

Summer Sports

With Hub Johnson

Well, folks, the first session is drawing very quickly to a close, but long may it be remembered in the minds of those who will remain for the next session, those who will willingly leave us, and by those who are just hanging around for a living or otherwise. To start the final run of the farewells and occasions to say "adieu," the sports world as well as those who still desire to call dancing a forgotten art will turn out tonight in the College Gym for the Summer Pasture Prom.

The sports world here and about have been putting in a few hours during the last week all on account of the 4-H Club boys and girls. The stand-bys at the pool have had to train their eyes to the funny movements of the rural boys, and it is said that some new methods if maneuvering about in the water have been noticed. A good number of the Ag Educator softball team has been showing the boys about and trying to keep them from killing each other. We saw Lipscomb's Pharmacy team developing their skill at hustling trays in the mess hall for the boys and girls, as well as the larger part of the College Inn team.

Frank Guernsey, Rice Institute tennis star, held on to his National Intercollegiate tennis crown by routing Chester Murphy, University of Chicago star, in Pennsylvania last Sunday, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

Not much "snoopin" this week but we actually saw one of the lifeguards trying to impress one of the girls instead of vice versa . . . Jim Sedberry still taking that old dip in the evenings after work (?) . . . Jack Garner lifting trays instead of weights to limber up . . . the arrival of two new diving boards for the pool . . . Leo "Ho Hum" Krueger and Jack Starkey stopping long enough for a few sets of tennis . . . a good number of the college guys getting their sun tan at the Bryan Club pool . . . "Chick" Denny limping off the field with a pulled ankle in the College Laundry-Aggieland Pharmacy Game.

Your correspondent happened in at the theater as one does sometimes and eyed the pictures of the Louis-Galento fight. When the "bomber" struck, he lifted the twotons at least a foot off the floor.

Next week this column will carry the suggested few for the all-star team that will be chosen at the end of the season, and the names of the selected all-around boy and girl of the field, floor, and pool.

The final "go-round" in the softball league will start Monday evening, and it looks like the Aggie Cleaners, with Curtis Holland in the box, College Inn, starring Fred Richmond, and Seaboard Life, using Holland, Samuelson, or Teague, will be the entries for the tussels.

Among the royal world-figures to visit the New York World's Fair are King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of England, Crown Prince Olaf and Princess Martha of Norway, and Crown Prince Michael of Rumania.

Still Anybody's Title In Twilight League Race As Insurers, Ag Cleaners and Inn Tie For 1st Place

The way it stands now it might be anybody's title for the first half of the current Twilight League series. The Seaboard Life Insurance boys started the season very strong and then dropped two in a row to the College Inn and the Ag Educators. The Aggie Cleaners made the biggest threat, but they too met their "Waterloo" along in the second week of play. The College Inn lost their first pair and then came back to tell the others that they were still in the running. Ag Educators Over Seaboard Life

Last Thursday we saw some of the favorites go down and saw one drop from the final running. The outstanding contest of the day was the Ag Educators-Seaboard Life tilt. The insurance boys went onto the field in the same manner, that of getting it over with as soon as possible, and were pretty well assured of the game until the first half of the eighth inning when the Ag boys started a rally, and marked up seven runs. The game went easy up until then but turned into a massacre starting with Edwards' crossing the plate. The final score of the game was 10 to 3.

Aggieland Pharmacy Drops From Running

The College Laundry with a number of new men stopped the defending champs on their return trip with a close score of 5 to 4 in a game which showed the pharmacy boys registering more hits than the laundry but failing to make the same count as they should have. This game was also in the hands of the favorites up until the last inning. The drug store players took the field for the last few days but were much surprised as W. Wallace rounded the bases on a home-run trip and J. O. Durst, team manager, came in right after him to wind up the game. This put both teams on an even basis but just out of the margin for play-off games.

Ag Cleaners Over Lipscomb

With longing wait for the day, the Aggie Cleaners took the Lipscomb Pharmacy boys for a tussle and came out on the top side with the score of 10 to 4. It took them some time to get started but in the fifth inning they opened with five runs. Curtis Holland was credited with the game as well as two of the runs for the cleaners.

Campus Cleaners Go Under Again

With the old tough luck still hanging to their coat-tails, the Campus Cleaners fell again—this time to the College Inn hustlers. The score was marked up as 17 to 6. The Inn boys even drew Fred Richmond from the box and gave him a chance to see how the third baseman feels now and then. Barton and Bloodworth led the scoring race for the Inn with three runs each. Lewis was in the box for the cleaners.

Choice Of All-Sports Stars Still A Mystery

Who will it be? Who does the choosing? Who knows? These and many other similar questions are being asked every day by those who think they know who the honor of Most All-round Boy and Girl will be bestowed upon. Well, folks, the way it stands now, the answer to all three of these questions is still, "No one knows."

All during the last two weeks the judges not knowing it, the students also unaware of the fact, and the editors just as ignorant as the rest have sat idly by and wondered who and why?

History Of Jitterbuggin' Reaches Climax Tonight At Pasture Prom

By Margaret Hollingshead

To dance or not to dance—is that the question? No, that question was answered in the affirmative long ago. The modern Aggie version is "To Hrdlicka's or to the Club?" If that question were put to King Solomon tonight he would answer, "My children, let's all go to the Summer Pasture Prom!"

Once upon a time dancing was a religious function. But the anthropoid ancestors of the jitterbug began to enjoy their worshipping so much that they were dismissed from the church. They took their dancing with them, and transformed it into a worldly art. And now our new generation has taken this art in hand and created a sport—nay, even work for some.

Like a new, streamlined can-opener, which has a hundred other uses besides its traditional one, the new sport of dancing can be adapted to a hundred different tastes. It can be slow and soothing, like a cool swim; it can be an endurance test, as in a long-distance race, or it can be fast and snappy, like a championship tennis meet or a husky football game.

TWENTY OF THE 29 MEMBERS of the Board of Directors of the A. & M. Association of Former Students will combine business and a vacation at the summer camp of Roy D. Golston near Lake City, Colo. They will meet there July 17 to hold a business meeting.

During the two to five days they will be there, they will be entertained in true camp fashion.
