Aggie - Rice—

for his great passing, but he can also hit the middle of the line, and, too, Bob Brumley is a better-than-average passer.

In Ollie Cordill the Owls have one of the best pass catchers, runners, and punters in the conference. Their center is also one of the top men in the country.

If the giant sleeps on, the Aggies will win by three touchdowns. If he is awake it will be a battle from start to finish.

The Owls will shoot their works for this victory. They can gamble at every turn and with a break and a prayer they can win that ball game. The Owls can shoot the works, for they have everything to win and nothing to lose. On the other hand, the Aggies have everything to lose and nothing to gain; so they will have to play a conservative game unless they can steamroller over the opposing team.

Houston Parade—

will be Number 1 with white shirt, except for those students without blouses who are directed by the Commandant to wear civilian clothes.

The order of march for the parade will be as follows:

Corps Commander and Staff
Band
Infantry Regiment
Field Artillery Regiment
Composite Regiment
Cavalry Regiment
Engineer Regiment
Coast Artillery Regiment

The formation will be in column of regiments, regiments in column of battalions, battalions in column of companies, companies in mass formation at close interval, with an 8 or 9 man front.

The reviewing stand will be located on Main Street in front of the Rice Hotel.

City Council—

Gate of A. & M. campus, in which the Council holds its regular periodical meetings, and in which there is a full-time city secretary.

Many problems of city government are in the process of being solved by the City Council at present. Most cities grow up without any regulating measures in their ordinances, with respect to the proper allocation of business, commercial, industrial, recreational, and residential areas. Many misunderstandings and internal strife were as a result among the citizenship. Much money was lost in land values, and when zoning ordinances were finally passed, the process of changing over properties to conform was highly expensive, and in many instances, the cost made such changes prohibitive. With a full knowledge of the experiences of cities which have suffered these losses, the City Council of College Station, has begun early with its zoning in order to avoid any trouble which might later arise.

An ordinance regulating and licensing taxi cabs and motor busses, which operate within the city, has been passed and put into effect. It is expected that many additional ordinances will be passed shortly in an effort to protect the property and safeguard the health of the citizenship.

Traffic congestion at the North Gate has been materially reduced by the installation of a blinker light—and passage of measures regulating the flow of traffic in this area. A full-time traffic and peace officer has been employed, and it is expected that the parallel parking rule will soon be enforced on Bell Street, north of the Post Office, which will permit driving in either direction on that street.

Both residential and business building continues at a brisk rate. An up-to-date theater near the North Gate is rapidly taking form, and it is expected that two modern theaters to serve this city will be completed within the next few months. Work is also progressing rapidly on adequate elementary and high school buildings to serve the new city.

Officials of the city of College Station at present are as follows: Dr. J. H. Binney, Mayor; L. P. Gabbard, G. B. Wilcox, Dr. L. G. Jones, S. A. Lipscomb, and J. A. Orr, aldermen; J. Wheeler Barger, city attorney; J. T. L. McNew, city engineer; and E. W. Steel, city san-

Overwhelming Majority of Collegians Advocate a General College Education

By Student Opinion Surveys of America

If American students could plan the course of study for the nation's colleges and universities, an overwhelming majority would prescribe wide cultural background, the Student Opinion Surveys of America find in their latest national poll of campus thought.

Only 17 per cent of the country's collegians believe that higher education should be mainly technical and professional training. The rest say they prefer a curriculum that will embrace a general education rather than one that will produce men and women primarily skilled in the trades and the professions. But 37 per cent of this last group make it clear that their choice is the school that presents a blending of the two extremes.

Since the weekly polls of the Surveys are all based on a coast-to-coast sampling determined from actual enrollments, these results represent the opinions of the million and a half students in all kinds of colleges, both technical and otherwise. The Surveys are conducted in cooperation with The Battalion and nearly 150 other campus publications. Headquarters are at the University of Texas, Austin.

Last month Brooklyn College inaugurated a new president, Harry D. Gideonse, who once quit a University of Chicago professorship after much argument with Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, chief U. S. exponent of classical education. Declared Dr. Gideonse at his installation: "No college can live by training the mind alone. Talent must now be shifted from sheer cultivation of intellectual virtues to education for the whole man, for men as 'knowers and doers and appreciators'."

A surprisingly large number would agree with Dr. Hutchins—but there is also a large group that believes college is the place to train both "knowers" and "doers." The results of the poll are:

College Education Should—
Be mainly technical and professional, 17 per cent.

Emphasize a wide cultural background, 46 per cent.

Include both, 37 per cent.

Sentiment for professional training is least popular with New England students (7), and most in favor with Far Westerners (4%). All other sections of the country agree almost exactly with national student opinion as shown above.

Noted Australian Scientist Addresses Nutrition Seminar

Dr. A. W. Pierce from the Nutrition Laboratory, Adelaide, South Australia, addressed the animal nutrition seminar at A. & M. Thursday night.

Dr. Pierce, whose investigations in animal nutrition are well known, discussed some of his studies on phosphorus metabolism, the role of cobalt in nutrition, and the toxicity of fluorine. For the past several months Dr. Pierce has been visiting outstanding research institutions in the United States.

Democracy Should Begin In College, Says Educator

"In America we talk much about democracy, but I am convinced that unless we give our students practice in democratic self-government through the management of their own affairs in college, they cannot be expected to practice democracy when they take their places in the community." Hamilton College's President Cowley urges U. S. higher education to promote the teaching of the nature of leadership.

The best castanets are made of only two or three types of wood, and must be hand-carved in a specific shape to bring out the best tones.

TALKS BY ELLIOT TO BE MADE HERE ARE ANNOUNCED

A. J. "Dad" Elliott, former All-American football player (Northwestern) and for many years the secretary of the central region of the Student Y. M. C. A. will speak Sunday at 11 a. m. in the College Station Baptist Church on "The Roots of the Christian Religion."

Monday evening he will speak to the organization commanders at their banquet on the subject of "Leadership."

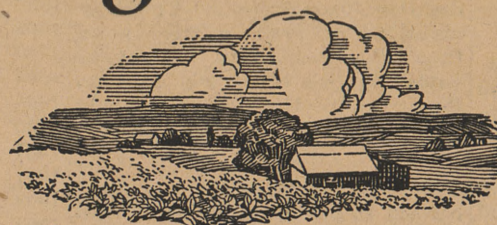

"Men and Women" will be the title of the address by Elliott to the public in Guion Hall Tuesday evening at 7 p. m.

Wednesday at 7 p. m. he will talk on the subject of "Clarifying Objectives." This is a special meeting to all cabinets, however, the public is invited.

Thursday at 1 p. m., in Guion Hall, Elliott will speak on the "Road to Reality." The public is invited.

There's No Great Mystery about Cigarette Tobaccos

THERE ARE FOUR TYPES of tobaccos found in the more popular cigarettes, namely... Bright, Maryland, Burley and Turkish.

ALL THESE TOBACCOS except Turkish (which is bought direct from the planters in Turkey and Greece) and Maryland (which is bought through sealed bids under government supervision) are bought at public auction, just like any other auction where you might have bought in a table or a chair.

AT THE AUCTION SALE the tobacco is piled in baskets weighing from about 100 to 500 pounds and each purchaser buys all of his tobaccos by competitive bidding for the particular piles he wants.

THE CHESTERFIELD BUYERS buy the best of these mild ripe tobaccos for the Chesterfield blend. And it is Chesterfield's Combination... the right amounts of Burley and Bright... just enough Maryland... and just enough Turkish—that makes the big difference between Chesterfield and other cigarettes.

IT IS BECAUSE of this combination that Chesterfields are COOLER, have a BETTER TASTE and are DEFINITELY Milder. They are made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos. You can't buy a better cigarette.
