

Faculty Meeting Thursday Decides Fate of Final Review

Brotherhood Week To Be Observed

Four Speakers Will Be On Hand For The Occasion

National Brotherhood Week, which is being observed this week at A. & M., and in 2,000 other communities throughout the country, will feature Dr. Raphael Gold, Rabbi of Congregation, Shearith Israel, Dallas, the Very Reverend James M. Kirwin, pastor, Saint James Church, Port Arthur, Texas, Dr. Jasper Manton, Pastor, Trinity Presbyterian Church, Dallas, and Dr. Hastings Harrison, Chairman and Southwestern Director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. These men will speak on the theme "National Unity" on Thursday, February 27, in Guion Hall. The program will also include the Singing Cadets, and an informal open forum after the speeches. There is no admission charge and all persons are invited to attend.

Behind the National Brotherhood Movement stands the National Conference of Christians and Jews, an organization supported by 25,000 outstanding Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish laymen and clergymen in every state of the union. This National Conference was founded thirteen years ago, in 1928, by three distinguished Americans, Newton D. Baker, formerly Secretary of War; Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, one of America's eminent clergymen; and Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes. Justice Hughes is the only living founder.

Before 1928 the movement for better understanding among all faiths centered in a committee of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. But the limitations of the committee as an agency of the Federal Council, made up wholly of Protestants, was realized, and the movement was widened to include Catholics and Jews through the formation of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The establishment of the National Conference ushered in a new method of creating better understanding by the scientific method, which utilizes the findings of social scientists, psychologists, educators, and religionists in creating cooperation and goodwill.

One of the principal techniques employed by the organization to break down prejudice and create goodwill is the trio team, composed of a Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish clergyman or layman. This team travels together, lives together, eats together, and appears on platforms together. The speakers come before large audiences and converse together informally, answering questions about each other's faith and clearing up misconceptions. Both speakers and audiences leave with a better understanding and appreciation of each group than when they came. During the past twelve years these trio teams have spoken before more than 40,000 meetings.

The National Brotherhood Week is honoring Chief Justice Hughes, who has been interested all his life in the problems of religious tolerance and liberty and is one of

Work Advances Through Drive for Bundles for Britain

House at 234 Lamar Street to Be Used As Chapter Headquarters

The recently organized Bundles for Britain Chapter of College Station received as its initial funds $316.61 from the receipts of the charity football game that was played by A. & M. students. The check for the amount was presented by President T. O. Walton during a meeting at which the players were presented their awards for participating in the game.

The chapter will further its activities next week when the house which is to be used for headquarters at 234 Lamar Street will be opened. A hostess will be at the house at all times between 9 and 12 a. m. and 2 until 5 p. m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays in order that people may go there to make garments and prepare materials for shipment to Britain.

A committee has been appointed to gather all bundles that are ready to be turned in on Wednesday and Thursday. Persons having bundles to be donated are requested to hang a white cloth in front of the house in order to save time in collecting. If the bundles are not ready to be turned in on these dates they will have to be taken to the organization headquarters.

Mrs. C. B. Campbell, chairman of the local chapter, stated that woolen garments and materials are the most necessary. All clothes that are turned in should be cleaned, mended and have the buttons sewn on, but if this is impossible they may be turned in anyway. Persons who are unable to work on garments are requested to donate either money or material for baby layettes and hospital garments.

The activities of this group will not be confined to College Station residents. Students who are proficient in mending and repairing such articles as chairs and shades are requested to phone Mrs. Campbell (Phone 4-6574).

Any one having any of the following items and desires to lend them to the committee may do so by phoning Mrs. D. B. Cofer (4-6544): Sewing Machines, 4; floor lamps, 2; gas heaters, 4; light globes, 12. Also any one who wants to volunteer for hostess duty should call Mrs. Cofer.

Persons who have the time and wish to do so may phone Mrs. R. P. Marsteller (4-6554) or Mrs. D. W. Williams (4-6654) and arrange to assist in gathering clothing.

Those interested in sewing baby layettes should contact Mrs. E. E. McQuillen (4-7214), or to sew hospital garments phone Mrs. Gibb Gilchrist (4-6174).

Hereford Sale Begins Today at 1

Around 6000 Visitors Expected In Heated Pavilion

Cattlemen with an eye to obtaining some first class Hereford cattle will vie with each other in the Texas A. & M. college Animal Husbandry Pavilion this afternoon when they bid for the stock which will go under the hammer at the first auction of registered Herefords, sponsored by the Mid-South Texas Hereford Association.

The sale will get under way at one o'clock with Col. Earl Gartin of Greensburg, Ind., nationally known auctioneer, handling the sale. In the ring assisting Gartin will be Pete Peterson of The Cattleman magazine; Frank Farley of the American Hereford Journal; Ralph Cooper of The Coastal Cattleman; Frank Reeves of the Fort Worth Star Telegram; and Walter Britten and Merle Saxe, both of College Station.

Beef Cattle Production students of the college spent Monday afternoon preparing the auction ring in the pavillion. The pavillion will be heated and accommodations are being made to handle over 6000 visitors at the sale.

Economists and Engineers Here for 5-Day Conference

Meeting Conducted By Engineering School, Highway Research Board

Highway engineers and economists got together at Texas A. & M. college Monday morning to open a five-day conference for the study of problems of highway engineering from the economic aspect.

The meeting is being conducted by the School of Engineering at the college in cooperation with the Highway Research Board of the Division of Engineering and Industrial Research, National Research Council.

Co-directors of the conference are Dean Gibb Gilchrist, of the School of Engineering at Texas A. & M., and Roy W. Crum, of Washington, D. C., director of the Highway Research Board.

A similar course was held at Iowa State College, Ames, Ia., last year and met with such widespread approval that the present meeting was arranged to study the problem (Continued on Page 4)

Aggie Band Plays For Music Festival in Victoria

Continuing its series of spring concerts, the Aggie band went to Victoria, Texas, Saturday, to play for the annual music festival held there.

The band made the trip via chartered busses and returned to College Station yesterday. Members were quartered for the night in the homes of Victoria citizens and the Victoria Hotel. Lieutenant L. J. Lefkowsky, Coast Artillery Corps, accompanied the band as tactical officer in charge of the students.

Fifty other bands attended the music festival, held as a contest for the Class B high school bands in the South Texas Region each year.

Two concerts were given in the Victoria Junior College Auditorium Saturday afternoon and night. The band also paraded in downtown Victoria Saturday morning.

The afternoon program consisted of the march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever," by Sousa; "Norsemen," overture by Hayward; trio for baritone; "Triolet," by Leonard, played by Joe Bledsoe, Goode Weir, and Fred Moser; "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair," by Foster-Caillet; First Movement, symphony in C Minor, and the National Anthem. A number of encores and extra selections were played also.

AH Students Receive Instruction On Cold Storage Food

Students taking animal husbandry are receiving a great deal of practical experience in the commercial preserving and preparation of vegetables, fruits, meats and other foods.

The animal husbandry department is maintaining 214 food lockers which are rented to various customers for the purpose of storing foods. The foods are bought wholesale in large quantities and kept in the lockers and the students are learning how to keep the food in refrigeration without destroying its quality. All the foods are placed in a large room at a temperature of twenty degrees below zero, fahrenheit. Foods are quickly frozen in this room and are then placed in the lockers where they are kept at zero degrees, fahrenheit. Anyone interested in renting one of the lockers can obtain such information from the animal husbandry department.

About 120 of the lockers have been rented. Beef, pork, lamb, goat, chicken, turkey, fruits, vegetables, cheese, butter, fish and many other kinds of foods can be stored for long periods in the lockers.

Senior Class Petition for Date Change to be Decided

Don't Throw Tinfoil Away- It Is Essential To British Hospitals

By Lee Rogers

It doesn't weigh very much—that little wrapper of tinfoil on your cigarette package. In fact it only weighs a fraction of an ounce, but fractions grow into ounces and ounces develop into pounds which in the course of a year grow into thousands of pounds.

These pounds appear to us only in terms of weight and monetary value, but to the war-hounded English this tinfoil is becoming dearer each day. To them it is an essential material in preparing for the day when they must stave off the long expected invasion attempt. British hospitals and medical men welcome these tiny layers of metal because they are used in the preparation of special bandages that are used on infantile paralysis victims and on persons suffering from severe wounds.

Within the next few days boxes will be placed in the dormitories, cafes and recreational spots throughout the campus for the purpose of collecting tinfoil to be turned over to the British needy.

So the next time you take out your last cigarette or peel the wrapper from a stick of gum don't crumple the tinfoil and throw it away. Instead, save it and place it in one of the boxes—pounds accumulate rapidly.

Assistant Dean of Harvard Grad School To Interview Students

Thomas H. Carroll, assistant dean of the graduate school of Business Administration at Harvard University, will visit the College Monday, March 3, for the purpose of interviewing students interested in admission to the Harvard graduate school or students who are interested in one of twenty scholarships that will enable young men to take graduate work in business administration at the Harvard Business School. These scholarships are being awarded to students entering in September, 1941.

Announcements concerning scholarships will be found in room 408, Agricultural building. Students may obtain information concerning the school and make arrangements for interviews through T. W. Leland, head of the department of accounting and statistics.

Judson Neff, head of the department of industrial engineering, a graduate of Harvard's graduate school, will be available for conferences with any student who desires to learn about graduate work, generally, at Harvard.

Next Year's Team Rated Third by Norman Sper After Viewing Players

By E. M. Rosenthal
A. & M. will place third in the Southwest Conference football race next season! This was the prediction of Norman Sper, well known football analyst and statistician, after he had watched Homer Norton's squad work out for spring training last Saturday.

"Texas, as a result of its tremendous speed, will probably finish out in front," Sper said, "and Rice will follow close behind because it has so much power in the line." The Aggies will be better than most people now expect, Sper believes, even though next season will open with only two of the year's regulars starting.

Sper was on the campus to take motion pictures of the football team for a new series of short features that he is producing. Each short will have as its subject one of the leading conferences and will show all the schools of that con-

Juniors, Sophs and Fish Follow Seniors In Approving Request

A meeting of the academic council of the general faculty will vote this Thursday upon a petition of the senior class requesting that the date of the final review be changed from May 31, as it is now scheduled, to June 7. As it stands, final review will come before final exams; the senior class petition would hold the review after final exams are completed.

The petition to change the date was unanimously approved at a meeting of the senior class last Thursday night, and a committee of four men was appointed to present the case at the faculty meeting. This committee is composed of Cadet Colonel Bill Becker, Field Artillery Band Captain Roy Chappell, Battalion Editor Bob Nisbet, and Senior Class President Tom Richey.

At a meeting of the freshman class yesterday at 5 p.m. the question of changing the date for the review was discussed, presenting to the class both sides of the issue.

Their vote on the matter was unanimously in favor of making the change and reverting to the practice of former years.

Yesterday at 7:45 p.m. at a joint meeting of the sophomore and junior classes, a vote on the subject was taken. The same results—a unanimous vote in favor of the change—was recorded.

These votes were taken at the request of faculty members at an earlier meeting before which senior class representatives appeared to discuss the matter. At this meeting, it was decided to hold vote on the subject until votes of these classes could be taken and more evidence could be gathered.

Dean of Baylor Med School Speaks To Pre-Meds March 4

Dr. Walter Moursund, dean of the Baylor Medical School in Dallas, will address the A. & M. Pre-Medical Society, Tuesday, March 4, at the annual pre-med banquet to be held in Sbia Hall.

On the afternoon of March 4, Dr. Moursund will hold private 15 minute conferences with each pre-med student who intends to enter a medical school within the next two years. He will answer any questions concerning the work and life at these schools and will also advise the courses that should be taken as pre-med students.

All pre-medical students who wish to talk with Moursund must sign their name and the time they wish the appointment with Dr. Moursund on a slip of paper placed on the first floor of the Science Building.

Russ Morgan Returns to Campus To Play Field Artillery Ball Friday

"Music in the Morgan Manner" will be heard at A. & M. for the second time within a year Friday night when Russ Morgan takes the downbeat on "Does Your Heart Beat for Me" at the Field Artillery Ball.

The slow sweet music of Morgan's orchestra was rated second in the Aggie poll which was conducted last spring during the dance season. As most students will remember, Morgan was here for the Senior Ring Dance and a corps dance following it last May.

Russ Morgan will present a band composed of 18 musicians and featuring Maxine Conrad as the vocalist. Other attractions of the orchestra are Johnny May, the drummer and the Morganairs.

Morgan's band, which is ranked as one of the outstanding orchestras of the nation, is the result of a musical career that started when he was 14 years of age. Morgan's father was an ex-vaudevilian who found himself a mine foreman. But he still hung on to his music, playing a drum in a local band. His mother had been a pianist in vaudeville with his father. Both his parents aspired for him to have a musical career and so it was that started by playing a piano for a small band in Scranton, Pa.

It was during this time that Russ Morgan took up the trombone upon which he now specializes. At the age of 20 Morgan was arranger for two of the greatest American composers, John Philip Sousa and Victor Herbert.

Since that time Morgan has played at the outstanding dance spots in leading cities from coast to coast. Some of his recent engagements have been the "Chez Paree", Chicago; Rice Hotel, Houston; Casa Manana, Fort Worth; Claridge Hotel, Memphis; Paramount Theatre, New York City; the International Casino, New York City; and the French Casino of New York City.
