to center field and came in with the tying score when Rice made a sacrifice hit. Lindsey singled to right field and on the next go round, Kirkpatrick, batting for Lindsey, took first on a pitched hit to fill the bases. It was at this point that the runs really started coming in. The first one to cross the plate was Lindsey when Alsbrook took first on an error. Stone made the next tally by stealing home. The next two scores were made by Ballow and Kirkpatrick to bring the total for this inning to five. This run on runs brought the final score to 8-4 where it remained for the rest of the game.
The batteries for Friday's game were Duckworth, Crawford, Thompson pitching and R. Tankersley catching for T. C. U.; Bumpers, Peden pitching and Kirkpatrick catching for A. & M. Batteries for Thursday's game were Horner, Duckworth pitching and R. Tankersley catching for T. C. U.; Stevenson, Lindsey, Peden pitching and Doran catching for A. & M.

Dear Sir:
I am a young German emigrant who attended the American School in Berlin, and after passing my College Entrance Examination I originally intended to study Agriculture at one of the United States Colleges, but owing to our difficult situation I was not able to do so, and emigrated to Brazil two years ago. I worked on a farm in the interior of Brazil for a year, and am now studying agriculture at the above College. I talk German, English, French and Portuguese and would like very much to exchange correspondence with a boy or girl of about my age; I am 19; because I thought it might be interesting to some of your students how the life at a College like this, rather far off civilization is conducted, and at the same time I would like to know how it is at American Universities. I would be very much obliged to you if you could arrange this for me. Thanking you in advance, I am yours truly,
Peter Adler

hart, State Treasurer; State Senators Albert Stone and Penrose Metcalfe; State Representatives Price Daniel and Edward L. Vint; Ewell Nalle, Burris Jackson, and many other outstanding economic and political leaders.
Representatives of "Life" and "Time", national magazines, were present at the banquet to secure pictures and stories for their publications.
The entire program of the banquet was broadcast over College Station radio station WTAW by director John Rosser, for the benefit of thousands of students and other listeners in this area.
Entertainment was provided by the Singing Cadets under the direction of Professor J. J. Woolket, and a symphony orchestra led by Colonel Richard J. Dunn, composed of members from the Aggie Band and the Consolidated High School orchestra. Their selections were enthusiastically received by the entire audience.

The main text of Mr. Farley's speech follows:
"Let us get down to business at the outset. Let us start off with the honest concession that the young people of today, as well as the middle-aged and the elderly, are face to face with human realities never before known in the history of the world.
"It is to colleges like Texas A. & M. that we must look for leadership to show us the way in the current revolution of social and economic conditions. I am convinced I am positive, that you will not let us down. It is my firm conviction as I stand before you tonight, that the rising generation of stalwart young Americans will take over, preserve our democracy, and reach new heights in the solution of our national problems."
"Your business here is to make good, and tonight may I offer you the benefit of years of experience I have had in my particular field, to be accepted or rejected by you in your own good judgment, as a factor that will in some form or another enter your future endeavors, whether you like it or not."
"It is your present business to know something about American politics, and so I will address my remarks to you on this occasion as young business people.
"I am a politician, and am proud of being one. I am also a business man, and I am proud of that. But I do think it is fair to say—though politicians frequently do not say it—that in politics we probably have to take account, and do take account, of the views of business people perhaps even more than business people take account of political factors.
"I believe there is an opportunity for business people in public service, but I do not hold any hope for material reward, nor of any great reputation, as an incentive for anyone who enters politics as a profession.

"People ask for more business in government but just the same it is true that government is a great deal more efficient than many people suppose.
"The businessman's greatest asset is his reputation for keeping his engagements, and the greatest asset of the politician is that his word is one hundred percent good."
