Eight Members of Saddle and Sirlion Club Advertise Rodeo
Eight members of the Saddle and Sirlion Club invaded Bryan and Hearn Saturday afternoon to advertise the annual A. & M. rodeo to be held at the College October 18. They staged such a demonstration that most of the citizens of those two towns will never forget it.

After parading up and down the streets in cars, all draped in cheese cloth advertising the rodeo, the party, composed of Duke Harrison, Jupe Allen, Jake Hess, Clyde Raley, Johnny Hardin, "Shorty" Fuller and Jimmy Salsbury, stopped in the middle of the street where Harrison and Allen exploited some of their well known rope tricks. Also included in the fun were tricks by Duke Harrison with the whip which had everyone gasping in amazement.

The performance was repeated again that night at Brenham, where they were accompanied by three attractive Bryan girls who helped them tack up posters. After that the party left for home and College Station.
