It is contemplated that these men will be selected from those students who will be unable to return for the second semester because of financial difficulties. As this work will probably last until September, 1940, this is a splendid opportunity and I am anxious to secure the names of fifteen to twenty qualified applicants by Wednesday, please report as soon as possible to the Student Employment Office, Room 215, Administration Building.

 tractive displays was the exhibit of nuts grown in Texas and other states. The pecans shown included such popular varieties as Burkett, San Saba Improved, Texas Prolific, and Kincaid which were grown in Texas. Also shown were some high quality walnuts and almonds grown in California. A very interesting item was the exhibit of pecan oil and pecan cake from which the oil was processed. In connection with the pecan exhibit a pecan cracker was shown and demonstrated.

An outstanding sidelight of the show was the barrel of Arkansas Cider which was sold at five cents a glass to show visitors.

The fruits and other products for the show were donated by well-known Rio Grande Valley growers and various other Texas farmers. Most of the nuts, fruits, and vegetables were sold by the end of the show Tuesday evening. The receipts from these sales will be used by the Horticulture seniors to finance an inspection trip through the winter gardens of the Rio Grande Valley and other parts of Texas.

According to the announcement made by Mr. Simpson the work will start February 1, 1940 and will be a splendid opportunity for those students who will not be able to return for the second semester. He also stated that either juniors or seniors were preferred for the work.

All applications for this work must be in the Student Employment Office before the Christmas holidays so that sufficient time will be allowed for examination of applications and the selection of the required personnel.

New Dorms

 be open to general traffic.

At the present time 60 W.P.A. workers are engaged in filling the ravine northwest of the dorms so that the proposed street and landscaping plans can be carried on in this area. The gully will not be filled to the level of the campus proper but will form a gentle slope to aid drainage and harmonize with the landscaping.

Shrubs and trees will be planted just as soon as the proper beds can be built. Construction of beds has already been started on dorm 5 and will start on the other buildings in the near future. In addition, extensive plans have been made for hedges to be planted at different points in the entire area.

Hedges have already been planted at the front entrance to the dorms and more will be planted just as soon as they are available. The front entrance of the dormitories will be landscaped in a modified form to that of the front entrance of the Administration building.

Recreation grounds will be located to the north of dorms 3, 5, and 7, and will be big enough for a full sized football field in addition to room for other sports. The entire landscaping plan for the area carries a simplicity note so that as much room as possible can be provided for the students and so that convenient means of access can be provided in all directions from the dormitories.

60 Students Join Agronomy Society

A special meeting of the Agronomy Society was called Tuesday night for the purpose of initiating sixty new members into the club. This was one of the largest groups initiated at one time in the history of the Society. Following the initiation of the new members, the 1939 Crops Team gave a report on the recent inspection trip to Chicago. The members of the team were L. L. Jacobs, E. J. Guilloud, C. G. Powell, and C. G. Ward, all of whom gave reports of individual experiences on the trip. The team's coach was R. C. Potts of the Agronomy Department. After these reports had been made hot chocolate and cookies were served. It was announced that many other entertaining programs have been arranged for future meetings.

Mrs. Florence Miller, Denver marriage-license clerk, looked at the man in amazement when he asked for a license to wed his present wife. "I want to get a license in each of the forty-eight states and marry her forty-eight times," he explained.

Through no fault of his cousin, Eloy Valcarel of Lagos, Spain, is still alive. Jose Marcos enticed Eloy to a lonely spot, shot him through the head, but as he did not die, threw him over a precipice, rolled boulders down on him, and finally fired more shots into his body.

T. C. U. Will Make Strong Bid For Basketball Flag

Texas Christian University won the Southwest Conference basketball championship in 1934—and has won exactly six conference games in the five seasons since then.

This year Coach Mike Brumbelow is firm in his belief that the Frogs will surrender the cellar spot to some other member.

"We have some boys who can hit the bucket this year, and we ought to be able to convert some of those 2-point losses into victories," he points out.

Coach Brumbelow has 16 players on his squad, the largest number in years. Right now he is planning to use a two-team system, as he has two combinations of about equal strength.

The Frogs went into competition for the first time last Saturday night in Commerce, against the strong East Texas Teachers five.

The Centenary Gentlemen will furnish the opposition for a pair of games in Shreveport December 15 and 16. Denton Teachers will be played in Fort Worth December 18. During the Christmas holidays the Frogs will compete in the cage tournament in Oklahoma City.

Their conference season will open January 5 against Rice in Houston.

When Mrs. Alton Jordan attempted to draw a pail of water from a well near her North Carolina home, she became faint and toppled in. During the 45 minutes elapsing before she was rescued, a fine healthy son was born under water. He owes his life to the fact that he did not begin breathing for some time after birth. He holds the distinction of being the only person living known to have been born at the bottom of a well.
