ENGLISH CONTEST
 For the encouragement of superior work in English, Dr. F. M. Lew, President of the Board of Directors, is again offering two cash prizes ($20 and $5), to be awarded on the basis of a competitive examination to be given late in April or early in May. Conditions of eligibility are as follows: grade A in English 108 and Distinguished Student rating, first semester; grade A or B in English 104 to April 1, and satisfactory oral work in the same course to April 15.
 Mr. William Morris of Dallas, an alumnus who knows the value of good English, is once more offering cash prizes ($20 and $5) for the purpose of encouraging good work in our sophomore courses. Conditions of eligibility are as follows: grade A in English 208 or 231 and Distinguished Student rating, first semester; grade A or B in English 207, 210, or 232 to April 1 of the current semester, and grade A on any course paper or book reviewing that may be required in the Sophomore course the student concerned is not taking. If a student otherwise eligible did not take an English course in the first semester, the grade of the last previous college course in English will count. Students who were allowed to substitute English 323 or other courses for the work usually required may count the elective course as an equivalent so far as the English Contest is concerned. Students who are so far eligible are asked to give their names promptly to their teachers in order that projects for required papers may be promptly approved.

Army Officers—

 in the fall of 1935, pistol and rifle shooting were extra-mural sports. Under his leadership the Pistol team was organized and subsequently recognized as a minor sport by the Athletic Council. Its members were placed under the same scholastic requirements as the other recognized sports.
 Last year the pistol team won the National Inter-Collegiate championship and has to win only one more match this year to again lay claim to the title.

It is expected that Captain C. F. Burbach, F. A., U. S. A., will also conclude his duties here at the end of this semester but no definite information could be obtained at present.

Major Irvin, commanding officers of the Cavalry, has been transferred to Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, and Major Stickney, senior instructor in the Signal Corps, will be transferred to Fort Monmouth, Maryland, at the end of the semester.

 schools; and poultry is third with 110 schools competing. The winners of the dairy and livestock contests will represent the state of Texas in the national Smith-Hughes Contest that is to be held in Kansas City.

The boys who make the state judging contests are the winners in the area contests which are held throughout the state during early spring.

Approximately 400 teachers and 100 supervisors of vocational agriculture will accompany the boys and assist in handling the contests Monday.

The Senior Collegiate F. F. A. Chapter is sponsoring a series of entertainments for the contestants. At 7:30 Sunday, pictures of Aggie football games will be shown in the gymnasium; from 4 to 7 p. m. the swimming pool will be open to contestants, and a free show—"Goodbye Mr. Chips"—will be shown in the Assembly Hall at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

During the remainder of this school year, Mr. Neff will make a study of the present college curriculum and plan the courses and work of his new department. He was chosen by Dean Gilchrist from a number of prospects and his selection was a logical outcome of his outstanding record both as a student and in the field of industrial engineering.

Junior Election—

 and Town Hall manager will be the same as has been previously carried out this year, and registration slips for the second semester will have to be shown before the ballots will be accepted. The poll will be in the rotunda of the Academic building and will be open from eight until five-thirty.

The election of the two junior yells leaders will follow a more complicated system that was used and found successful last year. On the night of April 22 at seven o'clock in Guion Hall the sophomore class will meet to hear all candidates for yell-leader who qualified. By ballot the class will select six of the candidates whom they think are most capable of holding the position. Thursday night a joint meeting of the sophomore and junior classes will be held, and the six men named on Monday night will make appeals to both classes, following which both sophomores and juniors will take part in the voting to select the two men who will serve as next year's junior yell-leaders.

In announcing the names of the different candidates, the last issue of the Battalion, because of an oversight, omitted the name of A. E. "Buddy" White, G Infantry, as an aspirant for the position of junior yell leader.

Those whose names will be on the ballot Monday are as follows:

 Bill Becker, C Field Artillery
 Ele Baggett, B Infantry
