A PRODUCT OF PHILIP MORRIS

A millionaire, nearing death's door, agreed to try blood transfusion. The supply was obtained from an employee who was a Scotsman by birth, and the result was all that could be desired. When the patient was able to get about he gave the Scotsman $500. After a time the operation was repeated, but this time the millionaire paid $250, and still later, after another transfusion, the Scot was paid nothing at all.

"Ah, Sandy," said the surgeon slyly, "it's only what you might have expected. Your blood's just started to work."

Cook: Yes, ma'am, I'm leavin' in exactly three minutes.

Mistress: Then please put the eggs on to boil; and we'll have them right for once.

A young man was on trial for illegal voting, it being claimed that he voted when under age. His mother was on the witness-stand, and testified that the young man was of age when he voted.

Counsel: How do you know he was of age?

Mother: Because I am his mother and he was born on Jan. 9, 1916.

Counsel: Now, Mrs. Smith, please tell this jury some particular thing that happened that day that fixes it so firmly in your memory.
