WATER-POLO SEMI-FINALS UNDER WAY

Four of the five contenders for the class A Intramural water-polo championship will be thrashing it out in the two games at the pool this afternoon at 4:45 and 5:00. Battery "F" Field Artillery will enter the quarter-finals trying to keep their unscored on record out of reach of the boys from "A" Chem Warfare. The winner of this clash will enter the semi-final fray against "E" F. A.

The second game of the afternoon will be between the 3rd Combat Train Field Artillery and "B" Coast Artillery to decide who is to represent their end of the bracket in the final go-round.

With the water polo section of the intramural schedule coming to a close, the competition is getting pretty keen and we should see some mighty fast action and plenty of water swallowing in the ole swimmin' hole today.

Judging Contest—

In order to be eligible for the contest, which is an annual event sponsored by the Saddle and Sirlin Club, the student had to be in the upper 25 per cent of his class in freshman animal husbandry.

Each contestant was required to place two classes each of cattle, horses, sheep and hogs, and to give reasons on one class of each type of livestock. Members of the Senior Livestock Judging Team chose the classes, made the placings, and in addition graded the reasons given by each contestant.

Frank Corder and Bob Evans, seniors of the Saddle and Sirlin Club, were managers of the contest.

J. M. Jones—

a post as animal husbandryman at the New Hampshire Experiment Station in 1912. Two years later he came to Texas A. & M. and was made chief of the division in 1919.

His training has ranged from abstract theory to concrete practice. He spent 1908-09 ranching in Wyoming. He has served as judge at leading livestock shows and has worked constantly for the improvement of range animals in the Southwest.

Among his accomplishments are these: he assisted in establishing a ranch experiment station near Sonora and a wool-scouring plant at A. & M. in 1919; and he has established breeding investigations for sheep, goats, and cattle, also lamb and cattle feeding and fattening investigations at ranch experiment stations.

In 1937 he undertook a range cattle mineral feeding test near Falfurrias with the cooperation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the King Ranch, and A. & M. College. The investigation has created wide interest among cattlemen of the state.

Jones' other activities include: assistant chief clerk, Wyoming state senate in 1909; Lewis Penwell's Texas representative, wool division of the War Industries Board, 1918; member board of directors, Southwest Texas Farm Bureau, Wool and Mohair Marketing Association, 1921-24; member advisory committee, American Corriedale Registry Association for several years; member Chevron and Angora Goat Committee, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, 1939; director American Angora Goat Breeders Association, 1939; member American Association for Advancement of Science; member American Society for Animal Production; and member Moslah Shrine Temple, Fort Worth.

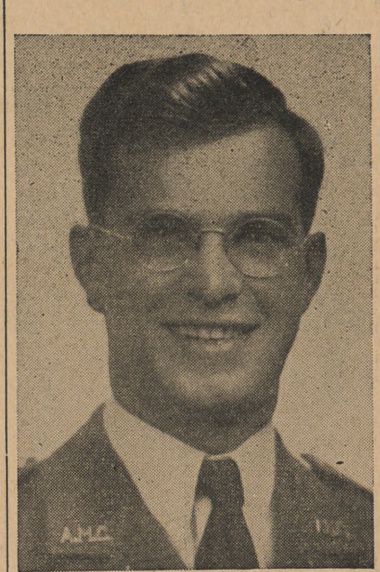

Jones believes that one of the outstanding contributions of the Southwestern Exposition has been the encouragement and opportunity given to youth of the state in feeding and showing livestock. He feels that 4-H and F.F.A. Club members should be encouraged because they will be adult showmen of tomorrow.

Ashburn's office, or tickets may be secured at Canady's Pharmacy in Bryan and at both the Aggie and Lipscomb's pharmacies on the campus. The cost is $1.00, and all students are urged to attend.

Columnist, Newscaster, and Junior Editor—That's George Fuermann

Editor's note: This is the fifth and concluding article in a series of features relating to Battalion columnists.

"South of the border, down Mexico way" almost applies to the Battalion's active junior editor, George Fuermann. Laredo is his home town, although George originally hailed from San Antonio where he lived until his parents moved to the border city two years ago. One of the newspaper's several junior editors, George also serves as junior editor of The Battalion Magazine.

One of the oldest members, in point of service, on The Battalion staff—he began late in his freshman year—George had newspaper experience before coming to A. & M., having formerly been employed by the San Antonio Express and Evening News. During his freshman and sophomore years George served as a Battalion reporter and during the summer of 1939 he was managing editor of The Summer Battalion.

George's newest activity is his service, beginning a month ago, as Battalion radio editor. His Friday afternoon newscasts, with associate radio editor C. A. Montgomery, represent The Battalion's most recent progressive step and are heard by 15,000 persons weekly.

Perhaps most of all, however, George is known as the writer of The Battalion's popular column, "Backwash." "Since I've been writing Backwash and doing radio work," George smilingly said,

Gladys Swarthout—

dule calls for solo appearances with such leading symphonic organizations as the Duluth Civic Symphony, Minneapolis Symphony, St. Louis Symphony, Kansas City Philharmonic. She will also give recitals in Louisville, Kentucky; Worcester, Massachusetts; Quebec, Canada, Springfield, Ohio; Evansville, Indiana; Appleton, Wisconsin; Ft. Wayne, Indiana; Topeka, Kansas; Tucson, Arizona; Lubbock, Texas; Mansfield, Ohio; and Utica, N. Y.

In addition to her New York Metropolitan Opera appearances, Miss Swarthout will also appear in recital on Town Hall in February. Radio engagements include four appearances as soloist on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour.

A musical highlight on Miss Swarthout's concert programs for the coming season will be the first performance anywhere of a group of songs of Auvergne expressly arranged for her by Cantsloupe. These have never been heard before in this country and had their premiere in the lovely diva's first concert of the season in Peoria, Illinois. Miss Swarthout was in constant communication with the music publishers in Paris for due to the war conditions existing abroad, the orchestras were held up. Arrangements were made to send the scores via clipper ship, since ship sailings were still somewhat uncertain. This was probably the first time that old French songs have been delivered by transatlantic clipper.

In a bull-session argument Lafayette College's Jack Hamilton bet he could walk 60 miles in 24 hours. He did—and collected nine bucks.

In filling out the applications, it is important that the first line should be listed "Junior Professional Assistant." The second line should name one of the twenty-eight options desired. The top of page four should read "Brazos County" as legal residence. For advice on the part concerning salary, students should consult the instructor in their major field. It is recommended for various reasons that $1,620 be listed. These questions and question 18D will be discussed by Teague on the 24th.

Applicants should leave their names at the office of the Dean of Agriculture in order that arrangements may be made for a room in which to hold the examination. It will be necessary for applicants to find out the exact date of the examination, which will be held the afternoon of the 24th or the morning of the 25th.

DR. WALTON AT LAND GRANT COLLEGE MEET

Dr. T. O. Walton left Tuesday for Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the executive committee of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, of which he is serving his third consecutive term as chairman.

We don't go in for exam boners very often, but this one from a Hillsdale College quiz contains more truth than boner: "A moron is a person with several husbands or wives, an insane sort of individual."
