Aggie Athletes Undergo Acid Test During Finals

The acid test for Aggie athletes will be in session all during the coming week and the pros will be the coaches in charge. Several of the promising freshman football stars are hanging by a thread in an effort to become eligible for the varsity team which begins in spring training the latter part of this month. As for the varsity players, they seem to be hanging on the ropes and are making a pretty fair stand against the on-ward rushes of final examinations.

But amid all the turmoil and excitement that usually accompanies final examination week, the Texas Aggie cagers still find time to go through their daily workouts with the same old pepper and zip. Finding themselves in the win column with more than two victories to their credit—something unusual for an Aggie cage team—they are not taking any chances of straying off form and are still having their workouts.

Sports Will Reawaken Following Exam Week

With the beginning of the second semester there comes an uprising of Aggie sports. Intramural activities enter into a new season. Spring football will find some 75 athletes striving to keep the glory that A. & M. gained this past season. And the Aggie cage squad will be writing finis to an already successful basketball schedule.

Sammy Dwyer Again To Be Eligible for Basketball

Also coming in with the arrival of the sports will be the addition of Sammy Dwyer who has been on the Dean's list but who is now in good grace again. Sammy, before he was declared ineligible last year, was the "guiding light" of the basketball team and was the sparkplug of the Aggie offense.

With Dwyer becoming eligible for the team Coach McQuillan's hopes of beating Texas this season do not look so dark. Sammy has a nice eye for the basket and is good at bringing the ball from in mid-court to take a crisp shot. He is also a star at "feeding" a teammate and he follows the ball like a hawk.

Intramural games as by the definition—games within walls—are a bit one-sided the later part of this week with the prof in front of the room usually on the top or favorite side.

Freshmen are again reminded that they must sign for Physical Education the second semester. If you are participating in a freshman sport or if you are taking part in intramural activities, you are still required to sign for the course.

With the last submitting of entry cards all organizations and the First Corps Headquarters entered teams in Class A horseshoes and volleyball and all organizations entered freshman teams in Class B horseshoes and speedball.

Bruins Prepared For Cage Contest With Horned Frogs

WACO, Feb. 2.—Clinging desperately to slim title hopes, the Bruins clash with the lowly T. C. U. Horned Frogs Saturday night in the first engagement of the season between the two teams.

Hopelessly entrenched in the cellar, the Toads will be fighting to salvage something from a disastrous season by knocking over one of the leaders and would like nothing better than to upset the Bruins, who last year made merry at the expense of a weak Frog team.

After a disappointing start which found the Bruins consecutive week-end upset victims of S. M. U. and A. & M., Coach Ralph Wolf's charges hit the comeback trail to triumph in four of five games, including two-game series with both Arkansas and Rice.

Tuesday night the Bears climaxed their sensational spurt toward the top with an overwhelming victory over the Aggies, scoring 68 points almost at will to 36 for the hopeless Aggies who had previously virtually eliminated the Bruins at College Station.

Perched at the top with only one loss are the University of Texas Longhorns. The Steers have one game remaining with Rice and two with Baylor as formidable foes in their quest for the championship.

Clinging to the runner-up spot with two losses are the Rice Owls, victims of Texas and Baylor. Looming as outstanding threat to the Owl title hopes are the Razorbacks who will invade Houston with title hopes despite three previous losses.

Although the Longhorns have the inside track for the title, a two-way tie is not impossible. Should Baylor win all of its remaining games and Arkansas defeat Rice the Bruins would finish the season in a two-way tie with either Texas or Rice.

American Youth Orchestra To Be Professional Body

The All-American Youth Orchestra of 109 persons being recruited through the National Youth Administration's State office for Leopold Stokowski's Latin-American trip next summer, will be a paid, professional organization, according to a message received today from Mr. Stokowski.

The famed orchestra leader advised N.Y.A. administrator Aubrey Williams that he plans to continue the orchestra after its planned two or three months' "good will" tour to South and Central America, replenishing it yearly with new youthful talent, and providing a degree of recognition for the orchestra that may make it almost a "musical Olympics".

The 51 state offices of the N. Y. A. are still receiving applications in large numbers, and preliminary auditions have already begun in several states to select the best musicians. Applications will be received up to February 15, from young people, N.Y.A. or non-N.Y.A., about 15 to 25 years of age. Many thousands of applications have already been received.

Applications for membership in this group are on file in the Student Labor Office and open to any student of A. & M., student employment director Ormond R. Simpson has announced.

Municipal Engineering Department Will Offer New Courses Next Term

The department of Municipal and Sanitary Engineering has been authorized to repeat one undergraduate course in the second semester, MSE 406, Sanitation and Public Health. Three graduate courses will also be offered for the first time: MSE 509, "Industrial Hygiene" (2-2), three hours credit. This course deals with occupational hazards and diseases, industrial poisons and dusts, methods of air examination and factory sanitation; MSE 510, "Industrial Wastes" (2-0), two hours credit. This deals with amounts and characteristics of the commoner industrial wastes, their efforts upon sewage treatment problems and methods of treatment; and MSE 511, "Public Administration and Epidemiology," (4-0), credit four hours, this course covers the organization and functions of federal, state, county and city health departments and the principles of epidemiology.

Aggies Will Play Seven Home Games

Schedule of Pre-Season Games Not Yet Completed

Baseball, America's greatest game, made its first pre-season move here yesterday as the Athletic Office announced the official Southwest Conference Schedule for 1940 for the Aggies.

Eight road games and seven home games go to make up the hard assignment before Coach Marty Karow and his boys.

Rice Institute heads the list of opponents for the cadets, playing here March 29 and 30, and the University of Texas as in the past is scheduled for the season closer.

Pre-season games have not been announced as all games planned have not been officially scheduled.

A Southwest Conference rule states that baseball practice can not begin before March 1 but it is believed that the date will find the Aggie squad on the field rounding back into shape.

The following is the schedule as released:

- March 29-30—Rice, here.
- April 4-5—Texas Christian, here.
- April 11-12—Southern Methodist, Dallas.
- April 13—Texas Christian, Fort Worth.
- April 16—Rice, Houston.
- April 20—Texas, here.
- April 26-27—Baylor, Waco.
- May 4—Southern Methodist, here.
- May 11—Baylor, here.
- May 17-18—Texas, Austin.

Oklahoma Aggies Have Outstanding Basketball Record

STILLWATER, Okla.—Most remarkable characteristic of Coach Henry Iba's Oklahoma Aggies this season is their ability to win on the road, a performance that stamps the 1939-40 Oklahoma A. & M. College varsity as the greatest college basketball team turned out in Oklahoma during the last decade and gains it second ranking in the nation at present.

The Aggies to date have won all but one of 16 games, and 13 of these 16 games were played on foreign courts. Oddly enough, the only contest lost by the team was played away from home, a 30-34 decision to the University of Kansas at Lawrence.

Since that loss to the Jayhawkers early in the season, the Aggies have won 12 games on the road and three at home. The away-from-home record includes an impressive list of victims, beginning with a sweep of five games during a tour east in December with victories over City College of New York, La Salle College of Philadelphia, Duke University, George Washington and Loyola University of Chicago.

Then, the Aggies bowled over four stiff opponents at Oklahoma City, Texas Christian, Southeastern (Okla.) Teachers, University of Arkansas and Texas Tech, to gain the Oklahoma invitational tourney championship.

Just recently A. & M. downed Drake University at Des Moines, Creighton University at Omaha and Washburn College at Topeka to take over undisputed leadership in the Missouri Valley conference as the only unbeaten member in the league.

In winning 15 straight games from New York City to Omaha, Nebraska, the Aggies have bowled along with an offense averaging 37 points a game while holding opponents to an average of 26 points a game. Point total are 588 for A. & M. to 422 for their opponents.
