General Election—

 in the election, provided he presents in person at the ballot box his yellow slip—his receipts for payment of fees for the second semester.

Following is a sample ballot, the names arranged according to the results of drawings for places held Monday afternoon in The Battalion Office:

SAMPLE BALLOT
 General Election
 For Editor of The Battalion:
 Bob Nisbet
 A. J. Robinson
 For Chief Yell-Leader:
 E. R. "Buster" Keeton
 C. J. "Foots" Bland
 For Junior Representative on the Student Publications Board:
 Tom Gillis
 Roland Bing.

The Student Election Committee with D. B. Varner as chairman, E. L. Angell, Max McCullar, Tom Gillis, Bill Guy and E. J. Howell, met Monday afternoon to discuss the elections which are to be held this spring.

It was decided the polls for the election of The Battalion editor, chief yell-leader, and junior representative on the Publications Board will open at 8 a. m. tomorrow and close at 5:30. The votes will be counted by a representative of the Student Election Committee and a representative of the Board of Publications with the candidates or their representatives present. Any appeal of the election must be made within forty-eight hours after the counting of the ballots, which will begin immediately after the closing of the polls.

A committee consisting of Max McCullar as chairman, Tom Gillis, Bill Guy, and Tom Richey was appointed to take action concerning the eligibility of candidates for the positions of Town Hall manager and social secretary of the senior class. The committee was also designated to work on a more favorable way of conducting elections of class officers.

It was decided that the junior yell-leader will be elected in the same manner that was used last year—by a meeting of the sophomore class to select and eliminate candidates. The valedictorian of the senior class will also be elected as previously. The Registrar's Office furnishes a list of the ten highest seniors from which the valedictorian is chosen by ballot of members of the senior class.

A committee from the Student Publications Board is now considering and drawing up rules and requirements for candidates for editorship of the Longhorn and the Scientific Review and for representatives on the Student Publications Board. These rules when adopted are to apply in future elections.

Farley Banquet—

 for bringing Daniel C. Roper, Secretary of Commerce, to A. & M. sometime ago.

A cavalry escort will meet the Farley automobile caravan at the main entrance to the campus where they will proceed to the drill field. General Farley will then be greeted by President T. O. Walton, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, and F. M. Law, president of the A. & M. Board of Directors.

Colonel George F. Moore and General Farley will then take their places in front of the reviewing stand, and the cadet corps with mounted units will pass in review. After passing in review the corps and regimental staffs will report to the reviewing stand in order to give General Farley an opportunity to meet some of the student body.

Following the review, scheduled for 5 P. M., General Farley will retire to the parlors of the A. & M. Board of Directors for a rest until 7 P. M. when he will be honored at the banquet to be held in the entire main room of Sbis Hall.

Invitations to sit at the speaker's table with General Farley and members of his party have been sent to all former governors of Texas, the A. & M. Board of Directors and a few others. Invitations have also been sent to several hundred leaders in the business, professional, and political life of Texas, to attend the review and banquet.

Members of the senior class will serve as dinner escorts to ladies of those dignitaries occupying the speaker's platform. Lieutenant Colonel Richard Dunn will conduct an orchestra selected from the A. & M. band during the dinner hour.

Following the dinner a representative of the football team will present General Farley with an appropriate gift as a token of ap-
