Arkansas Razorbacks With Win Over Old Miss Invade Aggeland for 2nd League Win

"The Razorbacks are slated for the cellar," "They won't have much this year," "The sophos will be carrying the load for Arkansas in 1940". These and many other similar quotations floated through bull sessions, newspaper offices, radio broadcasting studios, and the grandstands as football made its appearance in September.

Saturday, a great Arkansas team turned back the Old Miss on its roll to the top with a last period scoring spree.

Twice the Hogs have gone down before Southwest schools and once they left the field on the top side. The win was credited over the Baylor Bears, the team which has played the greatest ball against the Aggies this year.

Saturday the Razorbacks again climbed back on that road which they traditionally travel—"The passing team of the nation." With a close score of 21 to 20, Arkansas gave word to the Aggies that they would not be just another hurdle in the last stretch.

Last year the Aggies traveled into the Ozark State and though the ugliest girls we ever saw, were the prettiest girls in Arkansas, the Hogs outplayed the cadets all four quarters, home we came with the bacon and thankful that it had not been another of the years when the aggies did not win in Arkansas.

The year before, here at home—On Kyle Field—the Aggies fought long and hard to win the contest. This year might be the changing of the tide and thus the changing of the route. This game might be the cross road of the season. Old Miss rated high on the list of great teams of the nation, but the Arkansas Razorbacks just couldn't be depended upon to go down.

INVESTIGATION OF SMU TICKET SALES DEMANDED

"True to each other as Aggies can be..." Yesterday at 8 a. m., 600 tickets to be sold to Aggies for their dates to the Southern Methodist game in Dallas next week-end went on sale.

At 8:30 the last one had been sold to the cadet who was fifty-fifth in the line. We can realize that some were freshmen probably buying for numerous upper-classmen but of the others, we can't say.

The largest number sold at any one time was 44. Forty-four tickets to one student. If all tickets were to be used as means of admittance the slate would be clear, but already they have made their appearance on the campus at higher prices.

All holders of coupon books are advised to secure their tickets as soon as possible. In answer to the Texas game, it can only be said that all tickets are sold and no others will be received here except for holders of coupon books.

We took a spill on the calling of Saturday's games. T.C.U. went down to Tulsa after the Sooner team scored early in the opening quarter and held out to please the alumni, Arkansas topped Mississippi one point to drop one of the greatest teams of the country, and Rice Institute set Bible's first threat down 13 to 0.

Friday night in Houston the Rice students were up and the Texas students were low in their feeling. The next day the Owls were up and the Longhorns were as their boosters, still down. It was a great game of football for the Bayou boys and they now rate high in the eyes of the Southwest callers.

Those we actually called right were, Tulane over North Carolina, Tennessee over Florida, Notre Dame over Illinois, and Texas Tech

Razorbacks Fresh From 21-20 Victory Over Touted Old Miss

With a high flying banner, the Arkansas Razorbacks come here this Saturday to face the Texas Aggies in their fourth conference duel of the year.

Last Saturday the experts set back in the dark corners at the final gun of the Mississippi-Arkansas game. The Razorbacks had come from far behind to top the high ranking squad with a 21 to 20 score.

Arkansas scored early in the fray, but held the lead for only the first quarter. In the second Ole Miss crossed twice and marked up a third in the first two minutes of the second half. From then on they held the upper hand and it looked hopeless for the Hogs.

Neal and Hamberg passed the Mississippi boys wild on their touchdown drives and Lawhorn plunged into the line for the needed feet and the final score. But the credit goes to guard Simmington for the three perfect placements.

T.C.U. claimed their first win in League play over the Porkers but the Hogs came back to run over the Baylor Bears. Texas made the Arkansas squad look sick as they ran over 21 points to the Razorback's nothing.

But back they came! Arkansas can still pass even though sophomores are the foundations on which the attack is based.

The Aggies can pass and they can play good ball against the passing attack but there is still the inspired game to be played.

Last Saturday Arkansas played that type of ball in the final period! Whether or not they can keep this feeling at its height remains to be seen come this Saturday. Any yet they won't have to play this kind of ball to win.

As the Bears traveled to Arkansas they were missing Wilson in their first game for keeps and may have been in low spirits, but the Hogs hit and they hit hard.

Twenty first downs to the Aggies' nine was the way the books read last year and yet the cadets won top heavy. The Ozarkers are high in the praises of the Arkansas team. Saturday will either raise the picture. fwlwy the cry or set the Hogs far out of the picture.

Baylor Frosh Test Strength of TCU Pollywogs Thursday

The surprising Baylor Freshmen gridders get another stiff test of their strength here Thursday when they run up against the T.C.U. Pollywogs.

The Cubs handed the Kilgore Jr. College Rangers their first setback since 1938 in a stirring upset last week, but can be rated no more than even choices against the T.C.U. eleven which defeated N. T. A. C. 14-7 in their season's grid opener.

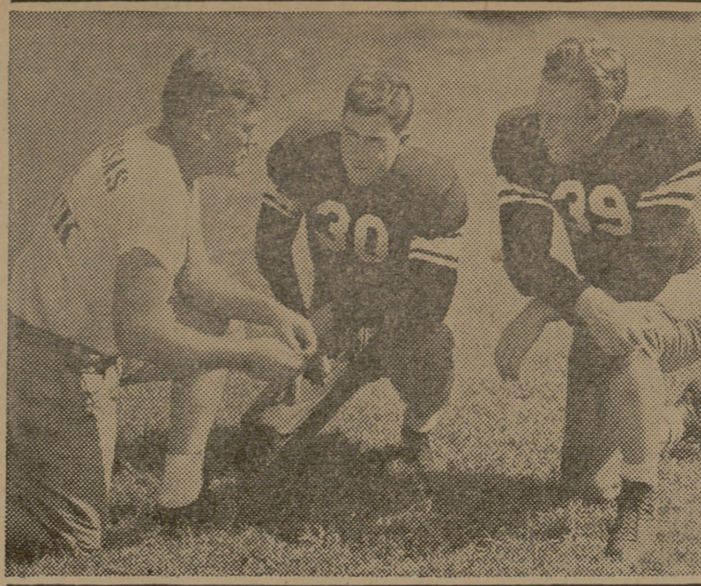

Coach Jim Crow, who predicts the game can go either way, has had the frosh gridders scrimmaging the varsity in an effort to prepare them for the expected tough competition. There are only 34 boys out for the Baylor freshman team and the Cub Mentor's chief worry has been in finding reserve line men out of the handful of gridders capable of playing in the forward wall.

over Marquette. The other called right was the Aggie win over Baylor.

On the red side—outside of the conference were U.C.L.A.-Oregon State, as the Bruins went down for their fifth loss; and Arizona-Oklahoma A. & M., as the Missouri Valley leaders lost out on the desert and under the lights.

Corps Trip Causes Postponements; Forfeit Doghouse Bare For 1st Time

By Bob Myers

Since the Aggies follow tradition, most of them left a day early for the Waco corps trip and left the intramural department with few games. A minimum of games was scheduled originally and this number was reduced considerably by postponements.

Total games played amounted to one handball in class A and three touch football, one swimming, and one basketball in class B.

Highlight of Friday was the fact that our newly inaugurated "Doghouse" was bare for the first time.

B Chemical Warfare freshmen outswam headquarters Cavalry to add another notch to their guns by a top heavy score of 23-13.

In the "barn", H Infantry "Fish" took a 15-14 game of basketball out of the fire of C Cavalry by calling on the services of Olsen to the tune of twelve points.

The only game of class A was played in the handball courts and was decided in favor of A Cavalry when Ward, Adams, and Breen-McCauslin won a match piece from the H Infantry players. Final score—2 - 0.

G Infantry freshmen footballers won a no score game from A signal Corps on penetrations.

A 13-0 game between B Engineers and A Chemical Warfare ended before the little "test-tubers" could rally and score.

First year cadets from D Engineers came out on the long end of a 7-0 game of good football from E field artillery.

A & M Maintains No. 3 Rating In National Polling

By Paul B. Williamson

Notre Dame stays at the top of collegiate football for bumping off Illinois 26 to 0 in a week of "story book" finishes. Cornell holds to second place for coming behind to beat Ohio State 21 to 7. Still at third in the Williamson Ratings is Texas A. & M. for downing a hard-fighting Baylor 14 to 7.

As suggested last week, the Aggies had to use every trick in their repertoire and 60 minutes playing by their All-Americans and near All-Americans to skin by those hard-fighting Baylor Bears of Coach Morley Jennings. Jennings' squads always are tough, the product of an old-timer if there ever was one who has been at his Waco post far longer than any other Texas coach.

Although we called the turn on the Cornell-Ohio State game, Tom Harmon, Forest Evashevski and Company of the Michigan Wolverines were too much for the Penn State Quakers, who were on the short end of the 14 to 0 score. We missed that heart-breaker.

The Williamson System was

Aggies Defeat Baylor In Waco At Homecoming

A & M Scores In Second and Third Quarters; 14-7 Win

A homecoming crowd that bolstered attendance to approximately 22,000, saw two great teams meet beneath an overcast sky Saturday when the Texas Aggies defeated the Baylor Bears 14-7 at the Municipal Stadium in Waco.

The score does not show the game as it really was and can't catch the breathless moments when the Aggies let the ball slide to the ground for a free for all with the Bears.

A. & M. has played much better ball than they displayed in this game and will have to recapture their former ability in order to take care of the coming games that really count.

Scores for the Cadets came early in the second quarter after a ceaseless first quarter drive. Conatser carried the mail in a sweep around Baylor's right end. Pugh's accurate kicking made the conversion.

The second score of the game was made on a pass to Henderson in the third quarter. After receiving the pass, Henderson shook two Bears and headed for the goal line. A conversion by Webster ended the Aggie scoring for the game.

Jimmy Witt locked on to a pass and scampered 23 yards for Baylor's touchdown and then held as Bob Nelson converted.

During the last few minutes of play the Aggies played careful ball and stayed on the ground until the final gun was fired.

The work of these two organizations is of immense importance, as the methods of analysis and definitions adopted affect the sale of fertilizers, feeds, drugs, foods and aid in preventing their adulteration or misbranding. Probably a billion dollars or more of commodities affected by these methods of analysis or definitions are sold in the United States.
