The night sergeant was asked by the commandant how he knew the boy was drunk.

"Well," drawled the sarge, "He came into the 'Y', put a nickel in the letter-box, rang the desk bell, put the empty whisky bottle to his ear, said 'no answer', and then sat on the floor and went to sleep."

When the newlyweds boarded the train, the embarrassed groom tipped the porter liberally not to disclose that they were just married. On the way to breakfast the next morning, the couple were the object of many grins, stares and craning of necks. Furiously the groom upbraided the negro porter. "Nassuh, boss," George replied. "Ah didn't tell 'em. When dey asked me if you was just married, ah says, no suh, dey is just chums."

Officer: Now tell me, what is your idea of strategy?
Soph: Sir, it is when you're out of ammunition and keep on firing so the enemy won't know it.

Here's one about the college co-ed who took a course in Biology to learn about life — but it was Ancient History to her.

If you want to be successful with women a good firm is "Watch and Waite," and another is "Attit, Early and Layet", and still another is "Doo and Dairet." But if your technique is as bad as mine, probably the best is, "Grinn and Barrett"

Then there's the "first-year cadet" who went boldly into the book store, gave the pretty clerk a five-dollar bill for a book, and then (of all things) asked for his change.

"Johnny surprised me by telling me we were going to France on our honeymoon."

"How nice, and how did he spring it on you?"

"He said that as soon as we were married he would show me where he was wounded in the war."

She: We've been waiting here a long time for that mother of mine.

He: Hours, I should say.

She: Oh Tom . . . this is so sudden!

The man went into a cafe early one morning, and sat down at the counter. He was about half asleep as he said to the waiter, "Gimme an egg with the yellow broken, bacon burnt to a crisp, and toast burnt on both sides, and if it's not too much trouble, sit in front of me and gripe like hell, so I'll feel at home."

Two little boys were standing on the corner when a little girl passed by. One said, "Her neck's dirty," and the other said "Her does?"

Daniel Boone?

Wedding guest: "And I suppose you are marrying for love."

Bridegroom: "Say who do you think that ole guy with the shotgun is?"
