To Heads of Departments Concerned:
The original list of candidates for baccalaureate degrees to be conferred February 8, 1941, did not show that Howard S. Lewis was a candidate for a degree. Three Cornell University scientists report a new method to retain the full vitamin C content of pasteurized milk by taking the air out of it. A quart of de-aerated pasteurized milk has a vitamin C content equivalent to a whole orange. Vitamin C loss in ordinary pasteurized milk makes a quart equivalent to a slice of orange.

Tests of 16 varieties of apples showed that the vitamin C in the peel was about five times that of the flesh.

Dairy Husbandry

In addition to the necessary buildings and equipment for the commercial operations, the department has well equipped laboratories for student and research work in dairy chemistry and dairy bacteriology as well as in the manufacture of the several dairy products.

The department, because of its various activities throughout the state, is regarded as a leader and looked upon as a pattern for the dairying industry in the Southwest. Under the capable leadership of

C. N. Shepardson, head of department, the Dairy Department assists with dairy meetings, fairs and shows throughout the state.

That a large part of the dairy graduates continue in this field is evidenced by the fact that over 50 per cent are directly engaged in dairy work, 41 per cent in related educational work with the Extension Service, Farm Security Administration or Vocational Agriculture in the schools and less than 9 percent in unrelated fields.

Let's all work together in helping the school observe National Defense Week.
