ENGLISH CONTEST
 For the encouragement of superior work in English, Dr. F. M. Law, President of the Board of Directors, is again offering two cash prizes ($20 and $5), to be awarded on the basis of a competitive examination to be given late in April or early in May. Conditions of eligibility are as follows: grade A in English 103 and Distinguished Student rating, first semester; grade A or B in English 104 in April 1, and satisfactory oral work in the same course in April 15.
 Mr. William Morris of Dallas, an alumnus who knows the value of good English, is once more offering cash prizes ($20 and $5) for the purpose of encouraging good work in our sophomore courses. Conditions of eligibility are as follows: grade A in English 203 or 231 and Distinguished Student rating, first semester; grade A or B in English 207, 210, or 232 in April 1 of the current semester, and grade A on any course paper or book review that may be required in the Sophomore course the student concerned is now taking. If a student otherwise eligible did not take an English course in the first semester, the grade of the last previous college course in English will count. Students who were allowed to substitute English 323 or other courses for the work usually required may count the elective course as an equivalent so far as the English Contest is concerned. Students who are so far eligible are asked to give their names promptly to their teachers in order that projects for required papers may be promptly approved.

Candidates—

much energy to the extensive study of books dealing with the problems of publishing a newspaper.

It is true that my name has not often been attached to articles appearing in The Battalion. But I have been working for the good of the newspaper rather than aiming at personal publicity. For you have read numerous of my articles without knowing their author—articles of which I have kept records that may be seen by those interested.

I feel entirely capable of filling the position of editor to the utmost good of the school. And having a 2.13 grade point average with no grade less than "C," I shall not be hampered in my duties by scholastic difficulties.

Until Tuesday night's yell practice when I shall present my plans for next year's Battalion, I will deeply appreciate your consideration and support of me for your next Battalion editor.

A. J. ROBINSON.

STATEMENT BY BING

For Junior Representative
 In seeking the office of junior class representative on the Student Publications Board I am fully aware of the responsibilities that office holds. However, with my experience on the publications and my knowledge of problems that continually confront them, I believe that I am well qualified to serve in that capacity.

If the student body sees fit to put me in office, I shall do everything in my power to improve the existing conditions of the student publications, since I am primarily interested in seeing that all campus organizations, whether they be large or small, have ready access to the columns of the press.

ROLAND BING.

STATEMENT BY GILLIS

For Junior Representative
 On the Student Publications Board, the students' representatives must present vigorous and firm support to all policies and plans which will benefit the students of A. & M. College. By using sound judgment based on experience in working on publications, I will extend my energies toward making our student publication policies truly representative for the greatest good of our school, and help formulate such policies as will benefit both the student publications and the students.

TOM GILLIS.

FOUND—The Registrar's Office has in its possession a sweater lost by an Aggie who lives at Ardmore, Oklahoma. The sweater was left in the car of M. Baker of Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, when he took the Aggie from Denton to Ardmore at the beginning of the Easter holidays. Owner may obtain sweater by calling at Registrar's Office and identifying it.

Election—

Said George when he learned of his disqualifications:

"I feared it was coming. I realize now that I was careless in cutting classes to work on The Battalion, because it lowered my grade-point average too much. But there's nothing to do now except to be a good sport and hope that I can work in some position on The Battalion next term."

Bob Nisbet and Robinson have been active as junior editors of The Battalion newspaper and magazine this year. Both have been news and feature writers for the newspaper and short-story writers for both publications. Nisbet's work has also included the "Movie Review" column for the newspaper and magazine.

At the Publications Board meeting Thursday, Bill Murray, Battalion editor, moved that the election rules which state that The Battalion editor shall supervise the election, be amended so that the Student Election Committee might be in complete charge.

This amendment was adopted, and it is now the rule that the Student Election Committee will have supervision over this forthcoming general election (Wednesday) as well as over all other elections of the student body. Arrangements for the election will be made by the committee, and any question or protest that may arise at any time regarding politics and elections should be brought before it.

The Student Election Committee will hold an important meeting to consider the methods for holding the election, Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the Administration Building, chairman D. B. "Woody" Varner has announced.

This committee each year is composed of the cadet colonel as chairman, the president of the senior class, the vice-president of each of the four classes, the manager of student activities (E. L. Angell), and the Registrar (E. J. Howell), with Dean Bolton as adviser.

Purpose of the committee is "to provide a definite plan under which the student body may conduct its elections and especially to provide a recognized method of supervising elections, settling questions and appeals arising in connection with them."

Following this committee meeting a drawing will be held in The Battalion Office, at 5:00 Monday, to determine the order of the candidates on the ballot.

All candidates are asked to be present or send representatives.

A number of other questions of importance were brought up at the Publications Board meeting Thursday. The board adopted the

Housing Authority Lectures to Students

The Department of Architecture is sponsoring a series of lectures by Langdon Post, national housing authority this week. His first lecture was given yesterday and the second will be given this morning.

Mr. Post was formerly Tenement House Commissioner of New York City and chairman of the New York City Housing Authority, and is the author of "The Challenge of Housing", which is one of the most significant of the recent books on housing. He is now traveling through Texas for a series of lectures and conferences with local housing authorities.

Friday morning Mr. Post conferred with the fifth-year architecture students who are now making a study of housing for Bryan. Friday afternoon he delivered a lecture in the Department of Architecture, and last night he gave a public lecture sponsored by the Brazos County Young Men's Civic League.

This morning Mr. Post will speak to several groups of students including Professor E. W. Steel's classes in City Management.

Life Saving Classes Begin Monday Night

Starting Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. classes in life saving will start, according to information released by swimming coach, Art Adamson.

Nicky Pontieux will be in charge of the class and at the first meeting it will be decided just when the remainder of the classes will meet.

The inspector from the Red Cross will be here about April 20 and will give the final test for life saving badges.

It is planned that the classes will last about an hour and a half at night.

Anyone over 17 years of age may enter and be eligible to take the tests.

recommendations of the various editors for awards which will be made to staff members at the annual Press Club Banquet in May.

Every member of the board was present, including Dean Bolton, chairman; E. L. Angell, student publications manager; Professor George Wilcox, and Colonel Ike Ashburn; and George Smith, D. B. Varner, Bill Murray, Ernie Meynard, Mick Williams, and Paul Haines.

The faculty members of the board were enthusiastic in their praise of the work done by the various publications during the present session.

Water Supply—

ble is that it has no taste at all, and in comparison to the old water the taste is different. They forget how long it took them to "get used" to drinking the old water; it will take just about as long to get "unused" to drinking it.

Planning and speculation on the drilling of new wells and the purchasing of new water-supply equipment was started several years ago, but the actual job started December 28, 1938. Two concerns were awarded contracts for construction of the new system. The Texas Automatic Sprinkler Company of Dallas laid the lines and built the reservoirs, and the Layne-Texas Company of Houston had charge of drilling the wells. Approximately total cost amounted to $450,000, of which $200,000 was covered by a grant from the government.

The entire supply system comprises three deep wells and one test well, drilling 3,000 feet apart. They vary in depth from 400 to 600 feet deep. All four wells pump into a small reservoir at the site of the unit north of Bryan. The main reservoir is in the city of Bryan at the extreme north end of main street. This reservoir has a capacity of 3,250,000 gallons.

There are approximately 3,500 cubic yards of concrete in the two reservoirs, 12,000 cubic yards of structural excavation, and 629,000 pounds of reinforcing steel. But in the pipe lines there were required 125 tons of cast iron fittings.

The new water enters the college grounds near the present power plant through a Venturi meter and an automatic altitude valve. From there it is pumped into the elevated steel water tank to be distributed to various points in College Station.

In the last 19 years, the Rose Bowl football game has drawn a total gate of approximately $5,700,000. All when one notices that Bryan founding will be celebrated by the University of Chicago in 1941.

Poultry Majors To Visit South Texas

All seniors in poultry husbandry will tour South Texas March 30, 31 and April 1 on their annual inspection trip of hatcheries, broiler plants, breeders and processing plants. E. D. Parnell, associate professor of poultry husbandry, reports. The tour will take the group to Brenham, Luling, Flatonia, San Antonio, Cuero, Yoakum and other points of interest. Eleven boys will make the trip. Included in the group is George McCarthy, Extension Service poultryman.

The tour will include the famous broiler-producing area at Smiley; the breeding farm of W. A. Seidel, nationally-known white Leghorn breeder; and the Luling Foundation Farm.

Students making the tour are W. A. Boney, G. R. Davis, O. L. Davis, Bob Logan, Martie Lowry, Roy Mefford, Harold Melman, Earl Roesner, Fred Swallow, Alex Warren, and E. G. Zellers.
