

Aggies Defeat S.M.U. 51-49, Play Owls Tonight

Aggies of 1940 Are Tennessee Vols Of 1939, Say Many Sports Writers Now

Many of the sports writers of this part of the country are calling the cadets the "Texas Volunteers." They say that the Aggies will play only one big game next fall and that will be against U. C. L. A.

It is true that at this time the Aggies have only eight games on their schedule and have an open date right at the start. That open date will be filled if a good team can be scheduled and the Aggies will not have to travel to Germany, Russia or Boston.

Some are griping about the Aggies passing up Ohio State. It so happens that the Aggies wanted that game, but the only date they could get was the week before they play U. C. L. A. The UCLAN game had already been scheduled and nothing could be done about

Ohio People Did Not Want Any of Aggies; We Want None of Their 13 Below Zero, Either

"Not that I'm one to run from an argument or battle, but it is my idea that Ohio State will be biting off a little more than it can handle if plans for a football game with Texas Aggies' powerful grid-ders materialize.

"It isn't the mere scheduling of the Aggies that leads to this deduction, but substituting the hard-bitten Texans for the faded Maroons of Chicago on a schedule already overrun with major assignments is like dropping your guard in a battle royal—you're likely to get clipped badly from any direction.

"The Aggies proved their prowess in 11 games last season and they stand to be tougher next season, having all but two of their regulars back again—and numbered among the returning boys is Jarring Kimbrough, the likes of whom football has had no tougher. . . . The Aggies would draw a capacity throng, no doubt. But one wouldn't like to feel that the

Game Is Marked By Numerous Called Fouls

Coach Hub McQuillan's surprising Aggies turned over the apple cart again Saturday night when they outlasted the S. M. U. Mustangs in a close battle that ended with the cadets on the long end of a 51 to 49 count.

It was a thriller all the way. The lead changed hands nine times and the score was tied seven times. With the exception of Virgil "Country" Wilkerson who collected 20 points, the Mustangs had a purely defensive team only, and it was not so hot on defense that night. Our memory may have slipped, but we do not recall an A. & M. team ever scoring 51 points against a conference team. That is, in recent years.

The fray was rough and each team drew 19 fouls. Dawson and Tinker of the Aggies and Coppedge and Sprague of the Ponies were banished for too many fouls. Even so the officials were too lax in calling fouls. Sears and Bushman called a poor game, according to most of the spectators.

The Aggies led 25 to 22 at the half. During the second half the Ponies took the lead, but with three minutes to go Henderson made a gift toss and the cadets were never headed, although it took a couple of quick shots by Tinker and Smith to keep them on top.

Aggie Sophomore Stars

Henderson Stevenson

Left to right: Charlie Stevenson and Bill "Jitterbug" Henderson, two sophomores who have added lots of spark to the Cadet cagers. Stevenson came to the Aggies as a baseball pitcher and gets in shape by playing some pretty fair basketball.

Henderson is a tall slender former All-State basketball player who is third in the average point making this season at this time. He has averaged 12 points in all conference frays.

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

By HUB JOHNSON

Snow-bound in the Aggie way was the justified cause of postponing many of the scheduled games yesterday and yet many boys were seen snapping pictures from one end of the white campus to the other.

Handball was the leading sport for the latter part of the week for the Class A bracket and ping-pong for the fish.

C Coast Artillery defeated K Infantry 3 to 0 to tie up their league "three ways." 2nd Headquarters Field Artillery, led by John Yowell, John Muse, Doc Robrecht, Dick Phillips, and Johnnie Ragland now play the Coast team in the first game of the play-off series.

The winner will play A Chemical Warfare to decide the league's representative in the final play-offs.

The call for Class A entries has been given for volley ball and horse shoes as well as for Class B handball and horse shoes. These are due Friday, January 26, and games will begin after mid-term.

Horse shoes for campus practice can be had at the office by the team managers.

Wrestling will make its appearance next month so now is the time to lay off all that "stuff" that might be a handicap.

In other handball games the latter part of last week, Battery D and 2nd Combat Train Field Artillery added another notch to the record as their feud became the spark of the handball game in which D defeated the train 3 to 0; 3rd Headquarters Field Artillery fell to C Engineers 2 to 1; and A Infantry turned back Headquarters Cavalry 2 to 1.

The Class B swimming meet, held back in November, gave many a boy the idea of trying for the "fish" squad. They are working out daily at the pool between 4 and 5 o'clock. Any others who are interested are asked to come on down.

Big business has at last invaded the realm of collegiate party-throwing. A University of Detroit student has organized "Parties, Inc.,"—and the new firm will guarantee the success of any social function from a hayride to a wedding.

But the company—wise—will have nothing to do with your escort for the evening. You'll have to take care of that little matter without the firm's expert advice!

The average large U. S. university has two and a half non-academic employees for every member of its teaching staff.

Aggies Take On Injured Owl Club In Bayou City Tonight

Will Attempt to Avenge Defeat at Hands of Rice Quintet Thursday; Carswell, Steakly May Not Play

Twelve basketball players and two sports writers left here this morning for Houston where the Aggie cagers will meet the high-flying Owls tonight at 8 p. m.

They left in three cars and will get a glimpse of lots of snow and dangerous roads before getting to the Bayou City.

Rice may not be in top playing shape tonight as Carswell is still suffering from a bad ankle and Ike Steakley is fighting an attack of flu. The loss of these two boys will handicap the Owls, but it is not certain that they are out of the fray.

The Owls have already proved to the cadets that they cannot be checked over the whole floor. Last week the Aggies tried that and saw the Birds fly by them to drop the ball in for "buckets."

A. & M. has been improving in offense and if they can get to hitting some more of their free tosses they will have a hard club to beat. Woody Varner is improving his shooting and can be depended on for a few points each game now. At the start of the season, the captain was a defensive man pure and simple. He hit for seven points against the Ponies.

Jude Smith, Tom Tinker, "Big Dog" Dawson and Charlie Stevenson are aiding Bill Henderson in the point making and are pulling some of the defense away from the lanky "Jitterbug."

"The Little Men Who Weren't There" Will Be There Next Time

(ACP) It seems "The Little Man Who Wasn't There" is here and here to stay—at least if Shikey Bard has anything to say about it. While busy engaged in research for a term paper in history at Yeshiva College, Bard noticed in the text which he was using that Napoleon had nothing on him—as far as height is concerned. Going back to the original sources, Shikey found in a text that not only he and Napoleon but neither John Paul Jones, Chopin, Beethoven, Keats, Milton nor Michelangelo were around when the extra inches were handed out. Having thus justified the existence of his microscopic brethren, Bard has assumed the task of organizing these concentrated dynamo into one organization. The main purpose of this society is to insure the little fellows protection from being trampled under-foot.

This "fraternity of the Little Fellow," as it has been named, has for its raison d'etre the fact that the world which has had quantity for its standard must in the near future seek a new norm of quality. And who is a better representative of this new concept than the "Little Fellow," says Bard. The "Little Man Who Wasn't There" has sent a call to colors to all collegians who have stature not exceeding 5 feet 4. Bard hopes that since all "Little Fellows" are close to the ground they will be able to create a saner society, for unlike their long-legged brothers they will create conceptions which are "down to earth."

TEXAS OIL NEWS

One-sixth of Texas' population depends upon oil for a livelihood. In 1938, Texas oil producers, according to state records, paid $44,000,000 in state and local taxes, divided: gross production tax, $15,333,421; state regulatory tax, $892,862; state franchise, gross receipts, social security, permits, car and truck licenses and gasoline taxes paid by the industry on gasoline used by its own vehicles, $3,432,625; state ad valorem taxes, $4,886,380.

Texas' annual oil pay roll totals $230,000,000. To the above add $19,545,520 of ad valorem taxes paid to local subdivisions of Texas empowered to levy taxes, making the total $44,090,808. Dividing this amount by 476,000,000 barrels of oil produced in 1938 gives an average tax of 9.3 cents a barrel. Projected 1939 taxes, it is estimated, for both state and local divisions, will average some 9.8 cents a barrel.
