Four Short Courses Are Held On Campus During The Past Week; One Conference Ended Wednesday, Others End Today

During the past week four short courses have been sponsored by various departments on the campus. The Pecan Growers Show was held Tuesday through Wednesday and the other three courses are scheduled to close today.

Information could not be obtained yesterday concerning the Meat Packer's Short Course. However, the Gas-Lift Conference, Electric Metermen's Short Course, and the Pecan Grower's Association are all covered below.

Texas Pecan Growers

The 19th annual meeting of the Texas Pecan Growers Association was held here Tuesday and Wednesday with an attendance of approximately 100 members.

At the banquet Tuesday night Mr. Leche, of the advertising firm of Leche & Leche at Dallas, made an interesting and valuable talk on a proposed advertising program for Texas and Southern pecan growers.

J. L. Rainey of San Angelo was elected president of the association for next year. The meeting will be held in San Angelo next year.

The show included seven classes of pecans with around 60 entries in the show. In the class for the best all around pecan, the cup awarded by Vice-president Garner was won by Andrew Winkler of The Grove.

Entries in the various classes will be shown at the Horticultural show on December 11 and 12.

Electric Metermen

The 14th Annual Public Utility Short Course for Electricity Metermen has broken all attendance records with a group of 115 men attending.

Large delegations came from both Oklahoma and Louisiana. The course started Monday, November 6 and the theoretical background covering metering was presented by various members of the Electrical Engineering Department.

On Wednesday and Thursday meter supervisors from the various utilities in the state presented talks on the various aspects of metering practices.

Friday's program was devoted to talks by representatives from the leading meter manufacturers in the country.

At the banquet for the group Thursday night H. F. Spreen, presiding, introduced W. B. Clayton, District Manager of the General Electric Company, and W. W.

Lynch, Vice-President of the Texas Power and Light Company, both of whom praised the good work done by the college in promoting the Metermen's Short Course.

Dr. F. C. Bolton, Vice-President of the College, gave the principal talk of the evening on "Human Engineering."

Gas-Lift Conference

Registration at 2 p. m. Friday in the Gas-Lift Production Conference, sponsored by the Petroleum Engineering Department, had reached a total of 85 individuals representing 42 different concerns engaged in various phases of the petroleum industry.

Several other concerns were expected to be represented before the conference closed at noon today.

The Texas Railroad Commission was represented by J. A. Hall, Jr., and J. A. Lyon of Houston, Texas.

Four states, not including Texas, were represented. Ike Lovelady of Black, Sivalls and Bryson Inc., represented the state of Oklahoma; Frank Richardson and Bill Farley of the Lion Oil Refining Company came from El Dorado, Arkansas; R. M. Sloan, production superintendent for the Arkansas Fuel Oil Company, represented Louisiana; and Charles N. Beyrle, production superintendent for the Standard Oil Company of California, registered from Los Angeles, California. Mr. Beyrle is the father of C. N. Beyrle, Jr., freshman of A Engineers.

Several concerns engaged in the manufacture of gas-lift equipment and devices sponsored displays and working models.

2,000 Aggies

The students in this category were exempt from the S. A. T. C. by age or physical disabilities.

Students of the S. A. T. C. received technical training for their respective units. Very little of their work was in their college courses. Their military training was largely technical classes, and was discontinued at the end of the first semester.

The annual unit was small, and was quartered in Foster Hall which they called "The Good Ship Foster." The members of this unit were trained for various technical positions on naval vessels, but were not used.

HILLEL CLUB OFFERS PRIZE FOR BEST ESSAY ON REFUGEE PROBLEM

The A. & M. Hillel Club will sponsor an essay contest open to any member of the student body on the subject of the Jewish refugee problem and a suggested solution. The prize will be $10.00.

Material for the essay may be found in the files of the New York Times, the Jewish periodicals, and in books on the Hillel shelf of the Asbury Room. The essay to be between 1,500 and 2,000 words, and turned in by January 15 to Bernard Wizig, Box 970, president of the Hillel Club.

Among the amusing incidents of the period was the frantic efforts of the college authorities to conceal the presence of four negroes who had been mistakenly sent here by the war department. They were kept hidden in a guard house until they were transferred by the war department. Only then did the officials rest easily.

The following named A. & M. former students were killed during the World War:

W. H. Abney, Elmer Curtis Allison, Farris Shelton Anderson, C. Barfield, Walter Gustavus Bevil, William Fowler Bourland, Thomas Reed Brailsford, Vories P. Brown, Jr., Richard Platt Bull, Jr., J. H. During recent years, courts of law in various states have held that railroad cars are buildings, asses are cattle, bicycles are animals, dentists are mechanics, death by lynching is an accident and baseball is labor, not a game or sport. Even the Supreme Court of the United States ruled in 1931 that the airplane is not a self-propelled vehicle.
