Hitch-Hiker

Angeles, his rides were with a lumberman and a newsreel cameraman.

Keys remained in Los Angeles several hours. Leaving Los Angeles he caught many short rides, most of them with truck drivers. It was in Cutter, Arizona, that he had his longest wait of the entire cross-country.. jaunt...two hours. Temporarily giving up, Keys went to a wayside cafe and bought his dinner, but this was no sooner done than an architect offered him a ride to El Paso. He jumped at the chance to leave Cutter and left his unfinished dinner to proceed on the last lap of his return trip. It was Saturday afternoon, July 8 at 5 p. m. when Keys finally drove over Texas soil once again.

Around the nation in two weeks... The Texan was now ready for much needed sleep and took advantage of his journey's end by spending eighteen hours catching up on sleep lost at a hundred different places throughout the United States. Truly an All-American hitch-hiker, if ever there was one, the Texas Aggie had proved that his National College-University Travel

Club was successful... That his reflector signs were effective in securing rides day and night... And, finally, that states with laws making hitch-hiking illegal had no recourse against his system of sitting at the side of the road and holding up to passing motorists a reflecting sign indicating the name of the town to which he wished a ride.

Next time: Conclusion... Proofs of his record-making trip and highlights of the National College-University Travel Club.

Cornell, the unbeaten and probable champion of the Ivy League, with the odds heavily stacked against her, upset Ohio State, possible Big Ten champion. Therefore, those of us on the production staff, who were responsible for picking the college that should receive the palms on November 2nd, chose the boys from Cornell for their work on the gridiron on the particular Saturday preceding the broadcast. Up to November 2nd, you people had beaten Oklahoma, Centenary, Santa Clara, Villanova, T. C. U. and Baylor. But we're so used to having Texas

Zoning Committee

business district was received signed by students of the project houses.
The commission did not zone either of these areas for the following reasons:
1. There is an over supply of business frontage already partial-business frontage already partially developed.
2. It would be better to have a concentrated business area with shopping centers than a diffusion of stores.
3. To avoid encroaching business zones upon those not desiring them and to cause business to develop in a place where there are people who desire and expect it.
4. Establishment of business districts in areas not served by an eight inch water main would penalize the whole city by increasing fire insurance rates.
The zone for dwelling areas set aside one district for apartment houses and one for homes.
The subject of a franchise to the telephone company to legally operate in College Station was considered. This subject will be taken up again later and the date announced so that the student appointed by the Welfare Committee might attend.
Attention was called to the fact that city taxes are due on or before the 15th of December. The City Council asks that taxpayers meet payments as soon as possible since operations are being carried on with borrowed capital.

Song Suggested for Thanksgiving Use

Following are the words of the song "God Bless America."
One of the larger colleges of this country used this song on Armistice Day, with the band playing the music and the entire student body singing. The song, which proved quite effective, has been suggested by a number of people for use at A. & M. on Thanksgiving Day.
The song is indeed appropriate for such an occasion, and The Battalion prints the words with the suggestion that the song be used at that time.

"GOD BLESS AMERICA"
God bless America, land that I love.
Stand beside her and guide her
Through the night, with the light from above.
From the mountain to the prairie,
O'er the ocean white with foam,
God bless America, my native home.

Campus Study Club Members Hold Meet

The Campus Study Club met recently in the Mess Hall Annex. Mrs. L. M. Haupt presided over the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Rogers. Mrs. John Ashton, chairman of the education committee, presented a report on trends in modern education. She spoke particularly of the work of President Hutchins of the University of Chicago.
Following the business meeting, an interesting program was presented. Mrs. T. R. Freeman was hostess and presented the ladies who took part in the program. Mrs. J. R. Ketchersid reviewed the book "Sherwood of Wood" by Malcolm H. Sherwood. She titled her talk "From Forest to Furniture."
Mr. Sherwood has worked with trees, wood, and furniture for many years. His book is profusely illustrated with photographs of logging and transportation methods. The book is divided into two sections. The first deals with the story of each particular wood, treating first with those found in America, followed by those of Europe, Africa, South America, and the Orient. The second section of the book concerns the little known physical properties of wood and anecdotes concerning wood. It describes the manufacture of veneers and plywoods. Many interesting facts concerning the historical use of veneers are given.
Mrs. L. S. Payne discussed parliamentary procedure with the group. The constitution of the club was read and all points about which there was any question were discussed.

Unexpected Guest

stammering, and wild gesticulating, Mr. Droomenheimer told of conditions in "Der Federland" and presented the German viewpoint. The room actually shook with suppressed laughter. Occasionally someone, not being able to control himself any longer, would burst out in laughter, to the apparent chagrin of Mr. Droomenheimer.
Mr. Droomenheimer then walked to the front of the room, ceased stuttering, and was introduced as "Dutch" Hohn, whereupon he gave the club a very interesting talk on conditions in Europe today.
For those who don't remember, Caesar Hohn, much better known as "Dutch," was captain of the Aggie football team of 1911, and one of the all-time Aggie grid-ders. He worked around Brenham for many years, and in Houston for a time, in soil conservation work, and returned to College Station a few years ago. He is now specialist in soil and water conservation for the Texas Extension Service stationed here. "Dutch" has addressed midnight yell practices of the Aggie corps on several occasions.
Just before the club meeting was adjourned, John Rosser, the new manager of radio station WTAW, wandered in and was asked to speak. Upon being informed that he was before the Marketing and Finance Club, he declared that he was in favor of marketing and finance, and sat down without further ado.
The meeting was adjourned before any further humor could get started.
