

I want a permit to shoot on sight
Humanity's greatest boob;
No death is too vile for the guy who loses
The cap to the toothpaste tube.

She was only the coal man's daughter, but oh, where she had bin.

Young Appealing Lass: "I'm going to call you Pilgrim from now on."

Hopeful Young Lad: "Why Pilgrim?"

Young Appealing Lass: "Because each time I go with you, you make more progress."

—Dodo

He: That's a nice looking formal you are wearing.
She: Thanks, I only wear it to teas.
He: Whom?

Judging women by their clothes
(And, after all, that's all that shows).
Their outward garb of elegance
Reveals a low intelligence.
The things they wear as shoes, for instance
(Explains a woman's inconsistency);
There are no heels, there are no toes.
It's fashion, sure, But why? Who knows?
The less there is, the more they pay;
Just how does that make sense, I say!
A woman's chapeau is a mystery
(The thing all women try to be).
In theory, hats are for the head;
A prosaic idea—so women instead
Wear a basket, a turnip, or flower pot—
Just so it looks like something it's not!
A dress or a frock is a matter of taste
(Reflecting itself on the figure it's placed),
But the mirror of vanity never divulges
Where a size sixteen on a forty-eight bulges
And a gown that's designed for a tall, dark, and slim
Is a model that every size tries to fit in.
Judging women by their clothes
(A common measure, goodness knows!)
Their intellect seems low—but then
Don't women dress to please the mean?

Headaches, arthritis, hay fever;
Are dreadful afflictions, alas;
But they hardly compare—
To the pain one must bear
With insomnia during a class.

—G. L. Pitt

Joyner: "My wife explored my pockets again last night."
Slink: "What did she get?"
Joyner: "Same as any other explorer, material for a lecture."
