Employment—

($23 a month), the work is hard, and like all other jobs, there are five applicants for every one of the 183 student janitor jobs.

Largest employer of cadets is the tremendous A. & M. mess hall system, the largest single-unit feeding establishment in the world. Two hundred and sixty-four students are employed in the two mess hall at an average salary of slightly more than $18 a month. Most of these men are waiters, an easier job than most and one which takes comparatively little time—consequently a job is much in demand.

Key factor in maintaining the college's high student employment program is the federal government's annual National Youth Administration appropriation. Since 1935, when N. Y. A. appropriations were first made, more than $350,000 of federal money has been spent at A. & M. to give students part-time employment.

Only Texas University receives a larger annual appropriation than the 1939-40 long session, $71-

Small Animal Specialist Speaks To Veterinary Class

Dr. J. G. Horning, small animal specialist from Houston, spoke to the Veterinary Anatomy Class 211 Saturday morning, emphasizing the role of veterinary practice as an art.

Other topics discussed dealt with importance of a sound knowledge of veterinary anatomy when the practitioner happens to be called upon to give medico-legal testimony.

Dr. Horning has had a wide and varied experience as a practitioner of veterinary medicine. He was veterinarian for the Virgin Islands for several years, where his duties required him to inspect shipments of livestock, meat and milk, teach veterinary science to a class of vocational agriculture and to care for all of the animals on the islands.

 from his job as Ele Baggett, editor of the Longhorn, was accidentally shot during the holidays. Baggett is expected to be back in two weeks. Although these two mainstays of the Longhorn are absent, the annual is progressing and unless something further happens will appear as scheduled in the middle of May.

895 was given the college in the form of N. Y. A. funds. This session the figure has upped to $73,305. N. Y. A. appropriations to the entire collegiate world last year totaled $14,039,268.

Second division of A. & M.'s student employment, and larger than the N. Y. A. division, is the departmental division. This year the college's 54 departments will pay 1002 students approximately $150,000 to do half a hundred jobs.

Third, and least of the three divisions of the college's student employment, is the concession field. Concessions include the sale of radios, shower shoes, stationery, candy and 25 commodities to the student body. These concessions pay from $25 to $400 a year, depending on the demand for the particular article and the business ability of the concessioner.

Basis for giving student jobs at A. & M. is a three-fold plan. Prime consideration is a student's need for a job in order to remain in college. Then comes his scholastic standing and, finally, where possible cadets are given jobs which parallel their professional course of study.

Unique in American colleges and universities is the A. & M. wage theory. Student employment officials frankly admit that they are not interested in trying to help a cadet earn all of his college expenses. Their main concern is the student who has earned as much as a hundred dollars through summer labor (or whose parents can afford to furnish that amount of money), but who is unable to obtain a college education through his inability to obtain the remainder of his college expenses. "By helping these men," Horsley said, "we are able to aid more men than we would otherwise find possible. In this way we can spread our money over a greater number of students and thus be responsible for an almost 40 per cent increase in the number of students able to secure a college education at A. & M. than if we were primarily interested in helping fewer students earn all of their college expenses."

Many cadets manufacture furniture and metal appliances which they sell through local markets. One cadet has invented a drawing table which he sells to student architects and which has proved successful enough to interest commercial manufacturers.

"The greatest need in student labor today," Horsley pointed out, "is some sort of aid to returning graduates who are more than 25 years of age. In most cases these men have given up reasonably good jobs to return to college in order to broaden themselves and better fit themselves for their jobs. Generally, however, aid is denied these men and even N. Y. A. appropriations cannot be extended to students over 24 years of age."

The direct contribution of A. & M.'s student employment program to the nation's current national defense program is particularly significant. More than 90 per cent of the student employees are enrolled in the Reserve Officers Training corps. Fifteen per cent are cadet officers and will be commissioned as reserve officers in the United States Army upon graduation. Ninety per cent of these men would have been unable to attend A. & M. without part-time employment.

America's Nineteenth Ranking Play To Be Presented At T S C W

By Dorothy Schmittgens
 Editor, The Lass-O

"A portrait of all womankind," and showed it at T S C W! "The Women," America's nineteenth most popular play—according to the length of its run—was presented by the College Little Theater Wednesday and Thursday nights.

It has had 653 productions and has made a great hit throughout America with the women, who hasten to add, "but not all women are like that!" It has been said of this play that every woman can find something in it that applies to herself, and the shoe pinches quite uncomfortably. And why should TSCW be excepted? Aggie Are Headlines

Whether it's of any consequence or not, out of the ten events that were chosen as the biggest Lass-O headlines of 1940, three of them hinged on AggieLand. January's first issue in 1940 told the student body of the selection of their favorite Southwest Conference football star, Joe Boyd of A. & M. But the headline only began the story—TSCW lost her heart en masse when the tall, broad-shouldered blonde walked upon the auditorium stage to claim his gift.

Another new twist to the feminine angle and Aggie chivalry was added to the Lass-O news in April. TSCW's rifle team, headed by Luella McManus, shot an invitation match at A. & M. and brought home a victory and three medals—their initial and probably their most glorious.

Five Aggies, the cream of the College Station crop, took TSCW by storm the week before the corps trip and chose attractive, blue-eyed Mary Margaret McCarthy as their sweetheart. The corps trip with A. & M. is a headliner every year, but the victory and the then unbeaten Aggie eleven was nectar of ambrosia—a climax to an already perfect weekend.

Archduke Felix Speaks
 Twenty-four year old, single, and a romantic past added to the glamour built around the Archduke Felix of Austria who spoke here Friday night on the question, "Is a United States of Europe Possible?"

Believing that the people of Nazi-oppressed Europe will soon be free, Archduke Felix feels that they must reconstruct Europe in this generation along genuine democratic lines. His close studies of current political and economic conditions in Central Europe make the significance of his views obvious.

Spring highlights of TSCW's social calendar that may directly affect A. & M. are:

- Lowry Club Dance.....Feb. 8
- Mary Swartz Rose Club Dance.....Feb. 15
- Round Table Dance.....Mar. 8
- Biology Club Dance.....Mar. 14
- Red Bud Coronation Dance.....Mar. 22

White & Maroons—

 ler showed great running ability in carrying the ball for Doc Jones squad.

Duncan Runs 60 Yards
 Then in the fourth quarter Bob Duncan broke through the line to block, catch and carry Fuller's pass for the winning touchdown. The try for extra point was no good.

F. L. Lebus and Roberts were stellar men for the Whites with Holder and Duncan the outstanding linemen. For the Maroons, T. O. Mann, Edmondson, Fuller, and Schwarzenback showed outstanding games.

Both teams played nice air games and were outstanding on quick kicks.

All men on the two teams saw service.

Both teams were evenly matched with seven first downs each.

The starting lineup was as follows:
 Maroons— Pos. — Whites
 Harris — L.E. — Francis
 Lovel — L.T. — Fowler
 Elwell — L.G. — Kraras
 Campbell — C — Holder
 Phillips — R.G. — Duncan
 Carson — R.T. — Johnson
 Carden — R.E. — Bailey
 Cowan — L.H. — Newby
 Scroggins — F.B. — Beavers
 Fuller — Q.B. — Lebus
 Edmondson — R.H. — Thompkins
 Officials: Penberthy, Burgess, Elkins, White.

On Kyle Field—

Buchanan is acting as their scout and has approached Martin Ruby for a part time job in exchange for his services. Ruby aided Dr. Jones with the Maroon heaves and is doubtful whether he could learn enough from the two coaches to play good. For further information, ask those concerned.

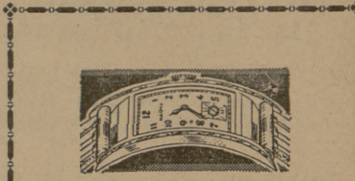

More here and there... Roberts did an excellent job of drawing the covering men away from "Big John" Tompkins on the first touchdown play for the Whites... according to Eddie Brietz both Boston College and Villanova have scheduled games with Auburn on the same afternoon next season... the new rules might change the game a bit but not quite that much... the great Doc Jones pulled a great one at the start of the second half Sunday with all eleven of his men huddling on their own 25 yard line to allow Fuller to give the ball to Cowan... the Whites formed another huddle around them to break up the play... "Lizzie" came from the west stands during the last minute of play with the coast and field artillery seniors forming the squad.

Senior Formal.....May 3
 Robertson Elected

Miss Elizabeth Robertson, assistant in publicity department, director of Austin Hall, and the president of the student body in 1938-39, was elected president of the National Student Federation of America at their annual meeting at New Jersey College for Women Dec. 27-31.

One of the oldest and most conservative of student organizations, NSFA delegates voted to withdraw from the American Youth Congress on the charge that its influence is mostly radical. Five TSCW delegates were sent to the convention besides Miss Robertson. They were Violet Beville, vice president of the student body, Sara Tray, secretary of the student body, Naomi Boutwell, president of the student body, Margaret Green, representative of the senior class, and Minnie O. Gilliland, secretary of the junior class.

The Surplus Marketing Administration of the Department of Agriculture announces that an estimated 2,000,000 pounds of butter were bought with blue stamps in September. Approximately 100,000 cows would be required to produce the milk needed.
