One is reminded of the close of the Civil War, of which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt spoke a few days ago in describing the effect of the uncondi ional surrender at Appamatox. There were partisans in the North, like General Franco in Spain today, who demanded punishment for President Jeff Davis and other leaders of the Confederacy. General Franco, by his harsh terms of peace, is subjecting himself to further criticism from the outside world, and he may lose many friends who have never believed he was a puppet of Mussolini and Hitler but that he sought only a better government for his own people. The Loyalists in a finish fight would go down in history as immortals like the defenders of Thermopylse and the Alamo.

Men like Franco, Mussolini and Hitler unfortunately are not thinking about history, the blood of the Spanish people, but only about the immediate present and its quick results. It is going a little too far when the editor and sports editor serve tea at half time at a basketbal game. Couldn't you think of anything more childish to do? Maybe you could gage in a little game of marbles. Most little boys find it very amusing and a very high type of entertainment. Why not forget all this feud bull and try to write a column that can be enjoyed by the boys that had enough faith in you to elect you to your position. Why don't you two fellows wake up? Some of the things you write smell as bad as the words you use sound.

Radio has a long way to go before it can win special compliments on the excellence of its educational programs.

That expresses the summarization of results of survey made by W. W. Bird, who won a doctor's degree at the University of Iowa for his research.

After analysis of programs for which educational merit was claimed by the National Broadeasting company and the Columbia Broadcasting Editorial Assistant system, Dr. Bird drew these conclusions:

(1) Programs, when measured by established cational criteria, where "appreciably below

(2) Educational claims of sponsors were not

(3) The need for a re-examination of educational philosophy of broadcasting was revealed.

(4) The necessity of reemploying trained experts to prepare and direct educational programs according to recognized educational theory and practice was clearly indicated.
