

AGGIES FLOCK TO OIL WORLD SHOW

The Oil World Exposition at which Rice and the University of Texas had exhibits, held in the Houston Coliseum April 24 thru 29, was center of attraction for the Texas Aggies last weekend. Several hundred attended the event, in addition to a party of 75 senior petroleum engineers who visited the show last Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Bill Small, chemical engineering senior, took third place for his paper on a phase of the petroleum industry, in the contest in which southwestern schools competed. Edward Caruthers, mechanical engineering senior, took fifth place.

The detailed visit of the petroleum engineering seniors to the show was part of the annual senior petroleum students' inspection trip, which this year took them to Houston and Lufkin.

While in Houston they visited the Hughes Tool Plant and were guests of the Hughes Tool Company at a luncheon; Friday noon. They also visited the various manufacturing industries in Lufkin and attended a banquet Wednesday noon as the guests of W. C. Trout, president of the Lufkin Foundry and Machine Company.

EFFICIENCY OF SCHOOLS CUT BY BUDGET DECREASE

The educational Appropriation for the next biennium was expected to be passed today by the Senate after the bill had moved along after passage by the House. The next move, it is believed, will be a free conference of the two groups to adjust differences.

As passed by the house, the bill makes no provision for handling the greatly increased enrollment at most state colleges and universities, and no funds for building purposes were included. In the face of present conditions, however, the bill is regarded favorably by school authorities.

Efforts of two Ft. Worth representatives, B. T. Johnson and O. L. McAlister, to effect reductions at Texas A. & M., on the floor of the House were unsuccessful. Their attack upon A. & M. was regarded as an effort to punish the college for its position of opposition to the bill that would raise the junior colleges at Stephenville and Arlington to senior rank.

followed by Williams who singled both runners home. Lindsey doubled. Kirkpatrick popped to second. Bass rolled out pitcher to first with Williams scoring. Alsbrook rolled out second to first.

Rice tallied one in the first of the ninth. Moore whiffed. Kaiser flew to right, Carswell singled by short and scored when Wood tripped to left and was out at home when he tried to stretch it.

Chubby Nolen looked like a million dollars at short. Cooper was not credited with a time at bat until the sixth inning. He was given first on interference from the catcher in the first. Walked in the third and was hit by the pitcher in the fifth. He got one hit and two runs in two official trips to the plate. One of his drives was past the fence, but it was foul. Alsbrook also stood out for the Cadets.

This is next to the last dance of the year to which everyone is invited. After this weekend comes the corps dance after the Senior Ring Dance before it is time for the Junior Prom and the Final Ball.

Three years ago the Ag Engineers gave the first of the Barn Dances, each year the popularity of the dance has increased because of the good music, informal fun to be had and the smoothest floor on the campus.

The proceeds of the dance, just as the proceeds of the Cotton Ball, are used to send students of the society on a trip. The trip is to the national meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. At the meeting of the society a cup is given by the Farm Equipment Institute to the student branch of the A. S. A. E. having the best record of activities during the year.
