AVIATION COURSES

Since we have not received definite information as to the ground school and flying courses, registration for these courses will be deferred until after school begins. Ground school courses will not start until after October 1.

We expect to have a quota of not less than fifty students for the primary and twenty for the advanced training. It is expected that the ground school and flying, both primary and advanced, will be arranged within the time limit for adjusting schedules.

It is suggested that students hoping to take aviation courses will register for their regular work and if accepted later, adjustments in schedules will be made.

Watch the Engineering School Bulletin Board in the Academic Building and read official Battalion notices for information and instructions.

AERONAUTICAL ENGINEERING

Students desiring to change to Aeronautical Engineering should carefully watch the School of Engineering Bulletin Board notices.

tie affairs, but there are possibilities for a few David-and-Goliath results.

Closest pick for the Williamson system is Centenary over strong little Hardin Simmons of Texas. The Centenary Gentlemen, playing on their home field at Shreveport, La., lost to the Cowboys 7 to 6 last season. Although Hardin-Simmons is slated to go places this year, the Gentlemen are regularly practicing behind closed gates for the first time in history and may resume their old habit of bumping off the big Southwest Conference teams.

Other Big Boys which the system picks to win are Gonzaga over Idaho, Oklahoma Aggies—Williamson's choice for the Missouri Valley Conference championship—easily over the Central State (Okla.) Teachers, Boston College handily over Luther at Ames, and Kentucky over Baldwin-Wallace.

Conference Game Tickets Open To Public Sept. 30

Texas Aggie football tickets for the coming Southwest Conference games will go on sale to the general public Sept. 30, E. W. Hooker, ticket manager, announced here this week.

Mail orders have been pouring in ever since the team reported early this month. None has been filled so far but will be filled in the order of their arrival.

Ticket orders of former students will be filled Sept. 20, Hooker said. Tickets for the Texas A. & I. opener here on Sept. 28; Tulsa University in San Antonio, Oct. 5; and University of California at Los Angeles, Oct. 12, now may be purchased. Admission for the A. & I. game will be $1.10 and each of the others mentioned will be $2.20, all including federal tax. All other games will be $2.50, tax included.

Hooker said that the advance sale indicates that the Aggies will play to their largest gates in history this year and that some of the games will be close to sell-outs. He advises early orders for those wishing to see any of the games.

Other games on the schedule include: Oct. 19—T. C. U. at College Station; Oct. 26—Baylor at Waco; Nov. 2—Arkansas at College Station; Nov. 9—S. M. U. at Dallas; Nov. 16—Rice at College Station; and Nov. 28—Texas at Austin.
