Coach McQuillen's Cagers Face Giant Hog Team in Fayetteville Friday and Saturday

Far up in the Ozark Mountains go the Aggie cagers this week end for dangerous play.

School Grid Game To Be Played Sunday Will Be First Under Revised N.C.A.A. Rules

The charity football game to be played on Kyle Field Sunday between Coach Virgil Jones' Maroons and Coach Charlie DeWare's Whites will be the world premier of the revised football rules.

of the fray. Plays will be run from punt formation, double wing and possibly the "T" formation will slip in every now and then.

From a quick glance at each squad—the maroons are heavy and will tend to use power for their main offensive—the whites are a bit lighter and will use fast break-

Football and Cross Country Men Named

At a meeting of the Committee on Arrangements for the Annual Football banquet held in Colonel Ike Ashburn's office this week the banquet was set for January 24, at 7:00 p.m. with J. W. "Dough" Rollins as toastmaster.

President Walton will be asked to give the principal address by Toastmaster Rollins and Dean Kyle will invite Messrs. Dan Rogers and J. H. Stewart to be guests of the Athletic Department at the banquet.

Invitations will be sent to Felix McKnight of the Associated Press and other sports writers throughout the section. Also, the ex-students members of the Athletic Council and the A. & M. Board of Directors are to be invited.

A. & M.'s famed Aggeland Orchestra will play for the banquet. This band features the Aggie songs that will provide a fitting background for the celebration.

Colonel Ashburn will handle all ticket sales and tickets will be on sale for students and the general public. Tickets to members of the football team, cross country team, and yell leaders are to be distributed by the Athletic Department, while student tickets, priced at 50¢ and general public tickets, priced at $1.00, will be placed on sale until 5 p.m. January 23, 1941. The student tickets will be limited to seniors only. They may be purchased from Bob Lowery in the "Y" office.

Colonel Ashburn, Mr. Howell, and Mr. Rollins will designate the man who will make the various awards and who shall be recognized at the banquet, while Mr. Hensel will be in charge of banquet hall decorations.

This banquet should be the highlight of a very successful season and the attendance is expected to be voluminous.

Members of the committee are Colonel Ashburn, G. B. Winstead, J. N. Thomason, J. C. Hotard, E. N. Holmgreen, E. J. Howell, E. W. Hooker, and J. W. Rollins.

Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament Dropped

Due to circumstances beyond the control of the College Station committee, the Golden Gloves tournament will not be held here as previously announced.

All men who plan to enter the National AAU tournament will file application in Temple, Texas with the "Temple Daily Telegram" for their matches to be held there on January 30, 31, and February 1.

Cagers Arkansas Bound For Series

Coach Hub McQuillen and his Aggie charges were still trying to forget the nightmare they had in Houston at the hands of the Rice Owls and Frank Carswell as they prepared for their two-game series with the tree-top Arkansas Razorbacks.

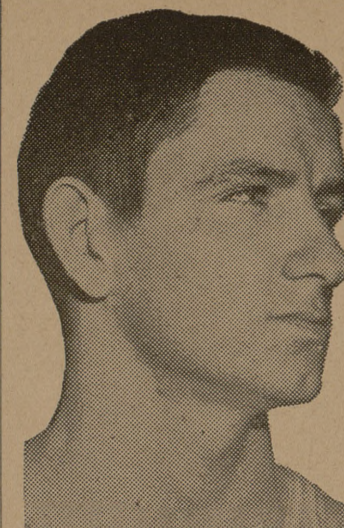

The Aggies could well muddle up the Conference race if they take the Razorbacks in one or two games. However, the boys from the Ozarks will be staunch favorites to take their second series in a row. They tumbled the Texas Longhorns from the undefeated ranks last week by taking both games of a two game series.

Big guns for the Arkansas attack this season have been Johnny Adams and Howard "Red" Hickey, a couple of lanky lads who have accounted for over half of the Razorback scores this season. In the Texas game, both accounted for a total of 35 out of 44 points.

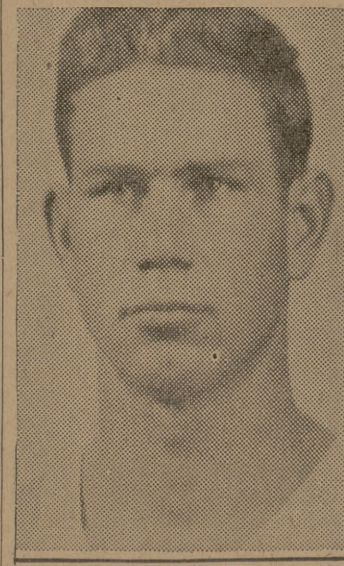

The squad of 12 players and Coach McQuillen left here early Wednesday afternoon and spent the night in Dallas. They will leave there early Thursday morning and arrive in Arkansas during the afternoon with a workout scheduled after their arrival.

Those making the trip included Capt. Bill Dawson, Bill Henderson, Charlie Stevenson, Ray Jarrett, Fred Nabors, Harold Duncan, Jamie Wilson, Ray Klutz, R. B. Bayer, Paul Pennington, R. C. Adams, and Jimmy Crouch.

Intramural Schedules Near Completion Water Poloists In The Swim Again

By Bob Myers

Handball, Volleyball, and swimming competition is fast coming to a close and will be completed before final examinations rear their ugly heads. An effort is being made to finish all football games before mid-term in spite of all set-backs suffered by rain, postponements, and holidays.

Four teams emerged from quarter-final volleyball play to take their places in semi-final competition. D Coast Artillery won from A Engineers 2-0, B Field Artillery took A Infantry 2-0, H Coast Artillery outpointed A Coast Artillery 2-1, and H Infantry slid over the Infantry Band 2-1 to win the privilege of battling it out for top honors and the coveted intramural medals.

B Field Artillery stepped into semi-final play in handball when "King-Cotton" Shea led a team composed of Marks, Houston, Stokes, Bentinck, and Kenagy against D Coast Artillery and came out victorious to the extent of 3-0.

Ten teams braved the "icy" waters of Downs Natatorium to compete in the water swallowing game of water polo and cut the scheduled games down by five. A Chemical Warfare ran wild on scoring and defeated B Signal Corps 6-0. E Engineers had a little tougher time of it in their game with G Field

"Mushmouth" Henke-Cow Boy and Gridder Credited With Strength of Aggie Wall

(Editor's Note — This is the first in a series of articles on students whose names are flashed on the sports page.)

One of the many reasons the Texas Aggies were in the top bracket of the nation for the past two years may be found in two words—"Charlie Henke." Charlie, who is from Kerrville, began his football career in high school. At Kerrville, he won three letters in football, making all-district and being nominated for All-State in 1936. Henke then came to A. & M. to begin his higher education, to wit: Animal Husbandry. Charley has been a rancher all his life and likes all things concerned with cattle.

Back to his football career, Henke lettered at tackle, playing as a reserve in 1938. He was moved over to guard last year where he was first string to win his second letter. Teaming with Robnett, he gave the Aggies the best brace of guards in the conference this past season. "Mushmouth", as he is known by his team mates, is very much overworked and sorely underrated. He is the man in the center of that powerful line who piles up the offensive blockers making it possible for Robnett, Vaughn and others to smear the opposing ball carriers for losses. Charlie is large, weighing 207 pounds, and topping the sky at six feet two, and plugs a big hole in the forward wall.

Henke was a starter in every game, all 21 of them, and strange to say, got knocked unconscious in the very last one—the only time he has ever been knocked out while playing for the Aggies. About his private life—Charlie is a First Lieutenant in the R.O. T.C. unit, being second in command of "M" Company Infantry. He likes the ranching business but will choose a military career if offered to him. According to the present world affairs, Charlie will not see many cows, but he will probably be with Uncle Sam.

By his own admission, he likes all women and enjoys a good time. "Mushmouth" is a bit partial to brunettes though. Having the unofficial title of "Casanova" of the football team, Henke really gets around—ask any of his buddies, they'll tell you.

Charlie is typically dressed in the rig of a cowboy most of the time you see him, (Tactical officers please ignore) typifying his love for all connected with ranching. At present he is anxiously waiting to get the boots and cowboy hat promised all the football team as favors of the Cotton Bowl classic. Incidentally, he is proudly showing off his new watch—another favor the Cotton Bowl officials.

Henke, whose genial smile has won him many friends, is one of the many well liked men on the campus. His athletic hero is Joe Boyd, All-America Aggie tackle last year, who played next to him in the line. Speaking of football honors, Charlie made All-Conference and honorable mention on Collier's All-American. He does not intend to play professional football unless he gets a very lucrative offer. His attitude, typifying most all football players is that he is out for an education, and not sports. Good luck, Charlie.

Maroons Threat Whites With Possible Rocking T

First Game Played Under Revised Rules

By Dub Oxford

It's going to be brawn against speed on Kyle Field Sunday afternoon at 2:30—Coach Virgil Jones Maroons fighting against Charley DeWare's Whites. Having completed two hard scrimmages, both teams are showing up very good considering their experience.

The Maroons and Whites have now been narrowed down to playing size and are hard at work studying plays in which to out-wit the other. More time could be used for workouts as the boys playing are taking time out from their studies to practice.

There will be lots of slam-bang action in the game, and you might see plays that would not happen in two years of Conference play. "In fact, you might see anything," as White Coach Charley DeWare puts it.

The outstanding feature of the game will be the use of the new rules entirely. This game will be the world premier of the new rules, and the crowd will have an inside look on how Conference play will be run next year.

Coach "Dough" Rollins made the following statement, "I think the outstanding feature of the game is that it will be played under the new rules."

To enable the fans to follow these new rules, here is the main gist of them. A man may be substituted as many times as the coaches desire to, and can talk to the players in the huddle as soon as he gets in the game.

On the fourth down, if a forward pass is thrown over the goal line and is incomplete the opposing team receives the ball where it was put in play.

The ball may be handed forward behind the line of scrimmage.

Possibly the most important rule is the one concerning unlimited substitutions.
