

Baseball Games Scheduled Today and Friday -- Maybe!!

ON KYLE
FIELD

With Hub Johnson

About the best thing to do is to look out all the windows. If the sky is clear, it'll rain and no games will be played. If you get a sun burn in two seconds, the Aggies might play the T.C.U. Horned Frogs this afternoon on Kyle Field.

Five straight games have been rained out, the first with the Baylor Bears in Waco, the second with the Longhorns at Austin and the third and fourth reset games with the University. Yesterday's game came near being played but mother earth was still a little too damp.

Look for the Texas Longhorns to run off with the "Little Conference" meet tomorrow with the Aggies and the Owls fighting for the runner-up position.

This tournament will mark the second time a sport has been sponsored by students. The first of its kind occurred last semester when Jake Wilk procured a football game between students picked from the corps. The project was extremely popular and is slated to be an annual affair.

Handball Singles Champion Will be Crowned Monday

The first handball tournament in which a singles champion is crowned will become a reality Monday afternoon on the handball courts.

Mike Cokinos and Ransom Kenny, the sponsors of the tournament, expressed their desire that the students would take an ardent interest in this project. It is open to everyone in the corps, and the fee for entering is only ten cents. Some twenty candidates have already signed up, with more expected to adhere before the deadline Saturday.

Intramural rules will be followed, and all games will be played on the double courts. It will be an elimination tournament with the winner and runner-up receiving a prize. Anyone desiring to participate in this playoff should notify either Cokinos in 225, Dorm. No. 4, or Kenny in A-8 Hart Hall.

The T.C.U. Frogs, who have only one victory to their credit, will send A. J. Brumbaugh to the hillcock in an attempt to knock the cadets out of the conference race.

Like in basketball, luck has been against the valiant Toads. They put up a slam-bank battle against the Texas Longhorns some three weeks ago, and were leading 5 to 4 in the eighth frame. Mel Deutsch, the Longhorn ace pitcher, had been given a thorough workover, and a Frog victory seemed in the making. However, lightning struck in that fatal eighth canto, and the Steers rallied for five runs and a 9 to 5 win. Such has been the luck of the Frogs all along.

Brumbaugh, their ace hurler, has been in nearly every game that T.C.U. has played. His pitching has been well above par, but his support and nil, especially in close games.

Last year, the Frogs slammed a monkey wrench in the Aggie championship aspirations, and it was one of the causes in the cadet collapse.

To retain their chance for the conference championship, Coach Marty Karow's nine will have to win the T.C.U. game. A loss will be a hard blow to the cadets' chance for the flag, and will give Texas a shortcut to the title. However, a victory will strengthen the Aggies and will give them a chance to put all their might against the Texas juggernaut.

Another outstanding game Monday was between E Coast Artillery and C Field Artillery. E Battery came from behind to short end of a 4-1 score in the fifth to pour on steam for a seven run spree. The 8-4 score stood until

A&M Plays SMU Here in 2-Game Meet

Game to be Played This Afternoon If Weather Permits

Adverse weather again played havoc with the Texas Aggie nine as the scheduled game between the cadets and the T.C.U. Horned Frogs was washed out yesterday afternoon. If weather conditions improve the game will be reeled off at 3:30 this afternoon.

This marks the fifth consecutive game that the Aggies have forfeited to the weatherman. The Aggie hurlers will have a job on their hands as they have three tilts coming in as many days. Following this fray they take on S.M.U. in a two-game series tomorrow and Saturday.

With the game reset a day, Coach Marty Karow will probably save Lefty Bumpers and Roy Peden for the Mustang series and counter with lanky Bill Henderson. The Houston athlete has looked surprisingly good in his last workout and is due to be in top shape for the Frog fracas.

B FA Fish Follow in Upperclassmen's Footsteps in Annexing Handball Title

By Bob Myers

Another sport hit the shelf until next year when B Field Artillery "Fish" followed the example of their upperclassmen and annexed the handball championship. Competition for the final game was provided by E Field Artillery, who gave the winners a tough fight.

Three matches were required to bring the contest to a close at a count of 2-1. Outstanding players of the games were: Webb, McIntyre, Marsh, LeBlanc, and King of B

Field, and Simmons and Schaper of E Battery.

Ping pong hit a slump last Friday when so many teams failed to show up that no games could be played. Up until that time participation in the sport had been unusually good. The Infantry forfeits can be understood but the others remain clothed in mystery.

Inclement Weather Wins As TCU Game Wetted Out

Opening Game of Series Begins at 3:30 P.M. Tomorrow

Pending the cooperation of the weatherman, the S. M. U. Mustangs will make their initial appearance with the Texas Aggie nine. Game time is 3:30.

The Mustangs have been an in-and-out team all season. They downed the cellar-dwelling T. C. U. Frogs twice, beat the pesky Rice Owls in a single game, and administered the only setback suffered by the Texas Longhorns. On their "off days" they were plastered in a two game series by the Baylor Bears, and hit in the bud twice by the revenging Steers. They are now perched in fourth place just below the Aggies.

Atchison Probable Pitcher

Coach Roswell Higgenbotham is determined more than ever to blast the cadets into submission. His team still retains a mathematical chance for the flag, and a defeat of the Aggies would place the league-leading Steers. It would topple the cadets from third place, and put the Mustangs in their stead.

To accomplish this feat, Coach Higgenbotham has indicated he is planning to use his ace hurler, Brooks Atchison, to start against the cadets. His opponent more than likely will be Lefty Bumpers, the star twirler of the Aggie staff. However, should S. M. U. decide to save Atchison for the closing game, Karow will probably start Bill Henderson or Roy Peden.

The cadet record, too, has been none too impressive. They have won three games and lost two. As long as Bumpers was going smoothly, the whole team followed in his footsteps. He won his first two starts against Baylor and Rice, respectively, but withered against the Owls in his next encounter. The brilliant hurling of Frank "Lefty" Golden was too much for the Aggies in their second tilt.

Following this series the cadet journeyed on to Fort Worth for a two game series with the T. C. U. Horned Frogs.

And over at Providence college in Rhode Island, members of the Rev. Paul C. Perrotta's class in logic wrote their own examination.

Eight per cent of them flunked.

An "M.D." for ARROW HITT?

People tell us we should call the Arrow Hitt "Doctor" . . . because of the way it clears up shirt troubles like shrinkosis and collar wilt-itis!

The collar on Arrow Hitt is completely immune to wilts, yet never needs starch. And its fine white broadcloth can't catch shrinkosis—it's Sanforized-Shrunk (fabric shrinkage less than 1%!).

Little Conference Meet Will Uncover Track and Field Stars

Once again the "Little Conference" track meet, a triangular meet between Texas, Rice and A. & M., will single out in the Southwest Conference stars of the track and field events.

Tomorrow afternoon on Kyle Field the three teams will meet to give track followers a week early preview of the conference meet to be held in Austin next Saturday. Each will boast of teams strengthened by their Drake Relay entrants and each will underwrite teams eligible to prove themselves tops in this section of the country.

Texas Won '40 Meet

Texas University proved the power of the cinder track last year and then returned to cop the league title. But it was Rice's Fred Wolcott who last year and the year before led the individual scorers with this running of both hurdles and the 100-yard dash.

The century dash this year will be all but ceded to Carlton Terry of Texas, the Steer sprinter who ran the event in 9.7 seconds last week at Des Moines, Iowa.

Roy Bucek will make his bid for the league high and low stick titles with Pete Watkins a probable favorite in the low hurdles.

Rice Field Slacks

With their usual amount of speed on the track, the Rice Owls have failed so far this year to show their strength in the field events. Deal in the shot put and discus events and Christopher in the broad jump will be the main stays of the Owl attack.

Pete Watkins and Albert Ricks, Aggie sophomores, will probably fight for the number one place in the high jump with Coffman of Rice a favorite for the finals.

Bill Henderson to Enter
Bill Henderson who is destined to become the Aggies' first four-sport letterman will enter the high jump, discus, shot put and javelin events and will go far in each. He is rated as one of the best high jumpers of this section. Against Rice he won the javelin throw with a distance of 170 feet.

Aggie Team

Favored to outclass the Rice Owls and push the Longhorns close, the Aggies will have Smith in the 100 and 220-yd. dashes, Mayer and Steward in the mile run, Ralph Henderson and Steward in the 880-yd. run, Brush in the 440-yd. dash, Laney and Elmore in the two mile run, Shalnik in the javelin throw, Thomas in the shot put, and Felix Bucek and Pete Henry in the discus.
