

ON KYLE FIELD

Bears Regain Prestige

Last Saturday in San Antonio a downcast Baylor team took to the same field on which the Texas Aggies had given their warning to the rest of the nation that once again they were a bruin.

For three quarters they played on the wrong side and then in the final period a new Baylor team took over. The Baylor line was the "Good Old Baylor Line" once more.

They defeated Villanova 7 to 0. The year before the Aggies had turned the Eastern gridman back with a heavy 33 to 7 score in the Rose Classic in Tyler.

When the two teams meet this week the cadets will be attempting to take their first Waco game since 1934. For it was that year that the 14 year "jinx" was broken. The Aggies had not won since 1920 in the North Brazos City.

Escaping from the T. C. U. game with no injuries the Cadets will be at full strength for the Bears who regained their prestige last week.

James Witt, five foot 11 inch, 175 pound back of the Baylor Bears leads the list of ground gainers this week with an average of 5.49 yards per carry and a total of 35 carries.

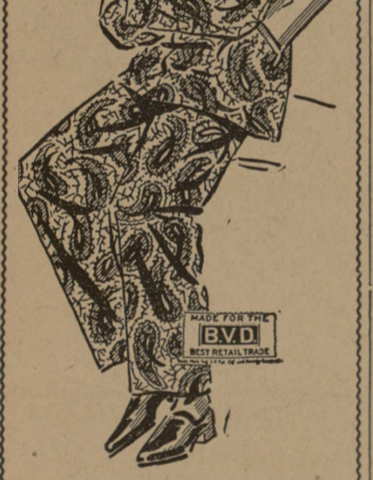

Marion Pugh is the highest man of the Aggies squad with an average of 4.54 yards.

Some interested Juniors came back at the scribe yesterday in answer to the bleed in Tuesday's Batt. Perhaps some of the three year men really put out but there were many who didn't.

As for passing the yells back to the seniors, they offered as an excuse the fact that the soph and fish didn't give it to them. This is a problem for the classes.

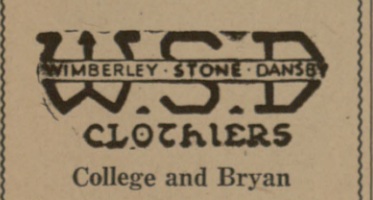

As to the junior section, just how did it come about?

I was standing in the senior section on the 40-yard line and the juniors in that section put out from the lungs until after the let down in the second half.

Baylor Squad, Rebuilt, Tries Come-back on A&M

Waco, Texas, Oct. 23—The Baylor bears face their hardest test of the year here Saturday when the mighty Texas A. & M. Aggies come to Waco for the Bruin's second conference tilt.

Coach Morley Jennings' Baptist gridgers came back strong last week with some of the greatest defensive play in the history of the school to turn back a stubborn Villanova eleven 7 to 0. This win meant a lot to the Bears because it showed them they could carry on without the aid of their star tailback, Jack Wilson, and the Aggies might run into more trouble than they look for when they try to pick up their 16th straight win.

Texas A. & M. swept past T.C.U. 21 to 7 last Saturday and will enter the game heavy favorites over the Bears. The Baylor eleven will be playing before an expected homecoming crowd of 20,000 and might pull one of the season's biggest upsets and blast the powerful Aggies from the undefeated list.

The Baylor ground game looked much better against Villanova last Saturday night in San Antonio and if the play keeps improving this week, the game might be a close battle all the way. Defensively, the Bears are just a step behind the Aggies and Baylor coaches are hoping their gridgers will turn in another great defensive game this week.

"That Good Old Baylor Line" was working smoothly against the Pennsylvanians and sophomores turned in great line play. Jack Russell, big 210 pound Baylor end, set the pace with the greatest end play San Antonio grid fans have ever seen and Philadelphia sport writers said that the all-around defensive play was the best they had witnessed in the last five years.

Coach Art Adamson has called a meeting for all varsity and last year's freshmen swimmers for tonight at 8 p.m.

Last week before the Frog-Aggie tilt the T.C.U. Publicity Service recorded the years of experience of the two teams. The Christians had 14 men with 20 years of experience while the cadets marked up 54 years with service from 23 lettermen. . . Injuries have hit the Mustang squad pretty hard since the start of the season with Elder out due to an accident as he rushed across town to catch the Pitt special, Hagerman is out with a bruised hip, Baucus is out with a twisted knee, Collins DuVall, Bostick and Bianchi are all out with back or spine injuries, and Thomas was removed for the season with a fractured foot.

Leonard Pugh, T. C. U. left tackle, and Marion Pugh, A. & M. back, played on the same teams at North Side High in Fort Worth and graduated in the same class, but they are not related.

Southwest Conference eleven this year play intersectional games with teams from 13 states. Included are Alabama, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, North Carolina, New York, Oklahoma, and Pennsylvania.

Baylor's Nelson Brothers Are Products From Bryan

By Jack Hollimon When the Texas Aggies do battle with Baylor University next Saturday, a couple of boys from Bryan will take the field for the Bears and prepare to carry on a record that has caused Aggie mentors many hours of planning and worry.

Robert Nelson, most outstanding player for Baylor against A. & M. in 1939, will take his center position at the start and deal the Aggies plenty of misery during the following sixty minutes of smashing spins and power drives.

In all of the games of his spectacular career, Nelson has been given everything possible by the opposing clubs in an effort to get him out of the play, but he has kept fighting and putting all of his energies into every quarter. Any coach that has come in contact with his slashing defense arranges for all of the plays to avoid the pivot position, because Nelson has an uncanny ability of breaking up the goal line rushes.

This year the game should be double tough because in the event that he sees service in the backfield, another Nelson is set to follow in brother Bob's footsteps. The name of this newcomer who is gunning for Aggie ball runners is Travis Nelson, 165-pounds of shifting, hustling football player. Coupled with Bob, who weighs a mere 197-pounds and stands 6 feet 2 inches in his stocking feet, these two lads should give the Aggie powerhouse an interesting afternoon with plenty of surprises.

Baylor has had setbacks during the current season when injuries and an extremely close defeat have dropped them down from pennant contenders to a team that is slated to drop some more games before the last round this winter, but with two men as versatile and determined as the Bryan products playing for the Bruins, anything can happen—and it might!

TCU Encounters Tulsa Saturday

Saturday, against the Golden Hurricane of the University of Tulsa in Tulsa, Okla., the T.C.U. Horned Frogs will play their third consecutive game away from home, each game in a different state—North Carolina, Texas and Oklahoma.

The Frogs have played and won from the Hurricanes each year since Coach Dutch Meyer became head football man at T.C.U. Prior to that time (1934), the two schools had met four times, each winning two contests.

Saturday's affair in Tulsa will be Homecoming Day for the Hurricane, and Coach Chet Benfield's boys may be expected to put forth their best efforts to give the alumni a victory. In fact, the Hurricane usually plays one of its best games against the Frogs.

The T. C. U.-Tulsa series started in 1921 and includes nine games, seven won by T.C.U. and two by Tulsa. The all-time score is: T.C.U. 110, Tulsa 66.

A & M Picked to Win; Game Is Possible Upset

By Paul B. Williamson The Williamson System picks Cornell and Pennsylvania to win in the two biggest games this week end.

Cornell plays Ohio State at Ithaca, N. Y. The ratings heavily favor the undefeated and untied Big Reds. Cornell has a rating of 99.2 and Ohio State, loser to Minnesota and Northwestern, rates at 91.7. The Buckeyes had a great potential team with good possibilities of another Big Ten championship, but they can't seem to get going in the pinches.

Pennsylvania, playing Michigan at Ann Arbor, has a slight margin in the ratings with 97.1 to 95.8 for Michigan. It's the difference between a powerhouse-steady squad and a swell team outstanding for its star backs, Tom Harmon and Forest Evashevski. Coach George Munger's Quakers have been taking everything in stride, mostly by top-heavy scores. Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler's Wolverines have a mighty pretentious record behind this season—undefeated and untied. But, we'll stay with the ratings and the steady-playing Quakers.

Fordham should have an easy time with St. Mary, playing in New York, but this battle always is a bloody one. Others that should be easy are: Notre Dame over Illinois, Georgetown U. over N.Y. U., Nebraska over Missouri, Stanford over Southern California, Tennessee over Florida, Navy over Yale, Texas over Rice, and Ole Miss over Arkansas.

The System takes, Columbia over Syracuse, Duquense over Manhattan, Dartmouth over Harvard in a tough one, Oklahoma over Iowa State, Minnesota over Iowa, Northwestern over Indiana, and Washington over California.

Here's one to watch: Texas Aggies over Baylor. The ratings indicate an easy victory for the Aggies with 98.4 to 87.2 for the Baylor Bears. However, this game being played at Waco well could be the biggest upset of the week.

Most difficult game to compute was Temple with a rating of 92.6 over Penn State with a rating of 88.1. If it hadn't been for Temple upsetting Michigan State last week 21-19 the System would have taken Penn State without hesitation.

Really tough ones to pick among the big name teams are: Georgia Tech over Auburn, where Tech will be lucky to repeat last year's 7 to 6 victory; Kansas State over Kansas in a real knuckle and skull affair; Texas Tech over Marquette, close even if it is played at Milwaukee; and Michigan State over Santa Clara, with Michigan

The Cavalry took over the handball courts when C troop downed 4th Corps Headquarters while D troop won from B infantry. Both games ended with a 2-1 score.

B Signal Corps came back fast in the second half of their basketball game with F Coast Artillery and made a gallant try for a win but the Coast power was just a little too much and the game ended in favor of F battery by a margin of one point. Final score—11-10.

On the tennis courts H Field Artillery won a 3-0 victory over B Cavalry. Hall and Hodges, L won their match by forfeit while Westbrook, Hodges, C., Tyler and White battled it out for the other two wins.

Probably your wants are as twenty to one for your needs.

Cheerfulness is a kind of genius—the most comfortable kind.

Consolidated High Defends Undefeated Record Against Snook

Friday night the A. & M. Consolidated High School Tigers meet Snook High for their second district game.

Last year, Snook beat the Tigers 14-0 and the spirit of the team is that they are not going to do it again. While the Consolidated high has no stars this year, they are a good little team. Their line is exceptionally heavy but the backfield is a bit small. The line averages about 165 pounds while the backfield has an average weight of 145 pounds.

While this game will be no push-over, the Tigers might have to dig into their bag of tricks for a win over the Snook Blue Jays. In previous games, the Tigers have not had to show their full power, and according to Head Mentor M. E. Park, the Tigers still have lots of plays available to baffle their opponents with.

Last week, the Tigers defeated Normangee 45-6 and this win has put the team in fine spirits. There are no injuries on the squad so far, and unless injuries occur in scrimmage, the team will be at its full strength.

The citizens of College Station are backing the team to the fullest extent, recently subscribed and outfitted the whole team in mackinaws, which are grey in color. This was a boon to the team for as a whole they were inadequately equipped in the uniform department. The Tigers will be sporting maroon and white on the field, taking their colors from the well known Texas Aggies.
