Ruffled Owls With Their Feathery Tricks To Try To Sound Taps Here On Kyle Field

This afternoon seventeen seniors will play their last game of football on our own Kyle Field. These seventeen seniors have seen Aggie football in all classes—in all ratings. At times it seemed that they could do nothing but lose, at other times they could do nothing but run into bad luck, and now the pay off is drawing near.

Three years ago, when the present seniors were fish, two teams met in Houston to fight for sixty long minutes. With the final gun, the Aggies had tied the Southwest Champions of that year and had found a friend (?) in a certain Mr. Watson. That year has never been forgotten. "Rats Watson" was the war cry of the next year's battle. That game was on Kyle Field and the feathered flock went down, 27 to 0. Down they went again last year on their own field as the Aggies rolled to the top of the nation. But all of that lies in the past. Today an altogether new Rice eleven will hit the Aggies. Jess Neeley has fired the Owls to such an extent that they are determined to win this game just as they have their other league contests. On top of that they are capable of doing just that.

In the Rice line Tuffy Whitlow at the center post, Moose Hartman at tackle and Livy Bassett at guard will be the three leading the remainder into the heat of the bone crushing duel. These Owls are candidates for their respective positions on the mythical teams of the southwest and their play against the Aggies will weigh heavily. At the same time, on the other side of the line will also be candidates for the same spots.

All of this will be secondary as the game gets under way and the two great machines clash for the conference lead.

game and undoubtedly will be influenced greatly in the selection of their mythical teams by the showings of candidates in this contest.

Records of the two teams in the past show the Aggies with sixteen wins to the Owls' six and two ties. To date some 30,000 tickets have been sold and more are expected to be sold when Houston moves in from the South and Aggie supporters come in from all points of the compass to witness the game that may decide the outcome of the Southwest Conference for this season.

A win by the Aggies will put them in position for a cinch tie for the flag and thereby break the age old jinx that Conference champions never repeat in the Southwest. In the event that Rice takes the game, they will be well on their way for a championship.

The Owls have their feathers ruffled and their bag full of feathery tricks. They're out to win, Army! If you haven't got the feeling yet, try in the few remaining hours to get what you can. It's LIZZIE again, not Taps for the first time in two years on our own Kyle Field.

Last Wednesday Coach Homer Norton was displeased with the attitude of the twelfth man, feeling that the high flying sails would have its effect on the team. This afternoon a determined squad will wear the colors of Aggie land. It will be just as determined as that which turned back the Mustangs last Saturday, the Razorbacks the week before, and the Bears the week before that.

Chip Routh will captain the Aggies along with Marion Pugh and Marland Jeffrey.

Arkansas fell to the hard fighting Owls 14 to 7 last week while still down in the dumps due to the heavy Aggie beating.

In the last game on Kyle Field for the long to be remembered squad, the Aggies will win by three touchdowns. We call it 20 to 0.

Southern Methodist tackles the Razorbacks in Dallas for the second feature of the Southwest. Two teams with great passing attacks and hard fighting lines, two teams which fell last Saturday will do battle. T. C. U., Baylor and Arkansas all dropped their next game following the struggle with the cadets, but here's the end of such repetition.

It is the final conference go for the Porkers.
S. M. U., 21 to 13, over the Hogs. There could be an upset here.

Coach Dutch Meyer's Hornfrogs will try to defend their home slate against the Texas Longhorns today. They bowed to a 3 to 0 defeat at the hands of Detroit in their last duel while the Texas crew turned back the Baylor Bears.

The close of the day should see the home slate still clean, calling it 13 to 7.

Tulsa University, the team which at the close of the season will have faced four squads from the southwest league, face the Bears in Waco today for their last fray before taking on the Sooner Aggies in the Missouri Valley title battle. The Bears will give forth with another hard try while both starting tackles are on the side line and also Bob Nelson, their candidate for the Mythical center spot.

Down go the Bears again. This one is 10 to 7.

Around the country in the banner games Cornell should top Dartmouth, Boston College gets the call over Georgetown in one of the toughest of the day, Auburn rates above L.S.U., North Dakota takes Iowa to store, Minnesota continues on their way with a win from Purdue, Michigan comes back in the win column over Northwestern, and Stanford gets the call over Oregon State.

The papers in the last few days have been filled with "eggspert" talk on the various bowls all over the country.

Let's take it for granted that the Aggies will play a post season game January 1st, if they get over these next two humps.

Clip out all the dream stories and read the remainder.

Intramurals

Upperclass Rifle Practice Starts on Remodeled Range Monday

By Bob Myers

Judging from protests filed since the last issue the place to start this time is making corrections. Due to a typographical error, F Field Artillery's intramural championship was unofficially awarded to E Battery. The corrected statement reads F FIELD ARTILLERY FRESHMEN WIN THE FIRST CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE SEASON.

Practice for Upperclass rifle shooting is scheduled to start Monday, November 18th.

The range has been remodeled by the Military Department and will be open from 8-12; 1-5 Mondays through Fridays and from 8-12 on Saturdays. Organizations will be allowed ammunition for seven men in the try-outs and for five in record fire.

Machine Gun Cavalry won a football game from 3rd Headquarters Field Artillery 2-0 when they blocked a punt that ended in a freak safety. The Field Artillery punt was blocked on the 50-yard line and the ball rolled all the way back to the goal line. Members of both teams fumbled the ball around but the artillery finally ended up in possession with the object of play, but did so behind their own goal line to give the Cavalry a safety and the only score of the game.

Fish and Varsity Both Play Games On Thanksgiving Day-- Dates One Week Apart

Thanksgiving wouldn't be the same without a football game, so there WILL be a football game at Texas Memorial Stadium Nov. 21.

Not the traditional Thanksgiving tilt between the Longhorns and Aggies, of course, for that is being held over until Nov. 28. Schedule commitments made it impracticable to play the varsity game earlier.

Instead the freshman teams of the two big state schools will clash in the Thanksgiving game.

Aggies are claiming a potent first-year aggregation, and the Yearlings of Texas are admittedly strong as a unit. They licked Alen Academy 31-0 and Rice 19-0 in earlier tests.

Leo Daniels Carries Offensive Threat For Fish With Speed, Power

By Jack Hollimon

Texas A. & M. and Rice Institute met on Kyle Field Friday afternoon on the Aggie Fish stumped the Rice Slimes to the tune of 26-7.

Leo Daniels of Bryan and his teammates gave the fans an exhibition of speed, deceptiveness, and outright power in Aggie Varsity style to completely swamp a listless Rice crew.

Whitworth and Cox stood out on defense for A. & M. while the offense was scattered between several promising boys. Daniels set the Aggies out in front by a 47 yard goalward spurt in the first quarter to put A. & M. out in front six to O. Willard Woolverton of El Paso converted in true Aggie fashion. Daniels cut through the Slime line and carried across with good blocking from Lincoln Roman of Houston.

Rice came back in a hurry when the Owl's Electra Flash, Gayle McLaughlin, catapulted through the center of A. & M.'s forward wall and roared downfield until he lacerated to Snelly who took the pigskin across. This run was good for 47 yards and a touchdown. Rice converted successfully and the count stood at 7 to 7.

Aggie passes began to click and A. & M. drove past the Slimes after the start of the second period. Getting into position through the air, Dennis Andricks of Brenham crashed 37 yards through Rice defense to make the score 13 to 7. Woolverton's try for extra point was no-good.
