Col. Moore—

one half hours by boat from the city of Manila, cosmopolitan metropolis of the Islands, main supply base of our Asiatic Fleet, and farthest stronghold of the United States far east; and so this Corregidor, this famous "ROCK", which with its four smaller auxiliary island forts, absolutely commands the entrance to both Manila and Subic Bays, is truly the " Gibraltar " of the Philippines.

Although General Moore is by far the "most important" Aggie on the "ROCK", he is by no means the only one. First Lieutenant S. D. "Bloody" Bruns, '34, is Executive Officer of Battery "A" of the famous 59th Coast Artillery (Harbor Defense); 1st Lieutenant John B. "Mac" McCluskey, Jr., '36, is assigned to the staff of the Regimental Commander of the 59th Coast Artillery as Assistant Adjutant. Also assigned to the 59th Coast Artillery are 2nd Lieutenant H. J. "Brig" Schutte, '39, and 2nd Lieutenant W. E. "Butch" Lewis, '39. To the 60th Coast Artillery (Anti-Aircraft) are assigned 1st Lieutenant James R. "Jimmy" Holmes, '36, (West Point, '38), and 2nd Lieutenant Carl E. "Pip" Pipkin, '40. Indeed it was a "right" proud little group of A. & M. men of the "ROCK" that radioed their greetings and congratulations to General Moore at sea enroute when the flash came through that he was being sent by the War Department to command the defenses. It might be added, also, that General Moore is among the army's youngest generals.

And so it is with resolute confidence that those from Aggie land who help "man the steel" on Corregidor stand our "watches at the helm," but with added satisfaction and with pride that one of "our own" "stands on the bridge" to "chart the course."

No. 1 orchestra of the year—are close friends, incidentally. Lorraine made her first appearance with Phil during the R. V. dances as he had only added her a few days earlier in Dallas. Formerly on a sustaining program from KRLD, she is tall, blonde and, as Tommy put it, "Darned fine looking."

Picturing the Ross Volunteer's Weekend

Highlights of the past weekend of festivities carried on by the company of Ross Volunteers as pictured above are traditional functions of the organization which holds its celebrations during the spring holidays each year. It is on this account that the holidays are often referred to as the Ross Volunteer's holidays.

nant after a stalemate of a week. Coach Cecil Grigg's vaunted Rice Owls are dwelling far in the cellar with one victory and six defeats. They were rated as a definite threat to the Aggies and Longhorns at the start of the season, but have wilted away to a crisp.

Lack of hitting power is their main weakness, and unless Coach Grigg can solve that trouble, the Bayou boys will be definitely in the pink. Their pitching has been well above par, but the batters just can't seem to connect. Ragged fielding was a big cause in their North Texas downfall in which they were plastered by T. C. U. and S.M.U.
