worked on the widely known King Bros. ranch at Laramie, Wyoming, and from there he went to spend some time in the sheep country of the Northwest. The summer of 1924 was spent with Dean Hill in wool work at the University of Wyoming. In the fall of 1925, on recommendation of Fred Marshall, secretary of the National Wool Growers Association, and Dean Hill, Mr. Mackey came to the Animal Husbandry Department here. Since that time he has been teaching and carrying on research work here. His teaching activity at A. & M. has been under D. W. Williams, head of the Animal Husbandry Department.

The appointment of Mr. Mackey as secretary of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association reflects the trust and confidence the ranchmen of West Texas have in him, since the Association is a powerful one both politically and economically in the state of Texas, and in the United States. But, to quote Mr. Mackey, "Gosh, I sure hate to leave the boys!"

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST KODAK SHOTS OF YEAR

Attention, all you camera fans. Here's the chance you've been waiting for. The Aggieldand Pharmacy has decided to hold a contest to find the best snapshot of the year, around the campus. Mr. Burtis has stated that should this contest be a success it will be made an annual affair.

The first prize of the contest will be a Univex Movie Camera. Three other prizes are offered.

The rules of the contest are simple: 1. The pictures must be no smaller than a four by five on glossy finish. 2. Must have been taken this year on the Aggie campus. 3. All pictures must be in the hands of the judges by midnight of June 2. 4. Only students are eligible to participate. 5. All pictures become the property of the contest committee. 6. Information as to where the picture was taken and what it represents must be clearly stated on the back. Also the type camera used, the lens, the exposure reading, and type of film.

The three judges are Bill Becker, Paul Ketelsen, and Philip Goldman.

Pictures may be turned in at the Aggieldand Pharmacy, or to any of the judges.

thought. They are farms making the last stand for unmechanized farm work. Many of these farms are still to be seen today. In the picture, workers chopping and picking cotton are looking toward the center panel which is the final scene—a modern ideal Texas farm.

The artist, Miss Gertrude Babcock, is a native of the wide-open Texas range country of Sonora. She studied art at Texas State College for Women and graduated with the class of 1933. She has also attended the Art Institute of Chicago, and at San Carlos Academy, Mexico.

Scientific Review—

For the Engineering publication, the advisory staff is composed of Dean of Engineering Gibb Gilchrist, chairman, and V. M. Faires, N. F. Rode, and A. B. Stevens.

A contest sponsored by the two staffs has been started to secure names for the publications. Any student, but particularly those who are members of the two schools concerned, are asked to submit suggested names for the two magazines by writing their suggestions on the following ballot and turning it in to their first-sergeant.

I suggest that the Agricultural and Engineering Magazines for next year be called:

Signed

First-sergeants are asked to collect ballots from their organizations and turn them in to the Student Publications Office by noon Saturday.

take up regular Reserve work after graduation from A. & M.

More than 100 Reserve Officers and Regular Army Officers will arrive on the campus shortly after lunch Wednesday. During the afternoon they will witness the regularly scheduled drill of the various units.

At seven o'clock the entire group will meet in the banquet room of Sbis Hall for an informal smoker. Stanley Foran, an advertising executive of Dallas, will deliver the only speech of the evening. Mr. Foran's speech, "Americanism", has proved so popular over the country that he has given it more than 150 times in the past year.

Following Mr. Foran's speech, presentations of a beautiful engraved saber to the outstanding A. & M. cadet officer for the year and a horsemanship medal to the outstanding Cavalry cadet officer for the year will be made by the State Department of Reserve Officers.

After these brief ceremonies, the attending seniors will be asked to meet with the instructors of the various Reserve units to which they will be assigned upon graduation.

There will be no admission charged for the smoker, and it will not last longer than two hours. No particular uniform is required.
