Battalion Circulation Staff
The Battalion this year is being put into the rooms of the students for the first time. Due to the fact that there is quite a bit of moving of boys from room to room in the halls and transferring from hall to hall, some of the boys who are supposed to get papers have not received them. We are receiving many complaints at the office and the circulation staff would appreciate it if all those who do not get their paper would make those complaints to their carrier and for that reason we are printing a list of the halls, their carriers and the carrier's room number.

Thelma Barse Hendrick, fashion co-ordinator for the Fair, is making all the necessary arrangements with the cooperation of the Fair Department Store. Three popular T.C.U. girls, Misses Helen Connor, Ann Goodman and Elizabeth Hager, have been secured to handle the correspondence and registrations for the bureau.

Zoning Committee—

The ordinance also makes provision for the limitation of height and bulk of buildings and requires in residential districts such front, side and rear yards as to provide ample open space and no damage to neighboring property.
The districts as set forth in the map follow land uses as already deposed ordinance and zoning developed. Buildings already in districts zoned for other purposes are not affected, except that if torn down or remodeled that the new construction must conform to the zoning ordinance.

SAIL HALF A SHIP TO PORT? FANTASTIC!

On the nine millionth wave the freighter Flora Wyatt split in two, leaving John Orde with only the jagged bow of a ship to command! . . . If you like sea yarns, turn to Richard Howells Watkins' story, Half a Ship, in this week's Post.

NEWEST TRICK IN FOOTBALL

Are those kicks that suddenly bounce out of bounds in the coffin corner sheer luck? No, sir! Football's slyest trick is making 'em bounce out. Here's the story of the system that is putting The Foot Back in Football. Franny Murray, former Penn star, tells the story.

A FIGHTIN' PARSON GOES TO WAR

Roaring, red-headed Rev. Praxiteles Swan was a mighty bad spot. Only the musketry stabbing red in the night showed him the position of those Yankees. The Preacher Learns to Pray, a story by Col. John W. Thomason, Jr.

CATTLE ROUNDUP— 1940 STYLE

Don't let the movies kid you that cattle roundups mean wild-eyed steers stampeding ahead of yelping cowboys. Donald Hough, author of this article, Beef Comes From the Hills, takes you with him on a roundup in Montana and tells you what a steer's life is really like before he becomes steak.

MR. ENOCH SETS HIS CAP FOR REVENGE

Mr. Enoch, the gaudy gnome in Room 607, certainly looked like a fugitive from a chain-gang picture. So Mr. Caldwell, the new hotel manager, decided to oops him out. A riotous story, Clothes Make the Man, by Nunnally Johnson.

GENTLEMEN PREFER HOOPSKIRTS

Della used enough chicken fencing in building her hoopskirt to take care of twenty brooders. But it was worth it. Wasn't she to meet a polished gentleman—with a fine black beard and a gold tooth in his smile? M. G. Chute brings you the romantic story of The Lady and the Guinea Hen.

WHAT IS A FOREIGNER?

What happens when a family comes from Europe to make its fortune in America? How do the children, and the children's children, rate as citizens? Louis Adamic traces a significant history of one such family, in The Woman From Croatia.
